2 Amtrak Trains Aren't Running

The two Amtrak passenger trains which pass through Lincoln were not running Tuesday morning due to the national strike which had nearly 10,000 Nebraska railroad workers off the job.

The Burlington Northern superintendent in Lincoln, E. L. Phillips, said early Tuesday morning that both the westbound 12:25 a.m. and eastbound 2:29 a.m. Amtrak trains did not leave their starting points of Chicago and Denver.

Phillips said that he didn't know when the passenger service would be resumed. "It all depends on what the Amtrak people decide and what Congress does," he said.

Members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen — which went on strike nationally at 6 a.m. Monday — were picketing the 7th and N St. and Hobson ("the hump") yards in Lincoln.

BN officials reported that pickets had not been posted at its general offices in Omaha nor at the Havelock shops in Lincoln. Consequently, only an estimated 2,000 of the BN's approximately 3,100 union employees were off the job — about half of them in Lincoln.

The Union Pacific, however, estimated that about 7,370 of its employees were out because of the strike.

UP was being picketed at its Omaha headquarters, in North Platte and Grand Island.

Freights Running
McKenzie said four BN mainline freight trains are being operated by officer personnel in the Lincoln-Omaha area, but BN has taken 15 other freight trains off the track.

BN is operating as many freight trains as it can, but has only a limited number of qualified officer personnel who can handle the runs, he said.

Officials at Union Pacific (UP) headquarters in Omaha said early Monday that all regular freight trains were being stopped on UP lines. No Amtrak passenger trains run on UP lines in Nebraska.

Loren Stromer, chief signalman of Lincoln's Local 119 of the Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen, said union employees appear to be honoring the picket lines at the BN's 7th and N and Hobson yards.

Around-The-Clock
He said pickets will be at these locations in Lincoln around-the-clock in six-hour shifts "until the strike is called off."

"We are hoping it will be a relatively short strike," Stromer said.

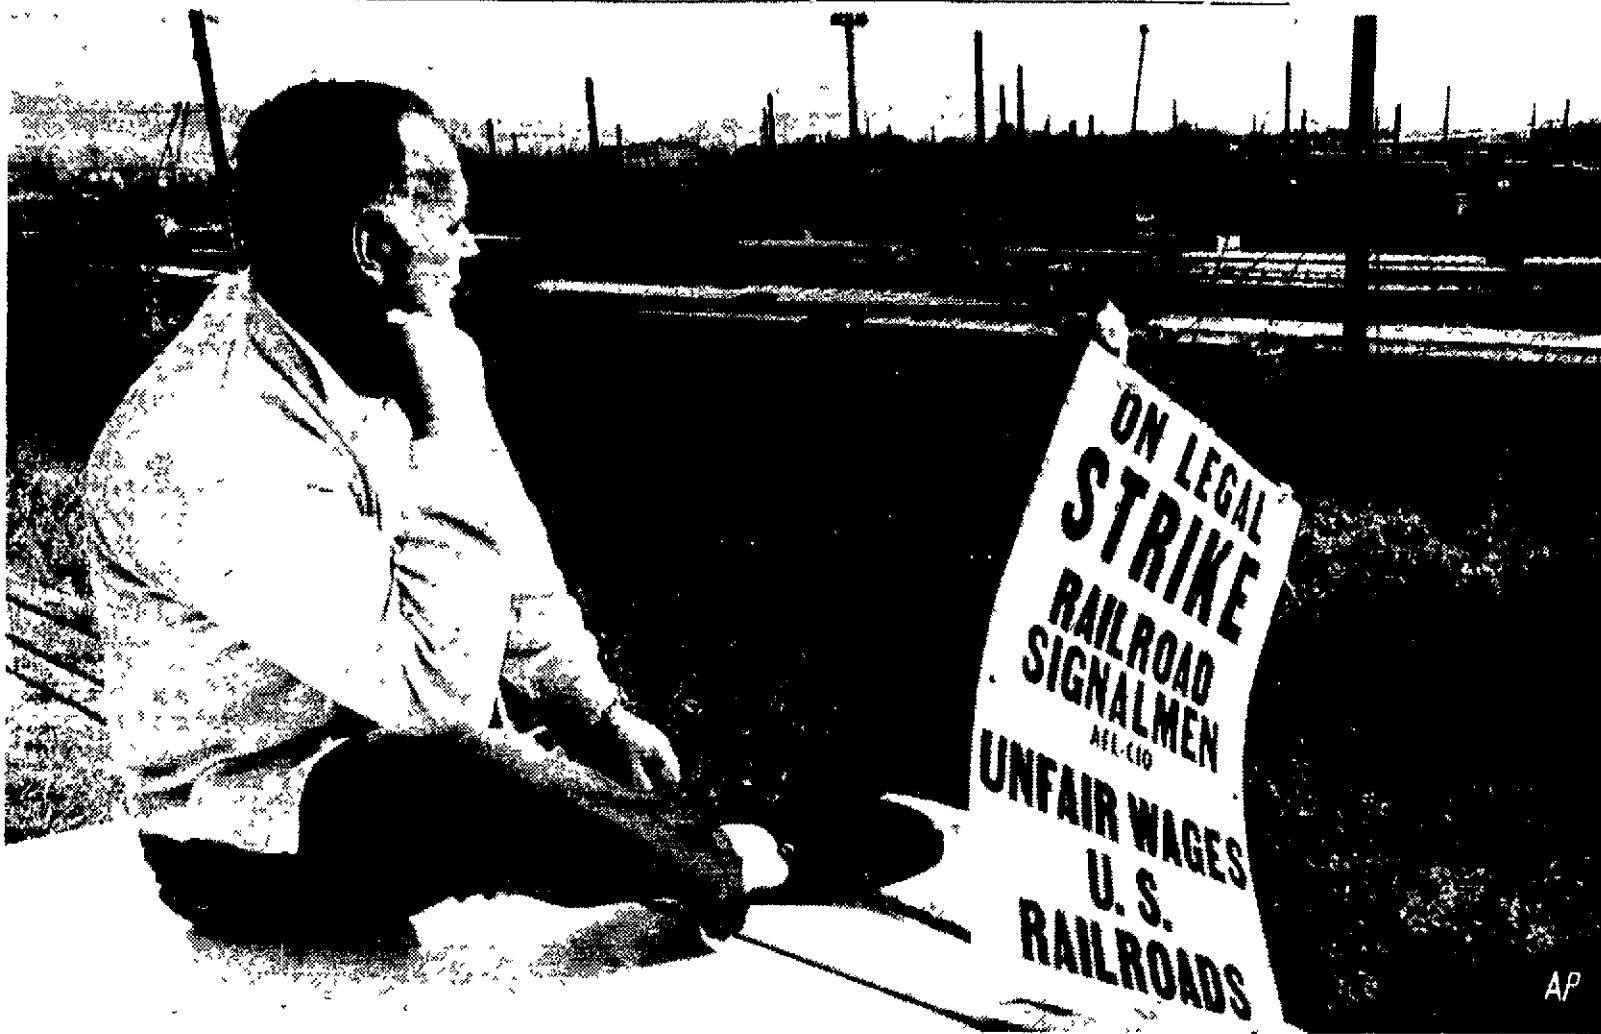

He said Monday's picket lines included seven signalmen who regularly work out of Lincoln and two construction employees who also were helping. The local hopes to receive additional aid from signalmen in Ashland, Crete and Waverly.

Shop Not Picketed
Monday there were no pickets at BN's Havelock Shops and work continued as usual because the local union didn't have enough people to man another picket line location, Stromer said.

He explained that the union might send pickets there Tuesday if it receives enough additional help.

Postal officials said first class and air mail, air mail parcels bound overseas and military packages were still being accepted throughout Nebraska.

All other classes of mail were rejected, except that destined for 13 nearby states which are served by truck.

LONE PICKET . . . at entrance to Enola, Pa. freight yards is Lloyd Megonnell of Harrisburg.

Signalmen's Strike Halts Trains

Washington (UPI) — A nationwide strike halted the nation's rail traffic Monday and quickly threatened to spread paralysis to other major industries. It appeared it would be Tuesday before Congress could act on President Nixon's request to end the walkout.

"A nationwide stoppage of rail service would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy," Nixon told Congress in a message from his Key Biscayne retreat in Florida.

"It is essential that our railroads continue to operate," he said.

The Senate Labor Committee

scheduled afternoon hearings a few hours later, but Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., said his House Commerce Committee couldn't consider until Tuesday Nixon's request for an end to the strike until July 1.

After hearing from administration officials and both parties to the dispute, committee members indicated they would change Nixon's proposal to provide for an immediate wage increase to the signalmen and to extend the no-strike period perhaps to Oct. 1.

Union Would Accept
Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., asked union president C. J. Chamberlain if he would accept such a plan. Chamberlain said his organization will accept if this is the will of Congress.

J. P. Hiltz Jr., speaking for the railroads, said they also would agree since the plan is in line with an emergency board's recommendations which the industry had already accepted.

Under the plan, the signalmen would receive the first three step raises proposed by the board, effective Jan. 1, 1970, Nov. 1, 1970, and April 1 of this year.

These would boost pay for the most skilled workers from about $3.80 an hour now to about $4.46.

Signalmen Picket
The fourth nationwide rail strike in nearly half a century began at dawn as a relative handful of signalmen left their jobs in a wage dispute and the rest of the approximately 500,000 rail workers refused to cross their picket lines. The striking AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen numbers some 13,000.

First-class mail continued to move but an embargo on bulk mail beyond a 300-mile limit was imposed by the Postal Service.

Detroit auto makers promptly announced job cutbacks and predicted plant closings if the strike lasted 48 hours, government officials said some 300,000 big city commuters were affected and predicted snowballing effects on mining, meat-packing, chemicals, steel and other industries unless the strike were quickly ended.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange dropped sharply.

'Incredible'
"It is incredible that the half million employees of the rail industry should find themselves out of work and that millions of Americans should be subjected to serve disruption by this action taken by a union representing a relatively few employees," Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said.

Only three rail lines, unaffected by the strike, remained operating. They were the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and the South Shore & South Bend, whose signalmen are represented by another union, and the Long Island Railroad, owned by the state of New York and also with another union.

Most Others Settle
Hodgson said most other rail workers' unions had already settled for wage hikes of 43% over 42 months and that a settlement should also be possible for the signalmen in line with that pattern.

Nixon asked Congress to order the signalmen back to work until July 1 to allow time for further negotiations.

Nixon and Hodgson noted that the administration has proposed new legislation to revamp railroad bargaining by abolishing the separate Railway Labor Act, which has governed the industry since 1926 and put it under Taft-Hartley procedures covering other labor disputes.

Jordan Releases 435 Guerrillas

Amman, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein's government has released 435 Palestinian guerrillas from Jordan's prisons during the last four days, a government spokesman reported Monday.

All were set free under a newly declared amnesty in return for the guerrillas' complete evacuation of Amman last month, the spokesman said.

Capital Construction Budget Changes Nixed

. . . EXON'S PROPOSED TAX LIMITS APPEAR WITHIN REACH

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Heeding Sen. Richard Marvel's warning that the Legislature stands on the brink of increasing sales and income tax rates, state senators Monday accepted without change the Appropriations Committee's capital construction budget.

The committee's austere recommendation provides a slim $6.1 million in new construction money from the state tax supported general fund.

The big test came on Sen. Roland Luedtke's bid to add $5 million for construction of an addition to Love Library on the University of Nebraska's downtown Lincoln campus.

His proposal, offered in behalf of Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, who was absent, was felled on a 13-27 vote.

Then, with only Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha dissenting, the bill was shoved over its first floor test on a commanding 44-1 count and sent on its way to enactment.

Endorsement of the committee bill without change marked completion of a stunning double play for Marvel and his eight colleagues. Earlier, their operational budget recommendations were enacted without a single alteration.

Within reach
Monday's action also appeared to bring the Legislature within reach of the tax limits proposed by Gov. J. James Exon and endorsed, at least in principle, by a majority of the members of the Budget Committee.

Only two major bills now apparently stand in the way of the general 2½% sales and 13% personal income tax limits supported by Exon.

Senators Tuesday will consider Sen. Jules Burbach's motion to override the governor's veto of LB573, the personal property tax exemption measure which would hike the sales tax rate by about one-half percent or the income tax rate by 3%.

School Aid Proposal
Then, on Wednesday, lawmakers will consider on final reading LB264, a proposal to boost state aid to public schools by $50 million a year.

Other pending bills, Marvel reported, would cut the general fund "surplus" to about $7.7 million.

State law requires a surplus of at least 5%, Marvel said, forcing the appropriation of about $23 million beyond the revenue anticipated by a 2½% sales tax and a 13% personal income tax.

Only With Hike
Thus, if all estimates hold true, legislation other than LB573 and LB264 might be funded with only a one percent hike over the suggested income tax rate.

"We're down to bedrock at the moment," Marvel warned his colleagues as LB1037, the capital construction budget bill, was called up for debate.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he would accept Marvel's judgment and tossed aside a number of amendments he had prepared to fund new projects not approved by the committee.

Hartsock New Council Chairman

The City Council Monday elected Dick Hartsock as its chairman in an organizational meeting of the new council.

Three new men — Steve Cook, Bob Sikyta and Richard Baker — took their seats on the council replacing Ervin Peterson, Bill Davidson and Tom Allman all three having chosen not to seek re-election.

Peterson had served two terms and Allman and Davidson one term.

Nader Criticizes 'Big Polluters'

Washington (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader Monday charged big business with a "contemptuous lack of concern for the environment and the public" for failing to cut down on the pollutants they dump into the air and water.

Nader, testifying before a Senate pollution subcommittee, also accused some industries of practicing "environmental blackmail" by threatening to close plants on the grounds it is too expensive to meet tough government antipollution standards.

Mills Unit Gives OK

. . . Welfare Included

Washington (UPI) — A 5% increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million recipients was written into the mammoth Social Security-welfare reform bill Monday as the House Ways and Means Committee finally approved it.

The raise would be effective June 1, 1972, and would be in addition to this year's 10% and last year's 15% increases.

The bill is expected to go to the House in early June. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and other backers predicted the House will approve it by a bigger margin than it gave the 1970 welfare bill that died in the Senate.

Cost of the across-the-board benefit increase is estimated at $2.1 billion, bringing to about $12 billion the over-all price tag on the big measure.

It includes other Social Security liberalizations and the essentials of President Nixon's family-assistance plan, with the government taking on a bigger share of the cost and establishing a $2,400 income floor for families of four.

The committee already had written in payroll tax increases to finance other Social Security changes, amounting to a maximum of $145 tax increase next year on a worker earning $10,200 or more and on his employer.

5.4% Tax On $10,200 Wage
The short-range tax structure would not be changed by the benefit boost, but increases would be put into effect further down the line. The tax rate would be 5.4% next year on wage base of $10,200. The rate would increase to 6.2% in 1975 and 7.4% in 1977. The present tax is 5.2% on a base of $7,800.

Mills told newsmen he does not consider the benefit increase inflationary because "it simply means increasing benefits six or seven months earlier than they would go up anyhow."

He referred to another section of the measure, providing for automatic increases whenever the cost of living goes up 3% or more in a year. Mills said that, under economic projections, the automatic rise would have been activated Jan. 1, 1973.

If the 5% increase is enacted, no automatic increase can be effective earlier than 1974.

Mills said uniform national standards for welfare eligibility and federally regulated screening will make it harder to get on welfare, while Labor Department-administered job training and referral, and financing of public service jobs, would speed the development of able-bodied welfare recipients into self-supporting citizens.

Major Social Security provisions of the bill:

—A 5% across-the-board increase in benefits, effective June 1, 1972.

—Automatic increases geared to the cost of living.

—Increased benefits for widows.

—Higher pensions for men retiring early and also for those working beyond 65.

—Increase from $1,680 to $2,000 in the amount retirees may earn without pension reduction.

—Provision for low-income working couples to combine their earnings for higher pension credits.

—Higher payroll taxes — $145 more next year for those earning $10,200 or more; further increases beginning in 1975.

Exon Lashes Farm Bureau For Exemption Veto Attack

Gov. J. James Exon Monday fired away at the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation in response to its criticism of his veto of legislation providing tax exemptions for agricultural and business inventories and equipment.

Exon's statement came on the eve of Tuesday's legislative debate on Sen. Jules Burbach's motion to override the governor's veto of LB573.

Burbach will need at least 30 votes to enact the bill over Exon's objections.

The governor's response was directed at a Farm Bureau letter distributed to senators last Friday.

Future Threatened

Exon said he has heard reports that the farm organization has threatened his political future as a result of the veto.

"If I ever am elected to anything with the support of the present leadership of the Farm Bureau, then I am not deserving to hold that office," he declared.

The Farm Bureau, he said, has never "fairly represented the interest of Nebraska's family-sized farms."

Its position, he said, has been "to eliminate all government programs designed to help Nebraska's Number One industry . . . agriculture."

'Insurance Company'

"They are an insurance company at best, and their relationship to the interest of the average farmer stops there."

Exon said it is "tragically laughable that the Farm Bureau proposes to speak more for the Nebraska farmer than does their governor."

"Regardless of their money and lobbying powers, they can't fool the majority of the farmers of this state."

The Farm Bureau has issued "misleading and inaccurate statements," Exon declared, and is represented his position "to serve their purposes."

'Soak John Q.'
LB573, the governor said, would "soak Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Nebraskan."

The bill would implement a 35% tax exemption for farm and business equipment and inventories beginning in 1972.

State sales and income tax revenue would be used to provide replacement money for the resulting $17 million loss in local property tax funds.

The exemption would rise to 90% over a seven-year period.

FB Sent Letter

In supporting its position in favor of the bill, the Farm Bureau sent senators a five-page letter in which Roland Nelson, FB president, suggested that "the governor shows evidence of not knowing what he wants."

His proposed compromise tax exemption plan is "merely an effort to confuse, delay and to meet his political needs — not to meet the needs of Nebraska's people," the letter stated.

Lincoln Man 'Critical' In Cycle Crash

A Lincoln man was listed in "critical" condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital with injuries sustained in a motorcycle crash on the University of Nebraska East Campus late Monday afternoon, according to University Police Sgt. Al Broadstone.

Broadstone said Douglas Deisch, 22, of 3265 Dudley, suffered head injuries and a possible broken neck when the motorcycle he was riding apparently went out of control and crashed on a service road in the north part of the campus.

Broadstone estimated that half an hour elapsed from the time of the accident until Joe Vercellino of 2341 No. 44th noticed the motorcycle lying on its side and went over to investigate.

Vientiane, Laos — The loss of the last important position on the strategic Bolovens Plateau to North Vietnamese forces was announced Monday by the Laotian high command. (More on Page 2.)

Ambassador, Gromyko Visit

Moscow — During a 30-minute talk with Soviet foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, American Ambassador Jacob D. Beam reportedly told him that the United States believes the two nations agree on the desirability of negotiations on the mutual reduction of forces in Central Europe. (More on Page 14.)

Law To End Strike Asked

Washington — President Nixon asked Congress for immediate emergency legislation requiring an end to the nationwide strike by railroad signalmen. (More on Page 1.)

Social Security Hike Advanced

Washington — A $2.6 billion increase in Social Security benefits was added to the welfare reform bill by the House Ways and Means Committee, which then approved overwhelmingly the bill for action by the full House. (More on Page 1.)

Hit-Run Laws Upheld

Washington — State "hit and run" laws that require drivers involved in automobile accidents to stop and identify themselves were ruled constitutional by the Supreme Court. (More on Page 9.)

Palestinian Guerrillas Downcast

Amman, Jordan — The Palestinian guerrillas were reported to be a defeated, quarreling and divided element in the Middle East only nine months after they had appeared to be one the region's dominant forces. (More on Page 17.)

Pact Would Be 'First Step'

United Nations — Secretary of State Rogers said at the United Nations that the United States would regard any Israeli-Egyptian agreement on the Suez Canal as only a "first step" toward implementing U.N. resolutions requiring complete Israeli withdrawal. Israel has insisted that any withdrawal from the canal area would carry no commitments to further pullbacks.

Grad Job Outlook Bleak

New York — The job outlook for this June's college graduates was reported to be even worse than last year. There is more competition for fewer jobs, although for those who do find a job they pay is still high. Hardest hit are graduates seeking a job in the more technical fields: engineering, mathematics and the sciences.

Payments Deficit Is Record

Washington — A Senate committee was told that the international situation of the dollar would undergo a complete change as long as the United States continued to hold down inflation in relation to other nations. As Treasury Secretary John B. Connally testified, the Commerce Department reported a record first quarter of payments deficit. (More on Page 2.)

Payments Deficit Soars

... Treasury Chief Says 'Those Results Are Bad'

Washington (AP) — The deficit in the U.S. balance of payments took a sharp and record-breaking turn for the worse from January through March, the government said Monday.

A yardstick which measures transactions with foreign governments and foreign central banks showed the first-quarter payments deficit climbed to a record $5.5 billion.

Another measure of the balance of payments taking into account all foreign transactions set the first-quarter deficit at $3 billion, the second-highest on record.

"Those results are bad," Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told a Senate finance subcommittee. "Clearly, that level of deficit is not sustainable."

The sharp rise in the deficit mirrored the causes for the recent international monetary crisis in which the dollar eroded in value in relation to other currencies in Europe.

Two Main Reasons

Two main reasons have been given for the dollar crisis, the continuing high U.S. balance-of-payments deficit and a rapid flow of dollars to Europe where interest rates are higher.

"Both balances reflected a large increase in outflows of dollars through transactions for which data are not available," the Commerce Department said.

"In part, those outflows were probably short-term funds attracted by higher interest rates abroad than were obtainable in the United States," the department added.

Short-term interest rates plummeted in the United States when the Nixon administration launched the economy on an expansionary course heavily dependent on easier money policies. That brought an acceleration of the dollar outflow.

To Be Corrected

Connally agreed that the major cause of the deficit rise was higher interest rates in Western Europe. "That imbalance will be largely corrected as economies move back into phase," he said.

Here's how the balance of payments stacked up in January, February and March:

—On the liquidity basis, measuring all transactions with foreigners, the deficit soared by $2.5 billion from the previous quarter and reached $3.078 billion. Only the $3.8 billion deficit recorded during the second quarter of 1969 exceeded that total.

—On the official reserve transactions basis, measuring transactions with foreign governments and foreign central banks, the deficit climbed by $2.2 billion to a record $5.506 billion. The previous worst deficit came in the last three months of 1970, when it was $3.3 billion.

The Commerce Department reported also that the U.S. merchandise trade surplus rose $140 million in the first quarter to $290 million, after a sharp decline in the preceding three-month period.

Connally said the trade-surplus figure was more disturbing to him than the payments deficit because it is running well below the rate for last year.

"More importantly," he added, "it remains far below the levels of the 1960s, and below the amount we need to achieve an equilibrium in our balance of payments."

If the United States is to keep pace with the world economy, Connally said, "We must restore the stable, non-inflationary growth that was disrupted by the domestic financial policies of the late 1960s."

Hanoi Expands Control Of Plateau

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnamese forces have seized almost complete control of the strategic Bolovens Plateau in southern Laos for the first time in the war there, a dispatch from Laos said Monday.

The plateau, 60 miles wide, 50 miles long and rising to a height of 4,100 feet, is on the western flank of the North Vietnamese Ho Chi Minh supply trail.

Military sources in Vientiane the capital, said Laotian troops were driven out Sunday from two government-held towns, in the center of the plateau. This left only one position in the plateau still in government hands. Three North Vietnamese battalions were reported advancing against this position, Ban Houei Kong, also in the central part of the plateau.

The North Vietnamese have long held much of Bolovens, including the important towns of Attapeu in the south and Saravane in the north. They were seized in April and May last year.

In taking the two towns, Pak Song and Ban Houei Sai, Hanoi's forces have in effect completed occupation of the plateau.

The immediate result is to give the North Vietnamese control of most of Highway 23 and possibly another supply route southward into Cambodia.

Laotian troops used to raid the Ho Chi Minh trail from the eastern edge of the plateau, but they were driven off earlier this year.

Dominates Peninsula

Bolovens Plateau dominates the Laos panhandle and control of it provides access to many of the roads in southern Laos and river tributaries.

The eastern side of the plateau overlooks the Ho Chi Minh trail, Hanoi's major supply route to its forces in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

Pak Song was the more important of the two towns lost

The other, Ban Houei Sai, a village 10 miles northeast of Pak Song, was abandoned by the villagers two years ago.

Pak Song, 300 miles southeast of Vientiane, has a small airstrip and lies along Highway 23 leading west and south. An old, abandoned French logging rail line runs southward from Pak Song. Military sources noted this track could readily be restored or the roadbed could be used for a new truck supply route southward to Cambodia.

The fate of the 4,000 inhabitants of Pak Song was not known.

Although now in control of the plateau, the North Vietnamese may be delayed by monsoon storms from taking full advantage of new supply routes.

The southwest monsoon is just starting to move into southern Laos and is expected to reach full force within the next two weeks. The rainy season continues through October.

Eichmann's Interrogator Abducted

Istanbul, Turkey (AP) — Four leftist terrorists Monday slugged and kidnapped Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, a police officer turned diplomat who was the No. 2 interrogator of Adolf Eichmann, the executed Nazi war criminal.

The militant Turkish People's Liberation Army claimed responsibility for the abduction and demanded the release of all "revolutionaries" jailed in Turkey. It set a deadline of Thursday afternoon and said if the prisoners were not freed by that time Elrom would "face a firing squad."

Israeli sources said the TPLA has close ties with a radical band of Palestinian guerrillas.

Gen. Faik Turun, martial law commander, said the terrorists waylaid the 58-year-old diplomat when he returned to his apartment for lunch. Elrom battled his abductors, Turun said, and they struck him over the head and carried him out wrapped in a sheet to a waiting white sedan.

Deputy Premier Sadi Kocas announced on state radio that persons claiming to represent the TPLA contacted him and issued their demand and deadline for the release of political prisoners and the death threat for Elrom.

Hard Line Taken

But Kocas warned that all persons in Turkey having any connection with the TPLA or other revolutionary groups would be arrested immediately, indicating the government was taking a hard line with the abductors.

Kocas termed the kidnappers' demands "insolent," and said that unless Elrom was released immediately the government would enact new laws extending capital punishment in Turkey.

These would affect leftist revolutionaries now facing trial, he warned.

At the same time martial law authorities ordered all residents of Istanbul to carry identification papers and asked for complete cooperation with troops and police searching the city.

Israeli sources said the TPLA is linked with the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which is one of the most militant groups of Palestinian guerrillas operating in the Middle East.

Istanbul police occasionally have confiscated Palestinian guerrilla propaganda from young Turkish leftists. Justice Minister Ismail Arar recently claimed that leftist students were receiving guerrilla training in Arab countries, particularly Syria.

TPLA Seized 4 GIs

The TPLA first came to light March 4 when its members kidnapped four American servicemen in Ankara. The victims were released later unharmed.

Elrom is married but has no children. He arrived in Istanbul two years ago to take up his post, the first diplomatic position he has held.

Elrom was assistant commander of a special police bureau called 06 set up immediately after Eichmann's capture by Israeli agents in Argentina in 1960.

Its purpose was to interrogate Hitler's executioner before he faced a Jerusalem court, which condemned him to death.

Elrom was in the police force for 27 years, retiring after several years as head of the Israeli Criminal Investigation Department.

Until he joined the foreign service in 1969, his name was Hofstaedter. He was born in Poland. He changed it to Elrom in line with Israeli foreign ministry regulations that Jerusalem's envoys abroad must have Hebrew names.

New Guinea Cult Plans To Sacrifice 2 Persons

Port Moresby, New Guinea (UPI) — The administration of Papua-New Guinea will take no official action to interfere with a native human-sacrifice cult which is sweeping the East Sepik district of New Guinea, a spokesman said Monday.

The cult leaders, who have thousands of followers, are planning to sacrifice two persons on top of Mt. Turu.

Late reports said hundreds of villagers were already converging on the 4,000-foot peak, located near Wewak on New Guinea's northern coast, to watch the sacrifice originally scheduled for July 7.

The cultists, led by Matthias Yeliwan, believe a concrete survey marker on the mountain is the key to the white man's domination of the area.

During the sacrificial ceremony, when Yeliwan and a native boy yet to be chosen are killed, the marker will be removed.

The cultists believe the marker was placed by the white man to retard native crops and to keep the wealth and other trappings of Western life in the white man's hands.

The marker was placed on Mt. Turu in 1962 by an American Army geophysical team during mapping survey work.

An administration spokesman said the government would not take any action to remove the marker and said, "We do not want to do anything to strengthen the hand of the cult leaders."

"If we remove the marker the leaders will claim interference by the white man to guard the secrets of his wealth and knowledge," he said.

4,600 Troops Withdrawn

Saigon (UPI) — A total of 4,600 U.S. servicemen were withdrawn from South Vietnam last week, reducing to 262,500 the number of Americans still in the war zone, the U.S. command said Monday.

The number of Americans still in South Vietnam is the lowest in more than five years, since total strength here was 252,000 on May 1, 1966.

In its weekly report on American troop strength as of the previous Thursday, the command said another 78,500 American soldiers are to be withdrawn from the war zone to meet the Nixon administration's goal of no more than 184,000 here by next Dec. 1.

The Marine Corps topped withdrawals last week, a total of 2,600 Marines leaving South Vietnam. The Army followed with 1,600 troops withdrawn, and Navy and Air Force strength declined by 200 men each.

Current U.S. strength in South Vietnam was reported as 203,100 Army, 39,300 Air Force, 11,400 Navy, 8,600 Marines and 100 Coast Guard.

Not included in the command's in-country strength report were about 17,800 Navy personnel on 7th Fleet ships and 200 Coast Guardsmen off the South Vietnam coast. The Navy forces was down from a high level of about 35,000 men with the fleet in July 1969, spokesmen said.

Possible Platte Flooding Draws Exon's Attention

... Urges Agencies, Citizens Be Aware Of Danger

Gov. J. James Exon late Monday issued a state of emergency proclamation due to possible flooding this summer along the Platte Rivers.

The governor said near record snowfall has accumulated in the upper reaches of the North and South Platte, and water management agencies have announced that a substantially greater than normal release of impounded water will continue through the summer.

Exon said since the Platte flow has been low for a number of years, the channel capacity has been reduced.

State's Corn Planting Far Behind Schedule

By United Press International

Crop observers reported Monday corn planting in Nebraska is far behind schedule, while cutworms and weather are taking a toll on that already planted.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said the crop is about 45% planted, considerably behind the 62% normal.

And a little replanting will be necessary in areas where heavy rainfall occurred. Early planted fields are coming up to good stands, the division added, but said cutworms have been noted in a few areas and could cause reductions.

Condition of the winter wheat crop remains good to excellent, the division said. Last week, crop experts estimated this year's Nebraska yield would be lower than last year's all time record but still third highest.

The division reported 10% of the sorghum and soybean crops have been planted. This compares to 22% normal for sorghum and 18% for soybeans.

The sugar beet crop is off to a good start, the division said. Fields have emerged to good stands in most areas, and replanting due to heavy rains has been at a minimum.

Precipitation over the state during the past week included:

Grand Island	81	East	32
Lincoln	101	Norfolk	136
Burlingame	31	Central	73
North Platte	71	Valentine	73
Chadron	31	West	15
Imperial	27	Scottsbluff	15
		Sidney	16

Rainfall received via sections since the beginning of the growing season, April 1, as compared to longtime averages follows:

Northwest	4.93 inches (1971), 3.08 inches (normal)
North Central	5.19, 3.45
Northeast	3.34, 3.77
Central	4.09, 3.56
East Central	4.87, 3.66
Southwest	6.24, 3.25
South Central	4.04, 3.68
Southeast	3.06, 4.25

"Although I have been assured by the water management agencies that the controlled release of impounded waters will not endanger communities and cities in Nebraska, heavy local rainfall or moderate general rainfall, coupled with this increased water flow, could cause serious local flooding along the Platte River," the governor said.

Exon added another complicating factor could be a more rapid than normal snowmelt either due to above average temperatures or rain in mountain areas of Wyoming and Colorado.

He urged local government agencies and citizens to be aware of the danger and take any action to protect life and property.

Exon also directed State Adj. Gen. Lyle Welsh to take any measures necessary to prepare for the flood threat and to cope with any flooding that might occur.

He said money from the governor's emergency fund would be used if needed.

Youth Drowns In Capehart Tadpole Pond

Omaha (P) — Cyrio Dennis, 13, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph Dennis, drowned Sunday night in a ditch made into a tadpole pond by recent rains in the Capehart Housing area west of Offutt Air Force Base.

A 13-year-old companion, Mark Pike, said he and Cyrio were playing with about 11 other youths when Cyrio climbed on another youth's shoulders.

Then, Pike said, Cyrio fell off into the water. The youths thought Cyrio was clowning, but young Pike said Cyrio went under and never came up. The body was recovered.

Some persons in the area said they had asked that the ditch be repaired or closed, as it contains tadpoles, frogs and minnows and is an attraction for young people.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Lou Georges said the ditch is about eight feet deep at its deepest point.

Overton Girl, 13, Undergoes Her 2nd Transplant

Holdrege (P) — Word was received here Monday of a second kidney transplant operation performed on 13-year-old Janet Scoville of Overton.

The second transplant operation was performed Sunday with a kidney obtained from an accident victim. Doctors at Veterans Hospital in Denver where the surgery was performed, expressed some optimism over her operation.

Janet received a kidney from her father, Dean Scoville, May 7, but two days later her system rejected the kidney.

Scoville was released from the hospital Sunday.

Amendment Ratified

Baton Rouge, La. (UPI) — Louisiana became the 29th state to ratify the proposed U.S. Constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 in all elections.

Wild West Show Contract Signed

North Platte (P) — Monte Montana Jr. and Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Director Willard Barbee have signed a five-year contract calling for re-creation of the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show in North Platte each summer.

The signing took place in the nearly completed stadium being built by the state near the Buffalo Bill Ranch State Historical Park at North Platte.

After a month-long showing in North Platte, Montana plans to take the show to Phoenix to start what he hopes will be a nationwide tour.

Veteran With Open Heart Surgery On Record Likes His Hospital Job

Grand Island (P) — Last February Virgil Lucas said, "I think I got shafted."

Now he says, "I finally got a fair shake."

Lucas, 23, of Alda, passed an Army induction physical despite recent open heart surgery and spent two years in the Army.

Prior to that, he couldn't pass a physical examination for employment at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant.

He flunked a similar exam with a Grand Island industrial firm and was refused flight training for the same reason.

He underwent open heart surgery at age 16.

"I had a hole in my heart between the upper two chambers," he said. "They covered the hole with plastic and rerouted the arteries . . . my heart was three times its normal size when they did the surgery."

Discharged in January

Lucas is one of two known heart surgery patients to have been inducted. Lucas put in his two-year hitch and was discharged Jan. 9. The other, John Clemmer, 18, Santa Clara, Calif., was in military basic training earlier this year.

Lucas was disenchanted about the Army taking him, but resigned himself to the turn of fortune.

His heart history posed subsequent problems when it came to getting a job after his military service.

The officials at the Grand Island Veterans Administration Hospital heard of his experience.

"Frank Holland, a personnel assistant for the hospital, called me about a job," Lucas said.

Lucas is employed at the hospital now on a temporary appointment.

Likes Bosses Too

"I finally got a fair shake," Lucas said. "I like it real well, they're nice people, everybody gets along, and I like the bosses, too."

Lucas said, "I work wherever they need me" in personnel-clerical work.

His main interest is operating the TV equipment which connects VA hospitals in Grand Island, Omaha and Lincoln and the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha, on a closed circuit television system.

Norfolk Hospital Project Approved

Norfolk — Lutheran Community Hospital at Norfolk has received approval of its application for a home health project from the Association's Research and Educational Foundation and the Nebraska Advisory Committee on Aging.

The action makes the Lutheran Hospital the first in Nebraska to take advantage of funds granted to the association by the Nebraska Advisory Committee on Aging. The funds will be used to subsidize the facility's start-up costs and to partially defray retroactive Medicare denials which may occur during the first year of operation.

Plans are that the facility will become operational about June 1.

12 Firemen, 4 Departments Receive Ak-Sar-Ben Honors

Grand Island — The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben honored 12 firemen and four fire departments at the Nebraska State Fire School which was held at Fanner Park.

This is the twelfth year that Ak-Sar-Ben has presented awards to the top volunteer firemen and fire departments in Nebraska. Ak-Sar-Ben also co-sponsors the annual State Fire School.

Topping the list of recipients were two firemen who were cited for heroism. They were Donald F. Hightree of Walthill and Victor J. Gravel of Seward. Each received a plaque and a check for $100.

Rescued Trucker

Hightree, along with his brother-in-law Dwight Long, rescued a stranded trucker during the flood on Logan Creek on February 19. Not knowing how deep the water was, if the load was still intact or if the tractor they were driving could withstand the swift current, the two drove approximately a quarter of a mile through the flood water to make the rescue.

Gravel was cited for the saving the life of Bill Baker of Blue Springs at a resort near Ogallala last August. Baker had fallen through a glass door and the broken glass had cut an artery. Using his first-aid training and experience, Gravel was able to stop the bleeding.

The David City Fire Department, with William Ortmeier as chief received the top award in the Fire Prevention Division. The David City Department received an Ak-Sar-Ben plaque and $200 for the purchase of equipment for the department.

Secondary awards of a plaque and $100 go to the Kearney Volunteer Fire Department, Walter W. Wilken, chief; the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, Clifford Pinkelman, chief; and the Dodge Volunteer Fire Department, John R. Miller, chief.

Ten firemen received an Ak-Sar-Ben plaque and $50 each with which to pay their expenses at the Fire School.

They are: Gerald E. Miles of O'Neill, Wallace Nyffeler of Duncan, Stanley Hoff of Gering, Ivan Sorenson of Ord, Ronald L. Goings of Alma, Woody R. Walters of Lincoln, Melvin C. Hemje of Hildreth, Lester L. Lukert of Seward, Norbert H. Brugger of Wayne and Wilfred V. Jensen of Alliance.

Elks Award To Lincoln Girl; Local Youth Program First

North Platte (P) — Lowell Lewis of Falls City was elected the new president of the state Elks Association in Nebraska at the statewide Elks convention over the weekend.

Carol Ann Kuchma of Lincoln won the past exalted rulers scholarship and the Lincoln Lodge No. 80 won first-place in the overall youth program.

Past Grand Exalted Ruler H. L. Blackledge of Kearney said at the closing session that under present circumstances he would cast his vote to eliminate the word "white" from the order's constitution. At present the 100-year-old fraternal organization has restricted membership to white or caucasian citizens and in recent years has been criticized as being discriminatory.

Blackledge said he based his decision on recent racial problems at the Lincoln, Neb. lodge. He said he feels that by eliminating the word "white" such problems in Nebraska and other states might be eased.

All 26 lodges in Nebraska were represented at the convention which drew more than 700.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One might well wish that the Senate could give overwhelming approval to the resolution by Sen. Mike Mansfield to reduce by one-half the number of American troops in Europe. If this could be done, it would mean that the conflict which exists between communism and democracy would have been resolved.

Such, unfortunately, is not the case and the Mansfield resolution will probably not be approved. The 150,000-man troop reduction might also look good from an economic point of view when you consider the problems faced by this nation with its dollars in the nations of Europe.

But that extra incentive is not likely to be enough to swing a majority of the Senate in favor of the Mansfield resolution. That resolution aims at the heart of much of the discussion taking place today of U.S. activities around the world.

These activities are based on the fundamental belief that the best means of survival and ultimate peace in the world are found in military strength. This, in turn, rests on the theory that the Soviet Union still constitutes a major threat to freedom around the world.

There are those in this nation who want to abandon that theory, who say that the threat of communism is no longer viable. They want to believe that the Soviet Union no longer harbors any thoughts of controlling the world and that the communist leaders are dedicated to no more, at least, than peaceful coexistence.

We find it difficult to follow such reasoning when you consider the actions of Russia in regard to her satellite countries of Eastern Europe. We wonder how the people of Hungary and Czechoslovakia might feel about the intentions of the Soviet Union.

In another area of the world, Red China made a lot of headway with its recent ping-pong diplomacy. That was all it took for a lot of people to say that it was time for us to quit considering Red China as a threat.

We are all for better relations with Red China if such can be developed but Red China has also just completed plans for a new jet plane. It is the first original jet plane by the Red Chinese and marks their continuing sophistication in the development of advanced war materials.

Within the past few days, Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev has called for negotiations toward the reduction of troops in Europe. Certainly, it is hoped that the Nixon administration moves quickly to comply with this request.

But the Brezhnev action is hardly grounds for the U.S. to begin a unilateral reduction of its forces. Russia frequently talks good prior to actual negotiations but when the chips are down, you find that the Soviets are not as agreeable as they seemed.

Obviously, it would be a wonderful thing if all the nations of the world could stop their heavy spending on armaments and the threat of armed aggression could be eliminated. It would be a marvelous thing if the U.S. could eliminate all 300,000 of its troops in Europe but none of this is possible at the moment.

The U.S. is not about to remake the world in its own image. Not all nations of the world are going to adopt a copy of the U.S. Constitution, nor are all of them going to have the same form of government that we have.

But the basic principles of freedom can be incorporated in many forms of government and any government can base itself on a mutual respect of other nations. The U.S. is not looking for a total democracy in every nation in the world but it is looking for governments that believe in principles of individual freedom and the sovereignty of their neighbors.

We can't see where the Soviet Union has shown any of these characteristics or where she has given up on the theory of international communism as expounded by Marx and Lenin. As Brezhnev spoke of troop reductions, he also spoke of continuing revolution and of the teachings and works of Lenin.

For the U.S. to unilaterally reduce its forces in Europe on the theory that Russian communism was no longer a threat to us would be, as President Nixon said, "an error of historic dimensions." The time to act will come when and if we can reach agreement with Russia on a plan of mutual troop reductions.

Citizens Of Washington Angry At Demonstrators

WASHINGTON—After eight years of protests against racial discrimination and the Vietnam war, Washingtonians prided themselves on their ability to take demonstrations in stride. Even when violence flared, as in the "Counter-Inaugural" of 1969 or during the life of Resurrection City in 1968, the city kept its cool. But the recent demonstrations by the Mayday Tribe and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice have shattered the old complacency.

To say that emotions are mixed in the nation's capital is vastly to understate the case. Some citizens are angry at the demonstrators, others at the police. Still others feel that there is blame enough for both to share. Everyone would agree, though, that the central issue involved is that of civil rights.

Seldom has the issue seemed so complicated as in Washington during Mayday Week. The anti-war protesters availed themselves of their First Amendment right "peaceable to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." Later, after the D.C. metropolitan police conducted mass arrests, the protesters claimed they had been deprived of their Sixth Amendment right "to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation" against them.

For their part, the police contended that the demonstrators violated local criminal statutes by blocking traffic and vandalizing or destroying public and private property. Inevitably, some onlookers and pedestrians found themselves caught in the police dragnet.

Mayday Week and the civil liberties questions it raised brought to mind some earlier mass demonstrations in the nation's capital. The 1932 Bonus March ended in violence when the World War I veterans who formed it were driven from their encampments by police and U.S. cavalry. And "Gen." Jacob S. Coxey, leader of Coxey's Army, was arrested and convicted with some of his men when he attempted to enter the Capitol in 1894 to demand jobs and public works. Their offense: trampling shrubs and plants and unlawfully displaying flags and banners.

Additional parallels between Mayday Week and the 1894 and 1932 demonstrations would be hard to find. If anything, the recent round of protest shows that concern and respect for individual rights—though still less than total—has grown over the years. The bonus marchers were routed, and Coxey arrested, without provocation on their part. In contrast, D.C. police waited for the Mayday Tribe to break the law before taking action.

And definitions of provocation can change. The banners Coxey's Army carried depicted the head of Christ. Some of those borne by the Mayday Tribe at the Capitol were the star-and-stripes of the Viet Cong. Dist. by Editorial Research Reports.

Time Running Out

Monday in this space we took issue with a provision in LB661, an omnibus election bill, that deals with the selection of delegates to national political conventions. It was our intent to confine remarks to that provision only, with the idea that it be omitted or changed.

Aside from permitting the selection of up to five delegates (depending on the apportionment of delegates by national committees) by state party conventions rather than the entire state's being determined by the voters, LB661 also contains provisions which clarify local and state election procedures.

Among them are changes in the election laws detailing procedure in the case of a candidate's dying after ballots are printed, spelling out the mechanics involved in implementing the 18-year-old vote and clarifying language pertaining to city and school district bond issue elections.

The changes are housekeeping in nature but probably should be passed. The question arises, however, of how high a price should be paid for clarifying language in the election statutes. To sacrifice the right of voters to select the entire slate of delegates to the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions is too high a price.

The most responsible act would be for the lawmakers to call LB661 back to select file, amend it by dropping the provision for the selection of a portion of the delegates by the state party conventions and then pass the bill including the procedural clarifications. Final reading on LB661 is fast approaching and it might appear to members of the Unicameral that it is too late in the legislative game to call the bill back for amendment. There are only five legislative days remaining and there is almost no chance that senators will agree to extend the session. The choice is between passing or killing LB661 as it now stands or calling it back for amendment. The latter is the far more preferable course.

Consequences Of Neglect

The University of Kansas, one of the Big Eight schools experiencing financial difficulties, is losing the head of its journalism department. Dr. Daryl Leaming is leaving Kansas for the University of Tulsa because of what he described as a lack of support of higher education in Kansas.

We are not familiar with all the facts at Kansas but we are quite certain that such developments are inevitable for institutions that do fail to give adequate support to higher education. Nebraska is in danger of losing some good people for this very reason.

The budget approved for our university by the Legislature is no more than a continuation blueprint. It will not provide for any correction of the deficiencies that exist in program offerings, faculty shortcomings, etc.

We doubt that Nebraska will suffer any serious consequences as a result of its 1971-72 budget but we are flirting with disaster. We cannot continue to ignore the needs of higher education and expect to come up with a product that does what we want it to do.

It is said that all of higher education is in trouble and this is largely true but not all institutions will find their financial support eroded. From out of the present difficulties will emerge a lot of institutions that have kept faith with the principles of higher education and built strong academic programs.

Those who do otherwise will find themselves at a serious disadvantage, a disadvantage that will then take them many years to overcome. The important thing is that the answer to the problems of higher education is not arbitrary economic curtailment.

Institutions that go the route of such curtailment will find themselves passed up by other more progressive and enlightened operations. We hope Nebraska emerges as a place where difficulties have been faced with imagination and foresight, not with blind subservience to artificial dollar limitations.

Law's Handling Of Mayday Demonstrators Brings Questions On Double Set Of Rights

WASHINGTON—It has been widely stated, in Congress and elsewhere, that the so-called Mayday demonstrators in Washington, by their disruptive tactics, damaged the peace movement and alienated many of its supporters. But two weeks after the mass arrests in the streets of the nation's capital, it seems more likely that the real damage was done by the forces of law and order to their own supposed cause.

Thus, the policy of preventive detention—holding persons who had not been charged with any crime, and against whom no crime could be charged because no arrest records had been made—was a double blow to constitutional rights. Not only were citizens incarcerated illegally (frequently) under miserable and dangerous conditions but they were so treated in order that the government could prevent any further demonstrations of dissent against government policy, even though it could not be certainly known that any such demonstration would be unlawful or disorderly.

Anybody who doubts that this was the deliberate policy of the Nixon administration will have to explain the following astounding fact. When Judge Harold Greene ruled on Tuesday that persons arrested Monday morning would have to be charged with a crime or released by 8 a.m. Wednesday—which gave the government about 48 hours to act—government attorneys actually appealed the ruling, obviously in vain. It is not surprising, even so, in these anxious days, that there are those who continue to feel that the Mayday tribe got no more than its just deserts, that any bystanders who got caught up in the dragnet ought to have been more careful, and that disorder in the streets is sufficient cause for setting aside the Bill of Rights. But, incredibly enough, among them are the attorney general and the President of the United States, one of whom managed the other's well-remembered "Law and Order Campaign" of 1968 and both of whom are sworn to uphold the Constitution.

That is not an accusation by their political opponents or an irresponsible charge by the hobgoblins Vice President Agnew sees in the press: It is a proud boast by the attorney general. He told the California Peace Officers' Association that "Washington's decisive opposition to mob force will set an example for other communities." And this, he said, was a view "fully shared by the President of the United States," a lawyer who has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court.

The tough policy followed against the Mayday demonstrators might have been defended, however speciously, on grounds of unavoidable necessity—in sorrow rather than in exultation, and without any boasts of victory. But Mitchell not only urged the same course on others; he insisted that the police actions here "protected the rights of their fellow citizens."

In the face of the indisputable evidence of improper mass arrests and illegal preventive detention, this can only refer to the rights of federal workers trying to get to their jobs, and of other non-demonstrating citizens. Of course those rights are real and inalienable—but what guarantee is there that they will remain so if the government is as willing and able to set aside the equally "inalienable" rights of other citizens as it showed itself to be during the Mayday strife?

That is the gravest question arising from a policy based on the notion that the rights of some Americans can be protected only by violating the rights of some other Americans. Sadly enough, that policy also raises the question whether in the America of Nixon and Mitchell there are not already two classes of citizens—rights—one for the non-protester going about his work, and another for the dissident engaging in demonstrations or civil disobedience.

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. The frequent use of the word "I" is discouraged. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Hospital's Closing

Lincoln, Neb.

As an attending orthopedist at the Nebraska Orthopedic Hospital in Lincoln, I can only express my concern and disappointment over the recent action by the Unicameral. I can only hope that the children will receive as good care under future arrangements as they have in the past from the dedicated personnel at the Orthopedic Hospital. I have definite concern that they will not if the facilities are transferred to Omaha.

As a taxpayer and citizen, I can only relate the knowledge that both the Crippled Children's Services, State of Nebraska, and the care rendered the patients will be much more expensive, in particular the comparison between per diem hospital cost at the Orthopedic Hospital and the projected per diem at the University Hospital, reference information report from the Governor's Study Committee, December, 1970.

As a practicing orthopedist who has donated his time and efforts to the children at the Orthopedic Hospital, I can only say, with a great deal of regret, that the closing of this hospital is wrong.

Lincoln, Neb.

With regard to LB369, which requires the use of helmets and special licenses for motorcyclists, I find that I must express my opinion against its enactment. This law is designed to protect the motorcycle rider in the event of an accident. However, the state is in effect requiring me to protect myself while voluntarily engaging in the use of my motorcycle.

The laws of the state are written, in principle, to protect society from the acts of an individual. This law does not protect society from any injury but places a $40 burden on me to protect myself from the acts of any individual who decides to violate traffic laws, i.e. stop signs.

The state does have the right to ask that I prove my ability to operate a motorcycle by requiring a special license. Instead of requiring me to buy a helmet, the state should require all motor-vehicle operators to obey all traffic laws, including the proper observation of other traffic and the avoidance of accidents.

LB369 should be either rewritten or discarded.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you suggest what causes large dents on the arms and legs of a girl, 10, who has had diabetes for seven years? Now they are giving her shots on the upper part of her little sit-down, and in the stomach. She has large dimples and indentations. Can this be corrected? —B.J.P.

This is an un avoidable nuisance for about one-third of the youngsters who have to take insulin for diabetes. It occurs in young girls and boys, and in women, but is rare in adult males.

The exact cause is not known, except that it obviously is related to the insulin injections, and involves a loss of fat below the skin at the sites of such injections.

Treatment isn't too effective. However, as the individual puts on a little weight, the dents become less noticeable.

In some instances, it may be recommended that the injections be given a little deeper. In other cases, it helps to use a highly concentrated insulin, U100 or even U500. Allow the insulin to reach room temperature before injecting.

The condition, while a nuisance cosmetically speaking, isn't likely to cause any severe trouble. It is called "insulin lipatrophy."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 62 and had diabetes for a year. I am supposed to take a pill a day but have not taken any for three months and feel fine. Every time I take a pill I feel tense and high strung so I quit them. The doctor said if I don't take them I will go blind or something will happen. What do you think? —L.P.

I know of nothing in any of the diabetes pills that would make you "feel tense," but you might ask your doctor to try one of the other types of diabetes pills. The pill you are using may be causing too great a drop in your blood sugar.

Nobody can say that you will go blind, but it is one of the things that sometimes happens when diabetes is not controlled, and the blood sugar level rises too high for too long a time. Your blood sugar tests will determine whether you can get along without the pill.

Diabetes is a sneaky disease, and the time to control it is when tests show high blood sugar. After you begin to feel ill, too much damage already has been done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband always brags that he has no perspiring feet, yet he always has athlete's foot. He never sprays his shoes, so he always gets it back. I know he has damp socks, because I wash them. Can a person have dry (no perspiration) feet and still have athlete's foot? —M.S.

The fungus that causes athlete's foot thrives in a warm, moist environment — for which a shoe is ideal. Foot powder absorbs moisture, thus helps. The various athlete's foot remedies that kill fungus are pretty effective, except in very severe cases which call for help from a dermatologist (skin specialist).

One necessary trick in getting rid of athlete's foot with the usual remedies is to keep on with the treatment for some time after the fungus seems to have been routed. If only a little of it survives, give it time and it will break out into a new attack.

Your husband, of course, is fooling himself by thinking his feet don't perspire. There isn't any medicine that will make people stop kidding themselves, though.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What makes the pupils of your eyes dilate at times? Would this be serious? I have a grown son and also a 6-year-old grandson and I notice that at times their pupils get large. They both seem to be on the nervous side. —Mrs. H.P.

Several things can cause the pupils to enlarge or contract. Basically, the pupil changes size to regulate the amount of light entering the eye. In very bright light, the pupil will squeeze down to very small size. In dim light, the pupil enlarges to admit more light.

That's why, when we go into a dim room from a bright sunlit day outdoors, at first we can't see much. Then we become accustomed to the dim light, and can see very well. Why? The pupils have enlarged to suit the illumination.

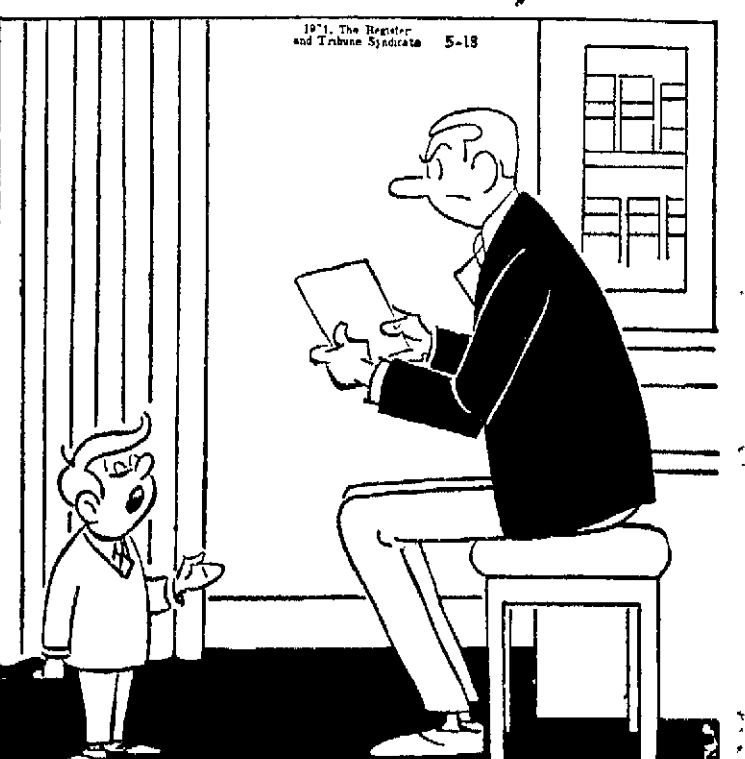

Absolute size of the pupils can vary considerably from one individual to another, but all change according to brightness. One-sided dilation or constriction can be due to a defect in the nerve control of the pupil — not a very common occurrence. Report such a condition to an ophthalmologist.

And drugs can affect pupil size, in both directions. Narcotics (morphine, heroin) cause a small pupil. Belladonna and other cause a large one, also marijuana. Older folks using "drops" for glaucoma will have small, contracted pupils.

I doubt, Mrs. P., that in your case you have anything to worry about.

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

"Sure, Uncle Bob, I can explain all those F's—old lady Wilson's got it in for dumb kids."

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER
One might well wish that the Senate could give overwhelming approval to the resolution by Sen. Mike Mansfield to reduce by one-half the number of American troops in Europe. If this could be done, it would mean that the conflict which exists between communism and democracy would have been resolved.
Such, unfortunately, is not the case and the Mansfield resolution will probably not be approved. The 150,000-man troop reduction might also look good from an economic point of view when you consider the problems faced by this nation with its dollars in the nations of Europe.
But that extra incentive is not likely to be enough to swing a majority of the Senate in favor of the Mansfield resolution. That resolution aims at the heart of much of the discussion taking place today of U.S. activities around the world.

These activities are based on the fundamental belief that the best means of survival and ultimate peace in the world are found in military strength. This, in turn, rests on the theory that the Soviet Union still constitutes a major threat to freedom around the world.
There are those in this nation who want to abandon that theory, who say that the threat of communism is no longer viable. They want to believe that the Soviet Union no longer harbors any thoughts of controlling the world and that the communist leaders are dedicated to no more, at least, than peaceful coexistence.
We find it difficult to follow such reasoning when you consider the actions of Russia in regard to her satellite countries of Eastern Europe. We wonder how the people of Hungary and Czechoslovakia might feel about the intentions of the Soviet Union.
In another area of the world, Red China made a lot of headway with its recent ping-pong diplomacy. That was all it took for a lot of people to say that it was time for us to quit considering Red China as a threat.

We are all for better relations with Red China if such can be developed but Red China has also just completed plans for a new jet plane. It is the first original jet plane by the Red Chinese and marks their continuing sophistication in the development of advanced war materials.
Within the past few days, Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev has called for negotiations toward the reduction of troops in Europe. Certainly, it is hoped that the Nixon administration moves quickly to comply with this request.
But the Brezhnev action is hardly grounds for the U.S. to begin a unilateral reduction of its forces. Russia frequently talks good prior to actual negotiations but when the chips are down, you find that the Soviets are not as agreeable as they seemed.
Obviously, it would be a wonderful thing if all the nations of the world could stop their heavy spending on armaments and the threat of armed aggression could be eliminated. It would be a marvelous thing if the U.S. could eliminate all 300,000 of its troops in Europe but none of this is possible at the moment.

The U.S. is not about to remake the world in its own image. Not all nations of the world are going to adopt a copy of the U.S. Constitution, nor are all of them going to have the same form of government that we have.
But the basic principles of freedom can be incorporated in many forms of government and any government can base itself on a mutual respect of other nations. The U.S. is not looking for a total democracy in every nation in the world but it is looking for governments that believe in principles of individual freedom and the sovereignty of their neighbors.
We can't see where the Soviet Union has shown any of these characteristics or where she has given up on the theory of international communism as expounded by Marx and Lenin. As Brezhnev spoke of troop reductions, he also spoke of continuing revolution and of the teachings and works of Lenin.
For the U.S. to unilaterally reduce its forces in Europe on the theory that Russian communism was no longer a threat to us would be, as President Nixon said, "an error of historic dimensions." The time to act will come when and if we can reach agreement with Russia on a plan of mutual troop reductions.

Angry At Demonstrators

WASHINGTON — After eight years of protests against racial discrimination and the Vietnam war, Washingtonians prided themselves on their ability to take demonstrations in stride. Even when violence flared, as in the "Counter-Inaugural" of 1969 or during the life of Resurrection City in 1968, the city kept its cool. But the recent demonstrations by the Mayday Tribe and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice have shattered the old complacency.
To say that emotions are mixed in the nation's capital is vastly to understate the case. Some citizens are angry at the demonstrators, others at the police. Still others feel that there is blame enough for both to share. Everyone would agree, though, that the central issue involved is that of civil rights.
Seldom has the issue seemed so complicated as in Washington during Mayday Week. The anti-war protesters availed themselves of their First Amendment right "peaceable to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." Later, after the D.C. metropolitan police conducted mass arrests, the protesters claimed they had been deprived of their Sixth Amendment right "to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation" against them.
For their part, the police contended that the demonstrators violated local criminal statutes by blocking traffic and vandalizing or destroying public and private property.
Inevitably, some onlookers and pedestrians found themselves caught in the police dragnet.
Mayday Week and the civil liberties questions it raised brought to mind some earlier mass demonstrations in the nation's capital. The 1932 Bonus March ended in violence when the World War I veterans who formed it were driven from their encampments by police and U.S. cavalry. And "Gen." Jacob S. Coxey, leader of Coxey's Army, was arrested and convicted with some of his men when he attempted to enter the Capitol in 1894 to demand jobs and public works. Their offense: trampling shrubs and plants and unlawfully displaying flags and banners.
Additional parallels between Mayday Week and the 1894 and 1932 demonstrations would be hard to find. If anything, the recent round of protest shows that concern and respect for individual rights—though still less than total—has grown over the years. The bonus marchers were routed, and Coxey arrested, without provocation on their part. In contrast, D.C. police waited for the Mayday Tribe to break the law before taking action.
And definitions of provocation can change. The banners Coxey's Army carried depicted the head of Christ. Some of those borne by the Mayday Tribe at the Capitol were the star-and-stripes of the Viet Cong.

Time Running Out

Monday in this space we took issue with a provision in LB661, an omnibus election bill, that deals with the selection of delegates to national political conventions. It was our intent to confine remarks to that provision only, with the idea that it be omitted or changed.
Aside from permitting the selection of up to five delegates (depending on the apportionment of delegates by national committees) by state party conventions rather than the entire slate's being determined by the voters, LB661 also contains provisions which clarify local and state election procedures.
Among them are changes in the election laws detailing procedure in the case of a candidate's dying after ballots are printed, spelling out the mechanics involved in implementing the 18-year-old vote and clarifying language pertaining to city and school district bond issue elections.
The changes are housekeeping in nature but probably should be passed. The question arises, however, of how high a price should be paid for clarifying language in the election statutes. To sacrifice the right of voters to select the entire slate of delegates to the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions is too high a price.
The most responsible act would be for the lawmakers to call LB661 back to select file, amend it by dropping the provision for the selection of a portion of the delegates by the state party conventions and then pass the bill including the procedural clarifications. Final reading on LB661 is fast approaching and it might appear to members of the Unicameral that it is too late in the legislative game to call the bill back for amendment. There are only five legislative days remaining and there is almost no chance that senators will agree to extend the session. The choice is between passing or killing LB661 as it now stands or calling it back for amendment. The latter is the far more preferable course.

Consequences Of Neglect

The University of Kansas, one of the Big Eight schools experiencing financial difficulties, is losing the head of its journalism department. Dr. Daryl Leaming is leaving Kansas for the University of Tulsa because of what he described as a lack of support of higher education in Kansas.
We are not familiar with all the facts at Kansas but we are quite certain that such developments are inevitable for institutions that do fail to give adequate support to higher education. Nebraska is in danger of losing some good people for this very reason.
The budget approved for our university by the Legislature is no more than a continuation blueprint. It will not provide for any correction of the deficiencies that exist in program offerings, faculty shortcomings, etc.
We doubt that Nebraska will suffer any serious consequences as a result of its 1971-72 budget but we are flinching with disaster. We cannot continue to ignore the needs of higher education and expect to come up with a product that does what we want it to do.
It is said that all of higher education is in trouble and this is largely true but not all institutions will find their financial support eroded. From out of the present difficulties will emerge a lot of institutions that have kept faith with the principles of higher education and built strong academic programs.
Those who do otherwise will find themselves at a serious disadvantage, a disadvantage that will then take them many years to overcome. The important thing is that the answer to the problems of higher education is not arbitrary economic curtailment.
Institutions that go the route of such curtailment will find themselves passed up by other more progressive and enlightened operations. We hope Nebraska emerges as a place where difficulties have been faced with imagination and foresight, not with blind subservience to artificial dollar limitations.

TOM WICKER
Law's Handling Of Mayday Demonstrators
Brings Questions On Double Set Of Rights

WASHINGTON—It has been widely stated, in Congress and elsewhere, that the so-called Mayday demonstrators in Washington, by their disruptive tactics, damaged the peace movement and alienated many of its supporters. But two weeks after the mass arrests in the streets of the nation's capital, it seems more likely that the real damage was done by the forces of law and order to their own supposed cause.
This would be the case even if it were accepted as truth that the Washington police really had no choice on Monday, May 3, except to engage in dragnet techniques—a dubious contention, indeed. It presupposes that the Mayday tribe actually had the numbers and the means to disrupt the city and the federal government to a disastrous degree, and it depends upon the assumption that more defensive forces—enough to maintain the usual arresting and charging procedures—were not available.
Even if these self-serving propositions are accepted, however, a police dragnet to clear the streets of demonstrators and keep traffic moving would have been acceptable only if those picked up had been promptly released or, in the case of leaders and particular offenders, properly charged and held.
As it happened, there is no doubt that the Washington police with the active connivance of the Department of Justice carried out a policy of preventive detention. A department spokesman even said that the aim was to keep demonstrators "out of circulation" for at least 12 to 24 hours, presumably so that the demonstrations could not be resumed.
Thus, the policy of preventive detention—holding persons who had not been charged with any crime, and against whom no crime could be charged because no arrest records had been made—was a double blow to constitutional rights. Not only were citizens incarcerated illegally (frequently) under miserable and dangerous conditions but they were so treated in order that the government could prevent any further demonstrations of dissent against government policy, even though it could not be certainly known that any such demonstration would be unlawful or disorderly.
Anybody who doubts that this was the deliberate policy of the Nixon administration will have to explain the following astounding fact. When Judge Harold Greene ruled on Tuesday that persons arrested Monday morning would have to be charged with a crime or released by 8 a.m. Wednesday—which gave the government about 48 hours to act—govern-

Hospital's Closing
Lincoln, Neb.
As an attending orthopedist at the Nebraska Orthopedic Hospital in Lincoln, I can only express my concern and disappointment over the recent action by the Unicameral. I can only hope that the children will receive as good care under future arrangements as they have in the past from the dedicated personnel at the Orthopedic Hospital. I have definite concern that they will not if the facilities are transferred to Omaha.
As a taxpayer and citizen, I can only relate the knowledge that both the Crippled Children's Services, State of Nebraska, and the care rendered the patients will be much more expensive, in particular the comparison between per diem hospital cost at the Orthopedic Hospital and the projected per diem at the University Hospital, reference information report from the Governor's Study Committee, December, 1970.
As a practicing orthopedist who has donated his time and efforts to the children at the Orthopedic Hospital, I can only say, with a great deal of regret, that the closing of this hospital is wrong.

LB 369
Lincoln, Neb.
With regard to LB369, which requires the use of helmets and special licenses for motorcyclists, I find that I must express my opinion against its enactment.
This law is designed to protect the motorcycle rider in the event of an accident. However, the state is in effect requiring me to protect myself while voluntarily engaging in the use of my motorcycle.
The laws of the state are written, in principle, to protect society from the acts of an individual. This law does not protect society from any injury but places a $40 burden on me to protect myself from the acts of any individual who decides to violate traffic laws, i.e. stop signs.
The state does have the right to ask that I prove my ability to operate a motorcycle by requiring a special license. Instead of requiring me to buy a helmet, the state should require all motor-vehicle operators to obey all traffic laws, including the proper observation of other traffic and the avoidance of accidents.
In summary, I do not challenge the benefits of wearing a helmet but I do question the propriety of the state to make that decision for me. I do not ask that the present laws be enforced and that those who violate them be punished. "I just didn't see him" doesn't justify a car-motorcycle accident whether or not the rider had on a helmet.
LB369 should be either rewritten or discarded.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you suggest what causes large dents on the arms and legs of a girl, 10, who has had diabetes for seven years? Now they are giving her shots on the upper part of her little sit-down, and in the stomach. She has large dimples and indentations. Can this be corrected? — B.J.P.
This is an unavoidable nuisance for about one-third of the youngsters who have to take insulin for diabetes. It occurs in young girls and boys, and in women, but is rare in adult males.
The exact cause is not known, except that it obviously is related to the insulin injections, and involves a loss of fat below the skin at the sites of such injections.
Treatment isn't too effective. However, as the individual puts on a little weight, the dents become less noticeable.
In some instances, it may be recommended that the injections be given a little deeper. In other cases, it helps to use a highly concentrated insulin, U100 or even U500. Allow the insulin to reach room temperature before injecting.
The condition, while a nuisance cosmetically speaking, isn't likely to cause any severe trouble. It is called "insulin lipatrophy."
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 62 and had diabetes for a year. I am supposed to take a pill a day but have not taken any for three months and feel fine. Every time I take a pill I feel tense and high strung so I quit them. The doctor said if I don't take them I will go blind or something will happen. What do you think? — L.P.
I know of nothing in any of the diabetes pills that would make you "feel tense," but you might ask your doctor to try one of the other types of diabetes pills. The pill you are using may be causing too great a drop in your blood sugar.
Nobody can say that you will go blind, but it is one of the things that sometimes happens when diabetes is not controlled, and the blood sugar level rises too high for too long a time. Your blood sugar tests will determine whether you can get along without the pill.
Diabetes is a sneaky disease, and the time to control it is when tests show high blood sugar. After you begin to feel ill, too much damage already has been done.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband always brags that he has no perspiring feet, yet he always has athlete's foot. He never sprays his shoes, so he always gets it back. I know he has damp socks, because I wash them. Can a person have dry (no perspiration) feet and still have athlete's foot? — M.S.
The fungus that causes athlete's foot thrives in a warm, moist environment — for which a shoe is ideal. Foot powder absorbs moisture, thus helps. The various athlete's foot remedies that kill fungus are pretty effective, except in very severe cases which call for help from a dermatologist (skin specialist).
One necessary trick in getting rid of athlete's foot with the usual remedies is to keep on with the treatment for some time after the fungus seems to have been routed. If only a little of it survives, give it time and it will break out into a new attack.
Your husband, of course, is fooling himself by thinking his feet don't perspire. There isn't any medicine that will make people stop kidding themselves, though.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: What makes the pupils of your eyes dilate at times? Would this be serious? I have a grown son and also a 6-year-old grandson and I notice that at times their pupils get large. They both seem to be on the nervous side. — Mrs. H.P.
Several things can cause the pupils to enlarge or contract. Basically, the pupil changes size to regulate the amount of light entering the eye. In very bright light, the pupil will squeeze down to very small size. In dim light, the pupil enlarges to admit more light.
That's why, when we go into a dim room from a bright sunlit day outdoors, at first we can't see much. Then we become accustomed to the dim light, and can see very well. Why? The pupils have enlarged to suit the illumination.
Absolute size of the pupils can vary considerably from one individual to another, but all change according to brightness.
One-sided dilation or constriction can be due to a defect in the nerve control of the pupil — not a very common occurrence. Report such a condition to an ophthalmologist.
And drugs can affect pupil size, in both directions. Narcotics (morphine, heroin) cause a small pupil. Belladonna and others cause a large one, also marijuana. Older folks using "drops" for glaucoma will have small, contracted pupils.
I doubt, Mrs. P., that in your case you have anything to worry about.
Dr. Thosteson welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Resolution Urging U.S. Withdrawal From Vietnam Fails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Monday gave 23-12 endorsement to a resolution urging U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam within one year, but the proposal fell two votes short of enactment.

Resolutions require 25 affirmative votes in order to gain approval from the Unicameral.

LR76, sponsored by Sen. John DeCamp of Neigh and 11 co-signers, encouraged the President and the Congress "to set a date as soon as reasonably possible for total and complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces and military support monies from Vietnam."

But, in any event, the resolution suggested, the withdrawal date should be set within one year after the enactment of the resolution.

Monday's heated debate took place before educational television cameras and a balcony partially filled with student supporters of the DeCamp proposal.

At one point, senators threatened to clear the galleries after spectators applauded for the second time remarks made by Sen. Ernest Chamber of Omaha.

"The time is now for America, and its elected representatives, to call a halt to the war," he declared.

Americans should create "no more widows, no more orphans," he said.

"Bully Of The World"

But Chambers angered a number of his colleagues when he suggested that America has a history as "a war monger nation." Wars are "the bookmarks of American history," Chambers said, and many nations today consider America to be "the bully of the world."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha said he was "surprised, ashamed and disgusted" by Chambers' remarks. "I hope they are erased from the records of this Legislature," he said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff then offered an amendment, which was accepted, noting that the resolution rejects any inference that America is a war-mongering nation.

DeCamp added a further proviso that the Legislature "commends the President for his efforts thus far in ending the war."

Amendment praising that man," Chamber said.

Explaining his previous remarks, Chambers held high a pair of slave manacles which, he noted, "helped determine my attitudes toward this country."

As for the war, he said, "it is regrettable that men who make wars don't fight them."

His kill motion fell on a 13-23 vote.

Faith Expressed

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha said he has "faith in the President . . . and I will vote for him and against the resolution."

Carpenter, a co-signer of LR76, said he is "not here to indict this nation."

And Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord, whose son was killed in the service, said "the whole thing is a little ridiculous (because) we're not well enough informed."

Lt. Gov. Frank Marsh twice warned spectators that he would clear the galleries if they persisted with further applause.

Protested By Proud

Proud protested, reminding senators that "this is not the first time we've heard applause" from the balconies.

Although he would vote against the resolution, Proud noted, his 19-year-old daughter agrees with its supporters.

LR76 was a compromise proposal resulting from a public hearing on the Statehouse steps conducted by four senators after the Legislature had killed, without a hearing, an earlier DeCamp resolution establishing a withdrawal date and proposing a cut-off of military funding.

Here is the vote on the motion to adopt the resolution:

For: Barnett, Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Craft, DeCamp, Duis, Elrod, Holmquist, Mahoney, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Orme, Savage, Schmitt, Skarda, Stahmer, Swanson, Waldron, Warner, Wilkie, Ziebarth.

Against: Chambers, Clark, Espie, Goodrich, Keyes, Kremer, Lewis, Ludlke, Proud, Snyder, Stull, Syas.

Not voting: Carstern, Hasebroock, Johnson, Kennedy, Kimb, Klaver, Kokes, Marresh, Nore, Simpson, Stromer, Waldo, Walwey, Whitney.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Number Of Rock Hounds Growing In U.S.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

On a radiant October morning a few years ago, a motorist barreled westward along a stretch of quiet desert highway near the Hoover Dam, at the junction of Nevada and Arizona. As he capped a slight rise, his eyes took in a startling tableau. Headed toward him was a tightly packed caravan of automobiles, hundreds of them strung out as far as he could see.

When he came abreast of the lead cars, he coasted to a stop. Flaggging down one of the vehicles, he yelled, "What goes on?" And back came the answer in a voice that rang with pride and satisfaction and sheer holiday happiness, "Rock hounds, brother, rock hounds!"

The amazed motorist stayed in his car and stared as over 1,000 cars passed him by on their way to hunt for agate around Hoover Dam. It was a mass field trip, organized by a Nevada rock hound club. But more than that, it was a demonstration of the fact that the hobby of rock-collecting has come to be a mighty big thing in America.

What makes a rock hound? Nobody is entirely certain as to that, but the answer must be related in some way to man's love of beauty, color and the outdoors. Then too, these days, people have more leisure, and especially the growing body of retirees.

Wherever you find rocks, you'll find rock hounds. There are more than 930 rock-hound clubs in communities all across the land, which in turn, are members of a federation of mineralogical societies. They have periodic conventions just like Rotary or the American Legion. They gather from all over to talk shop and show off their prize specimens of amethyst, jasper and what-not.

There are rock hound magazines, all of them characterized by a fervor that is nothing short of evangelistic. They too, keep the nation's rockhound fraternity together. They also keep the rock hounds informed with details about what kind of rock to look for, where to look for it, and what to do with it after it's been found.

But suppose a rockhound, given all that information, still can't find the particular specimen he needs for his collection? In that event, he can buy his rock across the counter or by mail order. There are several thousand rock dealers scattered all the way from Wall Street to California.

Resolution Urging U.S. Withdrawal From Vietnam Fails

That brought Chambers to his feet again, asking lawmakers to kill the entire resolution.

"It is wrong to attach an amendment praising that man," Chamber said.

Explaining his previous remarks, Chambers held high a pair of slave manacles which, he noted, "helped determine my attitudes toward this country."

As for the war, he said, "it is regrettable that men who make wars don't fight them."

His kill motion fell on a 13-23 vote.

Faith Expressed

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha said he has "faith in the President . . . and I will vote for him and against the resolution."

Carpenter, a co-signer of LR76, said he is "not here to indict this nation."

And Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord, whose son was killed in the service, said "the whole thing is a little ridiculous (because) we're not well enough informed."

Lt. Gov. Frank Marsh twice warned spectators that he would clear the galleries if they

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Number Of Rock Hounds Growing In U.S.

By HENRY SCHMIDT

On a radiant October morning a few years ago, a motorist barreled westward along a stretch of quiet desert highway near the Hoover Dam, at the junction of Nevada and Arizona. As he capped a slight rise, his eyes took in a startling tableau. Headed toward him was a tightly packed caravan of automobiles, hundreds of them strung out as far as he could see.

When he came abreast of the lead cars, he coasted to a stop. Flagger down one of the vehicles, he yelled, "What goes on?" And back came the answer in a voice that rang with pride and satisfaction and sheer holiday happiness, "Rock hounds, brother, rock hounds!"

The amazed motorist stayed in his car and stared as over 1,000 cars passed him by on their way to hunt for agate around Hoover Dam. It was a mass field trip, organized by a Nevada rock hound club. But more than that, it was a demonstration of the fact that the hobby of rock-collecting has come to be a mighty big thing in America.

What makes a rock hound? Nobody is entirely certain as to that, but the answer must be related in some way to man's love of beauty, color and the outdoors. Then too, these days, people have more leisure, and especially the growing body of retirees.

Wherever you find rocks, you'll find rock hounds. There are more than 930 rock-hound clubs in communities all across the land, which in turn, are members of a federation of mineralogical societies. They have periodic conventions just like Rotary or the American Legion. They gather from all over to talk shop and show off their prize specimens of amethyst, jasper and what-not.

There are rock hound magazines, all of them characterized by a fervor that is nothing short of evangelistic. They too, keep the nation's rock hound fraternity together. They also keep the rock hounds informed with details about what kind of rock to look for, where to look for it, and what to do with it after it's been found.

But suppose a rockhound, given all that information, still can't find the particular specimen he needs for his collection? In that event, he can buy his rock across the counter or by mail order. There are several thousand rock dealers scattered all the way from Wall Street to California.

STARTING DATE	started May 1, 1971	started May 1, 1971	start June 1, 1971	started October 1970
PLANNED COMPLETION	Sept. 15, 1971	July 1, 1971	for use soon—more to come!	November 1971

Summer is a-comin' in—and so are all these facilities up at Devils Nest. See them now. And watch for more Progress Charts soon.

You ain't seen nothin' yet! The fun has just begun at Devils Nest. So much is going on right now, we can hardly keep up with it ourselves.

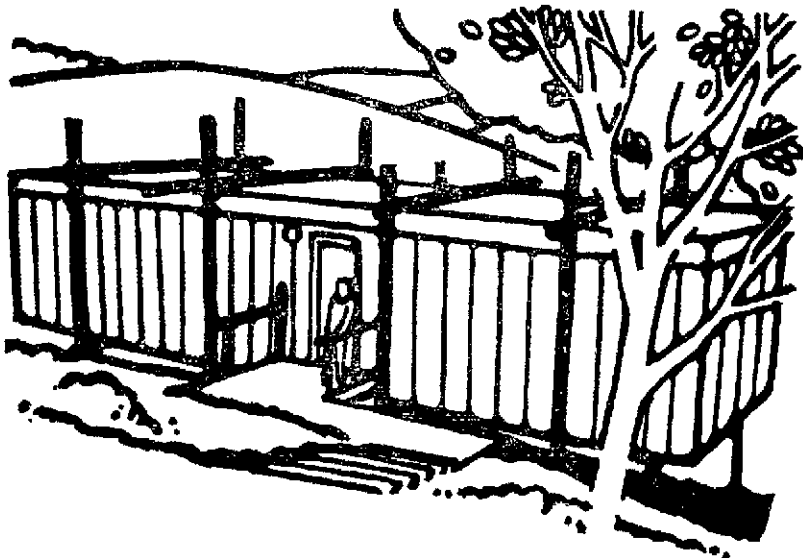

Melvin O. Steen, our famous authority on conservation, has us busy putting in 52,000 trees—plus 40 acres of wildflowers. Mr. Steen says we should not only preserve Devils Nest's rare natural environment—we should improve it. So Devils Nest will remain a haven for beautiful creatures such as the rare bald American eagle. And it will always be a beautiful retreat for you.

We want to give you ideas about real resort-style living, so we hired the distinguished architects Flatow, Moore, Bryan and Fairburn to design some exhibit homes. Lincoln's Krueger Construction Company is finishing some of them now. Be sure to see them when you're here.

Of course, you can't avoid a view at Devils Nest—no matter where you pick your second home site. You may prefer a lake view—or a hillside vista—or a location near our ski area.

Did we say ski area? In Nebraska? You bet! We're already grading the slopes, from 5,000 ft. Festus Crest to the gentler Rustler's Run. Work is going ahead on Nebraska's first double chair lift, as well as poma tows for beginners' slopes. Next we'll put in the special snow-making equipment we've purchased, then install lights for nighttime skiing!

From winter-skiing, it's just a short distance down the slopes to summer-skiing. Water-skiing, that is, on 35-mile long Lewis and Clark Lake. The lake's smooth waters are ideal for sailing, too. And more than one fisherman has pulled in a record-breaking fish—fish like crappie, carp, channel cat, walleye and bass.

From the Yacht Club decks, nothing will come between you and the wonderful lake-and-hills scenery. The power lines and poles you'll see at the moment are temporary—so we can complete our work faster. Eventually, all utilities—phone, power, water and sewage—will be underground.

Best of all, you can own property at Devils Nest even if you're on a "tight" family budget. Choice view locations start as low as $3000 cash, or you may purchase on convenient, pay-as-you-go terms. ### 3 NU Seniors Interning With State Government

Three University of Nebraska-Lincoln seniors are spending their last semester working part-time for the state in an internship program initiated this year by the department of political science.

Mrs. Linda Proskovec works 20 hours per week in the State Budget Office; Ralph Eickhoff and Robert Banta work the same amount in the Department of Economic Development. All three are full-time students and will graduate in June.

The internship program is for seniors with a specific interest in state government, according to Mrs. Proskovec, the first woman intern. It is designed to provide students with experience in and knowledge about the internal processes of government.

Three Credits, $600 The students receive three credit hours and $600 for their work during the semester. In addition to the 20-hour work week they are required to do reviews of three books pertinent to state government and an evaluation of the internship program.

"It's a good program if learning is your goal," said Mrs. Proskovec, who is seeking a job in state or federal government in Lincoln because her husband, Gary, has one year of school left at NU before getting a civil engineering degree. She plans to continue her education by taking graduate hours at night.

Mrs. Proskovec, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Holling of Millard, said the hardest part of her job was picking up the specialized vocabulary needed in the Budget Office, and it took her about a month to master it. In the Budget Office she does research for the six budget analysts and director Darrel Stoffs.

Budget Research One of her favorite projects is doing research on the development of the budget at the state level, and this has taken her back to 1889 records. She has found that the funding system the state is now using was basically established about 1920 and has only been modified since.

All three say they have always been interested in government, and Mrs. Proskovec said it was a beginning political science course taught by instructor Eric Carlson at NU that convinced her to go into political science. Mrs. Proskovec has an American history minor and while 27 hours are needed for a political science major she now has 43 with an emphasis on American government.

Eickhoff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eickhoff of Columbus, also has a history minor. After graduation he will do graduate work at Johns Hopkins Advanced School of International Studies. He will spend his first school term in Bologna, Italy, and his second year in Washington, D.C. Eickhoff wants to specialize in politics and government.

Both Eickhoff and Banta have been working on one project in the Department of Economic Development. They are putting together a "Directory of State Services to Local Government" which will list various services the agencies in state government offer local communities. Eickhoff said these will be sent to mayors and city councils in the state as well as to state agencies to serve as a coordinating instrument to let them know what other agencies are doing.

2 Months Of Interviews Banta said he and Eickhoff interviewed people for about two months to get the information for the booklet. He said he feels a project such as theirs provides the student with insight because he sees how the project is actually done. In their project they worked under Mrs. Marie Arnot, community affairs coordinator, and Jack Ruff, as well as Allen Eastman in the State Office of Planning and Programming. Both said that over-all the departments contacted were quite cooperative in providing information.

Banta, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Banta of Alma, plans to go to law school next year. Of the internship he said: "It's been a good over-all look at what the state government does and how it works."

Eickhoff agreed as he said: "I feel that I've gotten a lot out of it as far as the practical aspects of working in government."

In addition to the supervision the students receive in their departments they are also under the direction of Dr. Carroll R. McKibbin, chairman of the political science department.

Omaha Woman Installed As Regional Hadassah President

Mrs. Sam Katzman of Omaha was installed as president of the Missouri Valley Region of Hadassah, a women's Zionist organization, at the 25th annual spring conference meeting Monday night.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Harry Allen, Lincoln; Mrs. Mark Dersh, Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Edward K. Schwartz, St. Louis, Mo.; and Mrs. Edward H. Tepperman, Council Bluffs, Iowa, vice presidents; Mrs. Jack Moskovitz, Kansas City, Mo., treasurer; Mrs. Ceymour Oshman, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, recording secretary; and Mrs. Ted Sanford, Omaha, corresponding secretary.

At the three-day conference held at the Nebraska Center, delegates from 15 cities in Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri are discussing the theme, "Maxi-in-the-Mini—Hadassah Style."

Mrs. Walter Brechner, national advisor and vice president from Woodmere, Long Island, was the speaker at the installation banquet.

60,000 Turn Out At Offutt Event

Omaha (AP) — A crowd estimated at 60,000 turned out at Offutt Air Force Base Sunday for the annual Armed Forces Day open house.

More than 60 airplanes were on display. The types ranged from the SR71 reconnaissance plane that flies at 80,000 feet to pre-World War I antique craft.

The Air Force Thunderbirds demonstrated precision flying and the Navy's Chuting Stars skydived. All branches of the armed services had displays.

State Education Loan Program Action Slated

By DON BEMAN United Press International The Nebraska Legislature is scheduled to decide this week whether to embark on a program aimed at insuring educational opportunities beyond high school are financially within reach of most.

The decision will be made when Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's bill, LB152, comes up for final consideration. It would, in short, allow the state to loan money to students.

Carpenter has said the program would put the reality of education within reach of all youth "beyond our fondest dreams."

From Both Sides "It would allow students from both sides of the tracks to go to school," he said.

It has been estimated that as much as $300 million in state dollars may one day be used in the program, which would work through the State Investment Council.

The council was created as a unit with the authority to invest both long-term and short-term excess funds, in an effort to raise money by some means other than taxation.

Studied As 'Pilot' Under the Carpenter bill, which he says is being studied by federal officials as a "pilot" for other states, the council would be empowered to purchase from lending institutions in the state the federally guaranteed education loans for Nebraska residents.

Carpenter said getting the federal guarantee is not hard. The major requirement, he said, is a high school diploma. And even without one, he added, it is possible to get a loan to complete high school.

However, he and others contend, the hard part is getting the money once the federal guarantee has been affixed because the actual loans must come from lending institutions. The firms are in turn allowed to lend out only so much money by banking laws.

Purchase Notes The Carpenter bill would allow the state, in blocks of $5,000, to purchase notes, underwriting the education loans, so the bank could turn around and loan more money — hopefully to students.

Carpenter said under present circumstances, where the institutions must watch how money is loaned, the low-income students are given a low priority. As a result, he said, both poor whites and poor minority groups are "running in the streets" angry because they cannot get the education they need to improve their lives and incomes.

At first the Carpenter proposal drew strong opposition, and was killed by a committee of the Unicameral.

Chief Opponent A chief opponent was State Investment Officer Fred Kuethe. He objected to the original form of the bill which he said would have "put the state into the small loan business." Many, besides Kuethe, questioned whether that could legally be done.

But Carpenter, not giving up, urged the bill back to life on the floor of the Legislature, offering amendments and legal opinions to mold the proposal now up for a vote.

Under it, the state does not directly make the loan, but would only underwrite them to free money to be loaned to others.

Right To Set Nonresident Rates Not Disputed

By United Press International The Nebraska Supreme Court was told Monday there is no dispute over whether the University of Nebraska should have nonresident tuition rates, if they apply to actual nonresidents.

The comment was made in a brief filed with the state's high court in an appeal of a Lancaster County District Court's ruling which declared the present state residency law, as it applies to tuition, unconstitutional.

The decision, however, applies only to the Lancaster District unless upheld by the Supreme Court.

"This case does not in any way question or dispute the right of the university to charge nonresident tuition to actual nonresidents," the brief said.

"We are fully prepared to agree for the purposes of this appeal that the University may properly charge nonresident tuition to people that are in fact nonresidents," the brief added.

The brief was filed by Raymond S. Thompson III, who won his suit against the university in District Court, after which the institution appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

Thompson further said the suit doesn't question the right of the university to "impose a reasonable" set of residency standards which would require the student to prove he is a resident.

The question, he said, is whether the state has the right to "deny a genuine resident of the state" the right to pay the lower rates.

At issue is the portion of the law which says a person must reside in Nebraska for a four-month period without attending any institution of higher education before qualifying as a resident.

In his brief, Thompson said, the provision "is intended to be and functions as an absolute bar" to establishing residency.

The effect of the law, he said, is that "once a student is a nonresident, he is always a nonresident for tuition purposes as long as he is continuously attending the university."

He notes that he was born and raised in Omaha and graduated from Omaha Central High School in 1957. He attended Dartmouth College and in 1959 his parents moved from Nebraska.

In 1967, after completing military service and working in Washington, he, his wife and two children moved to Nebraska. He said within days he purchased a home, paid all state and local taxes, registered to vote and had no other home of record.

Thompson contends that although he did not quit going to school long enough to meet residency requirements for tuition purposes he is "in fact" a citizen and resident.

State Education Loan Program Action Slated

By DON BEMAN
United Press International
The Nebraska Legislature is scheduled to decide this week whether to embark on a program aimed at insuring educational opportunities beyond high school are financially within reach of most.

The decision will be made when Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's bill, LB152, comes up for final consideration. It would, in short, allow the state to loan money to students.

Carpenter has said the program would put the reality of education within reach of all youth "beyond our fondest dreams."

From Both Sides
"It would allow students from both sides of the tracks to go to school," he said.

It has been estimated that as much as $300 million in state dollars may one day be used in the program, which would work through the State Investment Council.

The council was created as a unit with the authority to invest both long-term and short-term excess funds, in an effort to raise money by some means other than taxation.

Studied As 'Pilot'
Under the Carpenter bill, which he says is being studied by federal officials as a "pilot" for other states, the council would be empowered to purchase from lending institutions in the state the federally guaranteed education loans for Nebraska residents.

Carpenter said getting the federal guarantee is not hard. The major requirement, he said, is a high school diploma. And even without one, he added, it is possible to get a loan to complete high school.

However, he and others contend, the hard part is getting the money once the federal guarantee has been affixed because the actual loans must come from lending institutions. The firms are in turn allowed to lend out only so much money by banking laws.

Purchase Notes
The Carpenter bill would allow the state, in blocks of $5,000, to purchase notes, underwriting the education loans, so the bank could turn around and loan more money — hopefully to students.

Carpenter said under present circumstances, where the institutions must watch how money is loaned, the low-income students are given a low priority. As a result, he said, both poor whites and poor minority groups are "running in the streets" angry because they cannot get the education they need to improve their lives and incomes.

At first the Carpenter proposal drew strong opposition, and was killed by a committee of the Unicameral.

Chief Opponent
A chief opponent was State Investment Officer Fred Kuethe. He objected to the original form of the bill which he said would have "put the state into the small loan business." Many, besides Kuethe, questioned whether that could legally be done.

But Carpenter, not giving up, urged the bill back to life on the floor of the Legislature, offering amendments and legal opinions to mold the proposal now up for a vote.

Under it, the state does not directly make the loan, but would only underwrite them to free money to be loaned to others.

Right To Set Nonresident Rates Not Disputed

By United Press International
The Nebraska Supreme Court was told Monday there is no dispute over whether the University of Nebraska should have nonresident tuition rates, if they apply to actual nonresidents.

The comment was made in a brief filed with the state's high court in an appeal of a Lancaster County District Court's ruling which declared the present state residency law, as it applies to tuition, unconstitutional.

The decision, however, applies only to the Lancaster District unless upheld by the Supreme Court.

"This case does not in any way question or dispute the right of the university to charge nonresident tuition to actual nonresidents," the brief said.

"We are fully prepared to agree for the purposes of this appeal that the University may properly charge nonresident tuition to people that are in fact nonresidents," the brief added.

The brief was filed by Raymond S. Thompson III, who won his suit against the university in District Court, after which the institution appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

Thompson further said the suit doesn't question the right of the university to "impose a reasonable" set of residency standards which would require the student to prove he is a resident.

The question, he said, is whether the state has the right to "deny a genuine resident of the state" the right to pay the lower rates.

At issue is the portion of the law which says a person must reside in Nebraska for a four-month period without attending any institution of higher education before qualifying as a resident.

In his brief, Thompson said,

New College Gets Piece Of History

Robinson, Ill. (AP) — Lincoln Trail College, a new institution, has received a piece of history for its collection of objects commemorating the era of Abraham Lincoln.

A 75-year-old set of Conestoga wagon hoops was donated by the Morris Davis family. They were brought to the Davis home in Annapolis in 1896 by the late John Newlin, Mrs. Davis' great-uncle.

the provision "is intended to be and functions as an absolute bar" to establishing residency.

The effect of the law, he said, is that "once a student is a nonresident, he is always a nonresident for tuition purposes as long as he is continuously attending the university."

He notes that he was born and raised in Omaha and graduated from Omaha Central High School in 1957. He attended Dartmouth College and in 1959 his parents moved from Nebraska.

In 1967, after completing military service and working in Washington, he, his wife and two children moved to Nebraska. He said within days he purchased a home, paid all state and local taxes, registered to vote and had no other home of record.

Thompson contends that although he did not quit going to school long enough to meet residency requirements for tuition purposes he is "in fact" a citizen and resident.

Hit-Run Identification Laws Upheld 5 To 4

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court approved by one vote Monday hit-and-run laws of all the states requiring drivers to stop and give their names and addresses after an accident.

The 5-4 decision rejected the view that such traffic laws are unconstitutional because they compel drivers involved in accidents to assist in their own prosecution.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, delivering the judgment in a California case said "the mere possibility of incrimination is outweighed by 'valid state needs' such as studying the causes of auto accidents."

He said that to have a driver give his name and address is no more self-incriminating than to require a suspect to stand or walk in a police lineup or to provide police with fingerprints.

Justices Hugo L. Black and William J. Brennan attacked Justice Burger's opinion in dissenting opinions. Black said the driver hands the state an admission when he must identify himself after an accident.

Brennan said it would be hard to imagine "a more substantial hazard of self-incrimination."

The ruling topped a busy day in which the court also: --Rejected, 5 to 1, an appeal by James R. Hoffa, the imprisoned president of the Teamsters Union. Hoffa sought a new hearing on his 1964 jury-tampering conviction because agents eavesdropped on a codefendant.

--Decided, 8 to 1, that a Chicago real estate operator cannot prevent an integrationist group from passing out leaflets near his home and church accusing him of panicking white families into selling their homes

Ray said the bill "fills the void that has existed in Iowa law." In effect, he said, "it gives peace officers authority to deal with those who would unduly interfere with the lawful use of the property of others."

The bill specifically denies trespassing for both private and public property and provides penalties for both persons who trespass without injury and those who cause damage or injury.

A person convicted of simple trespassing on private or public property would be subject to maximum fine of $100 or a 30-day county jail term. A person who caused damages or injuries to any person while illegally trespassing could be fined up to $300 or sentenced to six months in jail.

Opponents of the bill contended it would interfere with the right of labor organizations to picket.

However, Ray said, "Research has satisfied me that his bill will not interfere with lawful picketing in labor disputes or other forms of legitimate protest."

"These are matters that are firmly established by our constitution and supreme court decisions and are not adversely affected by this bill," the governor said.

The measure is considered a legislative response to the controversial Briney trapgun case in Mahaska County. The Edward Brineys were sued for $30,000 after a confessed intruder, Marvin Katko, was injured by a trapgun rigged by the Brineys in a vacant house.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield refuses to yield in his attempt to legislate a 50% cut of U.S. troop levels in Europe. The Senate votes Wednesday on his legislation.

NATO Head Is Against Cut In U.S. Troop Level

Key Biscayne, Fla. (UPI) — NATO's secretary general warned Monday that a proposed halving of U.S. forces in Europe would drain the alliance of all alternatives to nuclear war in case of attack.

Secretary General Manlio Brosio, an Italian, wrote the letter to President Nixon who released it at the Florida White House. Nixon also strongly opposes the unilateral U.S. troop cut, which was proposed by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield. It is scheduled for a Senate vote Wednesday.

"The assumption that unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would not undermine the Atlantic Alliance and NATO's solidarity is deeply and dangerously mistaken," Brosio said. "Such a step would withdraw all credibility from NATO's ability to keep its commitments and to maintain a solid deterrent in the face of Warsaw Pact strength."

He said it would compromise efforts to reach an agreement with the Communist bloc and "deprive the alliance of any serious basis for east-west negotiations on political problems and armaments control."

Governor Ray Signs First Trespass Bill

Des Moines (UPI) — Gov. Robert D. Ray Monday signed into law a bill to establish — for the first time — a criminal trespass law spelling out strict penalties for illegal trespassing in Iowa.

Ray said the bill "fills the void that has existed in Iowa law." In effect, he said, "it gives peace officers authority to deal with those who would unduly interfere with the lawful use of the property of others."

Lively days in Shady Acres. Captain Bligh, the Manx cat, has a swarm of suitors. A black-and-white tom with chewed ears; a tiger-striped orange cat who looks like a gangster, a gray cat comes by occasionally.

We can't figure it out; the Manx was put in neutral a year ago.

She had two splendid sets of kittens I said: "That's enough, Captain. Finished with engines."

I took her to the local vet. He closed down the production line.

I said: "That gets rid of the tomcats."

But no. The Captain is twice as attractive to them now. I've got to hand it to the old doll. She runs a taut ship. She claws the toms around. They keep coming back for more.

What is wrong with the blooming world, mates? Some people say it is toy guns. Take away the toy guns, the moppets will not grow up wanting a real one.

Some say it is TV. Too much violence.

Some others say it is permissive parents. (When we say this we don't mean ourselves. We mean the people up the block.)

Sometimes I hear it is the school system. We had a school recall election around here the other day. Heated stuff—nothing like a local election to turn up the fire.

People called me and said: "We've got to get rid of the guy for the sake of our children."

Others came around and said: "We've got to keep this man for the sake of our children."

Everybody went out and voted. The recall went through. Nothing much changed.

I got up and got the moppets their breakfast.

I said: "Don't pour those cornflakes with such a clatter. Pour them gently, your father was out late last night."

I said: "How's school these days? Better?"

They looked at me like I was crazy. (And I'm not so sure, Doctor.)

It's a troubled world. "What in the world are we coming to?" said grandma. She looked at the fashion page and said women were running around naked as jay birds.

Those were racy days. The new bathing suits had just come out: Bloomers and a high neck top. Sleeves halfway down the arm. Stockings rolled just below the knee.

"It's a wonder the police don't do something about it," grandma said. (My grandfather winked at me behind the paper.)

The bathing suits shook the nation. Strong men clutched their throats and staggered off the beach or the nearest saloon for a glass of suds.

Grandfather said the trouble with the country was the pesky Democrats. He lived in a Republican world. When he disappeared under the hot towel in the barber shop, you could still hear muffled and steamy: "Hasn't been a good man in the White House since Teddy Roosevelt."

In all the other chairs, the customers nodded approval.

Instead of getting better, the world gets more difficult. (And look at all the work we put into it.)

I said: "Hitch up the wagon. We're moving West."

The children said: "The Cap'n's steering straight for the cooking sherry today."

Lively days in Shady Acres. Captain Bligh, the Marx cat, has a swarm of suitors. A black-and-white tom with chewed ears; a tiger-striped orange cat who looks like a gangster; a gray cat comes by occasionally. We can't figure it out: the Marx was put in neutral a year ago.

She had two splendid sets of kittens. I said: "That's enough, Captain. Finished with engines." I took her to the local vet. He closed down the production line.

I said: "That gets rid of the toms." But no. The Captain is twice as attractive to them now. I've got to hand it to the old doll. She runs a tight ship. She claws the toms around. They keep coming back for more.

What is wrong with the blooming world, mates? Some people say it is too young. Take away the toy guns, the moppets will not grow up wanting a real one.

Some say it is TV. Too much violence. Some others say it is permissive parents. (When we say this we don't mean ourselves. We mean the people up the block.)

Sometimes I hear it is the school system. We had a school recall election around here the other day. Heated stuff—nothing like a local election to turn up the fire.

People called me and said: "We've got to get rid of the guy for the sake of our children." Others came around and said: "We've got to keep this man. For the sake of our children."

Everybody went out and voted. The recall went through. Nothing much changed. I got up and got the moppets their breakfast.

I said: "Don't pour those cornflakes with such a clatter. Pour them gently, your father was out late last night."

I said: "How's school these days? Better?" They looked at me like I was crazy. (And I'm not so sure, Doctor.)

It's a troubled world. "What in the world are we coming to?" said grandma. She looked at the fashion page and said women were running around naked as jay birds.

Those were racy days. The new bathing suits had just come out: Bloomers and a high neck top. Sleeves halfway down the arm. Stockings rolled just below the knee.

"It's a wonder the police don't do something about it," grandma said. (My grandfather winked at me behind the paper.)

The bathing suits shook the nation. Strong men clutched their throats and staggered off the beach or the nearest saloon for a glass of suds.

Grandfather said the trouble with the country was the pesky Democrats. He lived in a Republican world. When he disappeared under the hot towel in the barber shop, you could still hear, muffled and steamy: "Hasn't been a good man in the White House since Teddy Roosevelt."

In all the other chairs, the customers nodded approval.

Instead of getting better, the world gets more difficult. (And look at all the work we put into it.)

I said: "Hitch up the wagon. We're moving West." The children said: "The Cap'n's steering straight for the cooking sherry today."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

★ By SIDNEY OMAR ★

Forecast For Tuesday

Tommy Smothers, a typical Aquarian, is an astrologer. He, of the world's greatest astrologers, Evangelist Adams, was born with Aquarius. He is the sign of astrology itself. The planet associated with Aquarius is Uranus. The sign of the water bearer. The astrological sign and depicts friends, hopes and aspirations, but they seldom are boring. Conditions improve for many Aquarians, beginning next month. Among other famous Aquarians are Zsa Zsa Gabor and Norman Mailer.

★ ★ ★ ARIES (March 21-April 19): What occurs behind the scenes may now have special meaning for you. Family member appears. Involvement. Check financial reports. Reservations. One who means well may also be careless.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid self-deception. Get facts about rumors. Some of your desires cost more than now can be afforded. Make financial adjustments. Trim budget. Places individual is due to play key role.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Two individuals seem to feel they know what is best for you. In truth, you would be better advised to follow your own instincts. Accent is on achievement, special goals and career.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Study Aries message. Finish one task before beginning another. Strive for realistic approach. Refuse to hang on to past. Future can be bright if you make it so. Act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Fathom reasons why relief superficial answers. Stress on how money is expended. Get figures. Be analytical. New approach is a necessity. Strive for greater independence of thought, action.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Domestic affairs tend to dominate. Build on solid basis. Avoid one who advocates apparent easy methods. Concentration is necessary. Check details. Property values and future costs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Stress versatility. Display sense of humor. Some around you now need cheering. Do what you ultimately will receive. Work associated with key role.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Young person is willing to be generous — with your money. Pull in reins; oppose extravagance. If you act foolishly, you will be so treated. Express yourself in concise manner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Avoid excess. Have fun without going to extremes. See situation in relation to what is too strict, but don't become unduly indulgent. More you need cheering. Increasingly close.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Much that seems solid may require review. Not wise to take persons' situations for granted. You can make plans for future, but be cautious regarding immediate action.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Protect what is of value. Emphasis is on temptation to spend for purpose of impressing others. Try to exercise self-control in this area.

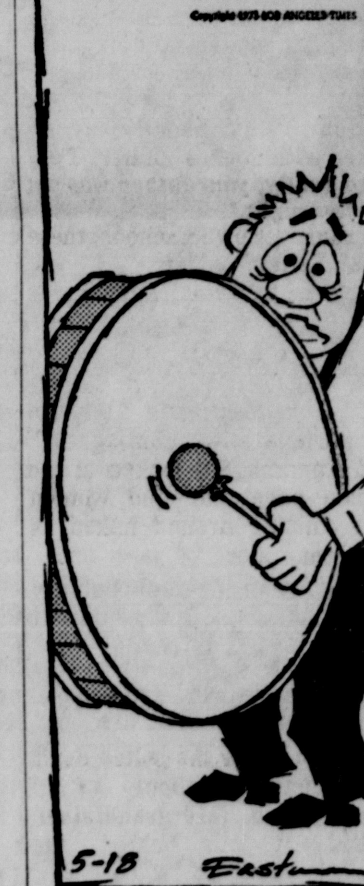

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You expect a power period. Many young things done. Know your own abilities. Push ahead. Strike while cycle is on upward. Sires personality. Don't be wallflower.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: You are capable of advising others in helpful, constructive manner. If single, marriage is on horizon. This is a year when you make changes based on relief of burden. You have natural appeal, an abundance of personal magnetism.

Dr. Ashton Honored

Nineteen years of friendships and memories will be those of Dr. Dudley Ashton when she retires this year as chairman of the University of Nebraska's Department of Physical Education for Women. In honor of Dr. Ashton, many of the alumnae of the department, the staff and the students held a tea on Sunday, May 16 at the Women's Physical Education Building.

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Donald Keys, who was assisted by Mrs. William G. Miller, Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr., and Mrs. Harry Levinson. Miss Donna Neal, Miss Ina Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Patrakia represented the staff. Miss Judy Lind, president of the Women's Physical Education Club, served as hostess from the student group.

Bethany Park Heights Happy Hollow Heights Lincoln Heights Eastborough

During the past weekend we had a glimpse of things to come in suburban weather — First, climbing temperatures which signaled a switch to air conditioned indoor weather and then — a prophecy that today could mean turning up the furnace. But warm or cool, suburbia never is at a loss for activity.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil White and their five children Susan, Patti, Phil, Cathleen, and Mary Jane of the Bethany Park Heights' suburb found themselves all caught up in the warm weather and two birthdays on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. White had all of the birthday dinner makings ready for the honorees, son Phil, who is a new ten-year-old, and guest Mrs. James McBride, when everyone decided that they were in the mood to eat out-into that is! So, the White family and guests—Mr. White's mother, Mrs. Avis J. White, Miss Wenona Miller, Mrs. L. S. Biddlecom, and of course honoree Mrs. James McBride — toted their dinner and ice cream and cake outside for a truly old-fashioned backyard party.

Lincoln Heights residents really have been on the go lately — and there are more plans for coming and going in that suburban area.

Mrs. Pauline Sheldon recently returned from a month's vacation to California where she visited the Oakland home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheldon, and their children, Lynette and Christopher.

While on the West Coast, Mrs. Sheldon accompanied her relatives to Disneyland and a few other attractions near Oakland — but her favorite spots of all were the flower gardens where she was taken by the pansies and other beautiful flowers.

While riding the train home, she decided to stop in Denver, Colo., where she visited with her sisters, Miss Susie Proebstle and Mrs. Willard Jones — and Mr. Jones.

in the suburban areas

Picnics were the order of the day in Lincoln Heights on Sunday and one of them involved a birthday that was celebrated out in the warm sunshine.

The honoree was "almost two-years-old" Shelly Gaston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gaston of the Lincoln Heights' area.

To tell the truth, Shelly will not be officially two years of age until Thursday, May 20. But as oftentimes happens, the birthday girl — or boy for that matter — gets a case of the eager-beavers and decides that it is never too early to begin celebrating. The more celebrations, the merrier everyone feels, and of course there always is ice cream and cake to be taken care of in the course of matters!

Anyway, when the family decided on a big family picnic to Pioneer Park, that certainly seemed like the ideal time to celebrate an almost two years.

Among the many relatives attending the family picnic, were Shelly's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Gaston and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Meyer of Ohio, Nebr.

What could be more exciting than a summer abroad? That, precisely, is the plan for

Miss Shelley Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton of Country Club Plaza. Shelley is presently a junior at the University of Nebraska in the School of Fine Arts. On June 1, she and another junior at the University, Miss Nancy Donovan, will depart for their three-month tour of Europe.

Shelley's primary interest is art, and she hopes to visit the many famous European museums during her stay. The agenda for the girls' trip includes Amsterdam, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Florence, Hamburg, and Scandinavia. They will return to Lincoln in the early part of September.

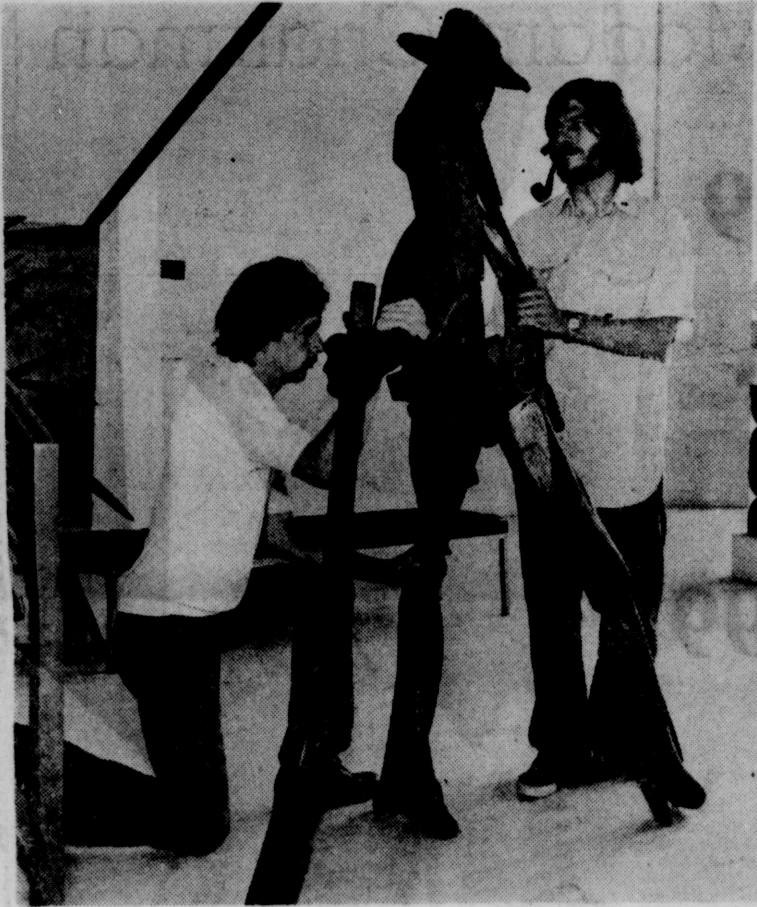

This time of year brings not only warmer weather, but graduations as well. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bardsley of Maple Village helped their niece, Miss Carol Stewart, celebrate this important event in her life when she graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University on Sunday, Miss Stewart, who majored in education, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stewart of Ceresco. Following the graduation ceremony, the Bardsleys and their two children, Tonya, who is 3—and Kurk who is six months, drove to Ceresco, where Carol was the guest of honor at a buffet dinner for 50 guests.

Unique Sculpture In Students' Show

An atmosphere of jazz and java will permeate the opening of the Annual Student Exhibit, tonight, Tuesday, May 18 at the Sheldon Art Gallery. Over 200 pieces, most of which are on sale, offer a unique array of media. Ranging from ceramics, abstract design and sculpture, to photography and interior design; the exhibit presents an exceptional range of talent.

Legg, standing beside Gene Pearson's sculpture. Priced at $150, Pearson's "William Bonnie" uses a variety of wood.

The exhibit will open at 7 o'clock tonight and the works will be on display till June 22.

SUMMER OPENING . . .

Bethany Park Heights Happy Hollow Heights Lincoln Heights Eastborough

During the past weekend we had a glimpse of things to come in suburban weather — First, climbing temperatures which signaled a switch to air conditioned indoor weather and then — a prophecy that today could mean turning up the furnace. But warm or cool, suburbia never is at a loss for activity.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil White and their five children Susan, Patti, Phil, Cathleen, and Mary Jane of the Bethany Park Heights' suburb found themselves all caught up in the warm weather and two birthdays on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. White had all of the birthday dinner makings ready for the honorees, son Phil, who is a new ten-year-old, and guest Mrs. James McBride, when everyone decided that they were in the mood to eat out-outdoors that is! So, the White family and guests—Mr. White's mother, Mrs. Avis J. White, Miss Wenona Miller, Mrs. L. S. Biddiecom, and of course honoree Mrs. James McBride —toted their dinner and ice cream and cake outside for a truly old-fashioned backyard party.

Lincoln Heights residents really have been on the go lately — and there are more plans for coming and going in that suburban area.

Mrs. Pauline Sheldon recently returned from a month's vacation to California where she visited the Oakland home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheldon, and their children, Lynette and Christopher.

While on the West Coast, Mrs. Sheldon accompanied her relatives to Disneyland and a few other attractions near Oakland — but her favorite spots of all were the flower gardens where she was taken by the pansies and other beautiful flowers.

While riding the train home, she decided to stop in Denver, Colo., where she visited with her sisters, Miss Susie Proebstle and Mrs. Willard Jones — and Mr. Jones.

in the suburban areas

Picnics were the order of the day in Lincoln Heights on Sunday and one of them involved a birthday that was celebrated out in the warm sunshine.

The honoree was "almost two-years-old" Shelly Gaston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gaston of the Lincoln Heights' area.

To tell the truth, Shelly will not be officially two years of age until Thursday, May 20. But as oftentimes happens, the birthday girl — or boy for that matter — gets a case of the eager-beavers and decides that it is never too early to begin celebrating. The more celebrations, the merrier everyone feels, and of course there always is ice cream and cake to be taken care of in the course of matters!

Anyway, when the family decided on a big family picnic to Pioneer Park, that certainly seemed like the ideal time to celebrate an almost two years.

Among the many relatives attending the family picnic, were Shelly's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Gaston and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Meyer of Ohio, Nebr.

What could be more exciting than a summer abroad? That, precisely, is the plan for

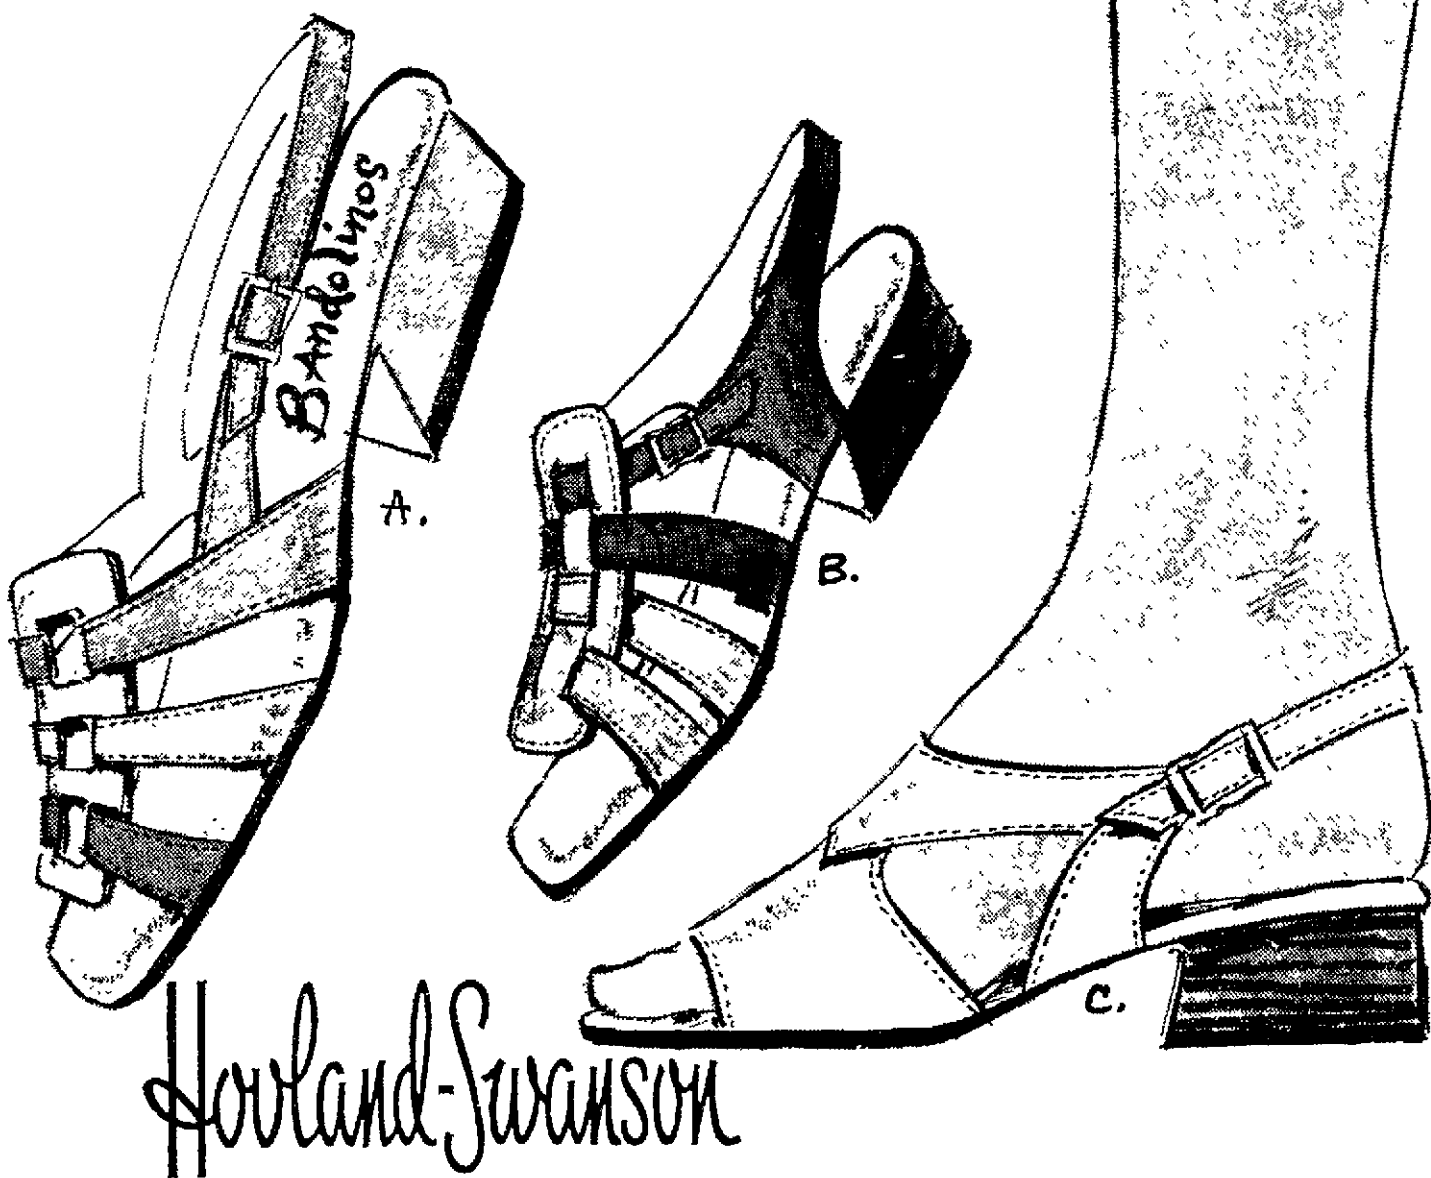

Miss Shelley Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton of Country Club Plaza. Shelley is presently a junior at the University of Nebraska in the School of Fine Arts. On June 1, she and another junior at the University, Miss Nancy Donovan, will depart for their three-month tour of Europe.

Shelley's primary interest is art, and she hopes to visit the many famous European museums during her stay. The agenda for the girls' trip includes Amsterdam, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Florence, Hamburg, and Scandinavia. They will return to Lincoln in the early part of September.

This time of year brings not only warmer weather, but graduations as well. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bardsley of Maple Village helped their niece, Miss Carol Stewart, celebrate this important event in her life when she graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University on Sunday. Miss Stewart, who majored in education, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stewart of Ceresco. Following the graduation ceremony, the Bardsleys and their two children, Tonya, who is 3—and Kurk who is six months, drove to Ceresco, where Carol was the guest of honor at a buffet dinner for 50 guests.

Unique Sculpture In Students' Show

An atmosphere of jazz and java will permeate the opening of the Annual Student Exhibit, tonight, Tuesday, May 18 at the Sheldon Art Gallery. Over 200 pieces, most of which are on sale, offer a unique array of media. Ranging from ceramics, abstract design and sculpture, to photography and interior design; the exhibit presents an exceptional range of talent.

Legg, standing beside Gene Pearson's sculpture. Priced at $150, Pearson's "William Bonnie" uses a variety of wood.

The exhibit will open at 7 o'clock tonight and the works will be on display till June 22.

"Sweet Adelines" Are Back In Town

One, two, three, four — strike up the chorus and rather than "sing a song of six pence", how about "April Showers" and "Over the Rainbow"?

The Lincoln Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. just completed competition after singing those two songs Saturday in regional competition in Kansas City, Mo., with 26 competing choruses hailing from five states.

The Lincolnares, formerly known as the Mellowarks, were organized in 1965 with six members and along with their growth came the recent charter with the international organization.

Officers Named, Meetings Planned

Richard L. White has been re-elected as president of the Community Arts Council at the organization's annual meeting on Monday. Other incumbent officers re-elected to serve for the 1971-72 year are: Mrs. Joe R. Seacrest, vice-president; Miss Norma Carpenter, secretary; and Eames Irvin as treasurer.

Larry Lusk was elected to the office of second vice-president, following the resignation of Clifton K. Hillegass in that office.

Directors-at-large for the Community Arts Council are incumbent members: Mrs. Willard Cook, L. A. Enersen, Larry Lusk, Robert Narveson and Fred N. Wells. Thomas Carroll will also serve as a director at large, replacing that position formerly held by Larry Lusk.

The program for the annual Community Arts Council meeting, which precedes the three-month summer recess, included a presentation by Larry Enerson on the beautification of the City.

Pershing Auditorium will be the site of a state-wide Senior Citizens' Festival which will be held on Tuesday, May 18. The event is sponsored by the Lincoln Parks and Recreation Department.

Among the featured events during the nine o'clock to "after seven o'clock" affair will be demonstrations and she is right—and she means well

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and have been married for three months. My problem is that both my husband and I overslept one morning and we were late to work, so now my mother-in-law calls us every morning to be sure we are up. I have asked her not to, but she calls anyway. She blames me because my husband overslept. Abby, it happened only once, and that was because we forgot to set the alarm. She says it's a wife's duty to get her husband up in the morning.

How can I get her to quit calling us? I am pregnant and don't feel so hot anyway. And my husband is about to tear his hair out.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your mother in law is correct. It is a wife's duty to get her husband up — not his mother's. She may mean well, but she should respect your wishes when you ask her not to call. If you want to put an end to it, when the phone rings — don't answer it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 15-year-old son who is in the 10th grade. A few years ago when he made his confirmation he received a birthstone ring with five diamond chips in it. It's worth about $100.

Well, my son gave that ring to a girl he went with for only two weeks. I told him that ring was a gift and he had no right to give it away. He got very angry at me and said he would get it back but he would never wear it again. He says the ring belongs to him and he should be able to do anything he wants with it. Who is right?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: He is.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Here is an unusual hand that shows how a resourceful declarer overcame unfavorable distribution by what might well be called a sleight-of-hand trick.

West led a diamond, South winning with the ace and continuing with the queen. Had he found the diamonds divided 3-2, declarer would have made the slam easily, but when East showed out on the second diamond South had to plan his play carefully to score twelve tricks.

Thus, if he had now led a club to the queen, relying on the finesse alone to bring him three club tricks, he would have finished down one.

Instead, he made the ingenious play of a low club to the ace, followed by a low club back. This somewhat odd-looking maneuver guaranteed the contract 100%. For example, had West held four or five clubs to the K-10, he could not have stopped South from eventually making three club tricks and the contract.

And on the actual lie of the clubs, South was equally secure. East could not afford to go up with the king, which would automatically have given declarer three club tricks, so he put in the eight.

South won with the jack and now reverted to his first suit by playing a diamond to the king and another diamond back. West won, but even though his partner had the setting trick in the form of the king of clubs, he could not prevent declarer from taking twelve tricks consisting of three spades, three hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

The way South played the hand, it was simply impossible for the defense to overcome his seesaw tactics.

Campaign Signs Decision Put Off

... BY CITY COUNCIL

A proposed city ordinance which would have prohibited political campaign signs in the front yards of residential areas was indefinitely postponed by the City Council Monday.

The council, in response to a letter from the Mayor's Urban Design and Beautification Committee, decided instead to refer the political sign matter to the committee for its consideration.

The urban design group is presently reviewing a revision of the city's sign ordinances.

Clutter Yards Councilman Bill Davidson had introduced the ordinance to eliminate the signs, feeling the signs clutter up the yards and do no good in convincing the public for whom they should vote.

Representatives of the sign industry opposed the ordinance at a public hearing last week.

The old council also approved rules and regulations governing fishing at city parks and other bodies of water controlled by the city which would conform to state laws.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Smith said city laws are different from state laws regarding the allowable bag limits and number of lines permitted.

Still Prohibited

He said afterward that archery fishing and ice fishing still would be prohibited on city lakes.

After hearing opposition by residents to creating a water district in Franklin from 42nd to 43rd, the council decided to indefinitely postpone the ordinance creating the district, intended to primarily benefit one particular property owner with a water problem.

Except for two ordinances to annex land in the vicinity of 70th and Pioneers and to create a sewer district in that area, all ordinances on pending were indefinitely postponed. The two ordinances were put on first reading by the new council, which took over after the old council adjourned.

Michael Lawlor, representing the Downtown Promotion Council, presented the city with some seedlings for planting in some city park, expressing the council's thanks for the development of a master tree plan and help in getting trees planted in the downtown area.

Other actions:

Three Newcomers Take Places On City Council

... BAKER, COOK, SIKYTA EXPECTED TO SHIFT EMPHASIS

By TOM EKVALL

Star Staff Writer

Three new faces appeared on the City Council Monday fresh with ideas they would like to see implemented during their four-year terms.

Taking office were Steve Cook, Bob Sikyta and Richard Baker — all three not exactly newcomers to the political scene, since they presently serve on various city boards.

Also sworn in for a new term was Mrs. Helen Boosalis.

The presence of the three men is expected to swing the pendulum toward a greater concern for long-range planning and a more restrictive policy on zoning changes if campaign promises hold true.

Zoning Experience

Both Cook and Sikyta have some background in the area of zoning: Cook is on the Planning Commission and Sikyta is chairman of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The two new council members during their campaigns stressed a need for revision and simplification of the city zoning ordinances; Sikyta also favoring an incentive zoning plan.

Cook, an architect, said many told him after the election they voted for him because of his being on the Planning Commission.

"Attitude Changed" "The attitude of the people has changed towards the development of the city," he said, adding that people he has come in contact with are really interested in how the city is going to develop.

"I think the people have seen what has happened (regarding zoning changes granted and subsequent development) and are not impressed," Cook observed.

The Treasure City department store on So. 27th near Nebraska Hwy, has become an area of concern similar to the proposal to rezone land at 70th and A as an office park, he said.

"Residents are concerned more now than ever before with the complexities of planning," Cook said.

He said he anticipates that the new council will be working with the Planning Commission more closely than had previous councils.

Informal Meetings

Cook said he intends to work for having the Planning Commission meet with neighborhood residents in the different areas of the city on an informal, impromptu basis to discuss planning and zoning and "find out what things the people want."

The head of his own architectural firm, he said he also hopes to foster an interest in aesthetic improvements.

Baker said the results of the election appear a mandate by the voters for a more restrictive approach on zoning.

Close Attention

He said he plans to give close attention to the recommendations of the planning director and Planning Commission.

"I intend to look at the intent (of the zoning change) and the over-all effect on the area, especially the surrounding residential properties."

Baker said he has a number of ideas about what he would like to see done but wants to wait until he gets his feet wet in the council before elaborating on them.

He said one idea he supports is the consolidation and coordination of present city officials involved in housing under one department.

"Planned Approach"

Sikyta, who campaigned the hardest for a seat on the council, said he favors a long-range "planned approach" on land development which does not stop growth but prevents problems from happening in the future.

He said he feels the public does not want an open door policy towards zoning changes — or one that is completely shut to reasonable requests.

The city, Sikyta said, should begin a plan that will build a better city, not only for today but tomorrow — "so that all new areas are planned correctly today for the future."

He also favors having City Hall offices open for business one night a week and a night council meeting at least once a month.

'Thank You' Turns Out To Be A Bill

Newark (AP) — A week ago, Dwight Johnson of the Newark Star-Ledger was one of five photographers who rode on President Nixon's helicopter during the president's tour of the proposed Gateway National Recreation area.

On Monday, Johnson received a letter from the White House.

"Go out and get a frame," he told his wife before leaving to pick up the letter. "I just got a thank you from the White House."

Johnson arrived at the Star-Ledger's city desk and a crowd of expectant newsmen gathered to watch him open it.

"Dear Mr. Johnson ..." it read. "The amount of your pro rata share of the recent helicopter flight is $30."

The letter was signed by Edwin M. Fauver, the White House charter agent.

Johnson called his wife and told her, "Don't buy the frame."

Moscow — Ambassador Jacob D. Beam Monday told Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko that the United States believes it shares the same views as the Soviet Union on the desirability of starting talks on the reduction of forces and armaments in Central Europe.

Informed sources said Beam, acting on instructions from Washington, asked for an immediate meeting with Gromyko to indicate President Nixon's receptivity to the proposal made by Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Communist Party leader, that talks be begun to explore the possibilities of reductions in Central Europe.

As a result of the more than 30-minute session, U.S. officials said they gained the impression that the Soviet Union is flexible on the reduction issue and has no hard and firm demands on the "modalities" — or framework for the talks.

It is assumed now that both the United States and the Soviet Union will consult with their allies and then make proposals on how to get the talks started.

U.S. officials did not deny that the promptness with which Beam was instructed to see Gromyko was due in large measure to Nixon's desire to begin a "dialogue" with Moscow on mutual reduction and thus undercut the stand of Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield who is seeking a unilateral 50% cut in American forces in Europe.

The Soviet position on force reductions is expected to be expounded in coming days by Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin.

Lincoln School Board Tabs Magee President

Veteran board member Robert Magee was elected Monday president of the Lincoln Board of Education for 1971-72 as the board met to reorganize following city elections.

Magee, a board member since 1963, succeeds Robert Wekesser as president. Magee and Wekesser were the only two members who did not face re-election this spring.

The other four incumbents were all returned to their posts on the board.

One of those, Ed Copple, was named the new vice president of the board. Copple was re-elected to a two-year term in balloting earlier this month.

The other three members of the board are Catherine Angle, Marvin Stewart and John Lux.

In a brief meeting, the board also decided to rearrange the regular agenda format for board meetings, moving the "communications" section up from last to first among items to be considered.

Since citizens who want to address the board are usually scheduled in that time period, the board decided to consider those items first so citizens would not have to wait through the whole meeting.

The agendas will also, from now on, carry a regular spot for presentations from the associate superintendent for instruction.

Campaign Signs Decision Put Off

... BY CITY COUNCIL

A proposed city ordinance which would have prohibited political campaign signs in the front yards of residential areas was indefinitely postponed by the City Council Monday.

The council, in response to a letter from the Mayor's Urban Design and Beautification Committee, decided instead to refer the political sign matter to the committee for its consideration.

The urban design group is presently reviewing a revision of the city's sign ordinances.

Clutter Yards
Councilman Bill Davidson had introduced the ordinance to eliminate the signs, feeling the signs clutter up the yards and do no good in convincing the public for whom they should vote.

Representatives of the sign industry opposed the ordinance at a public hearing last week.

The old council also approved rules and regulations governing fishing at city parks and other bodies of water controlled by the city which would conform to state laws.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Smith said city laws are different from state laws regarding the allowable bag limits and number of lines permitted.

Still Prohibited

He said afterward that archery fishing and ice fishing still would be prohibited on city lakes.

After hearing opposition by residents to creating a water district in Franklin from 42nd to 43rd, the council decided to indefinitely postpone the ordinance creating the district, intended to primarily benefit one particular property owner with a water problem.

Except for two ordinances to annex land in the vicinity of 70th and Pioneer and to create a sewer district in that area, all ordinances on pending were indefinitely postponed. The two ordinances were put on first reading by the new council, which took over after the old council adjourned.

Michael Lawlor, representing the Downtown Promotion Council, presented the city with some seedlings for planting in some city park, expressing the council's thanks for the development of a master tree plan and help in getting trees planted in the downtown area.

Other actions:

Ordinances, Third Reading
—Approved creation of a water district in 4th from Prospect to Summit.
—Approved amendment to change of zone earlier approved to substantially increase University Place area so that it conforms with the adopted zoning map.

—Approved flood plain regulations under the land subdivision ordinances.

Resolutions
—Approved Municipal Court's application to Region II Crime Commission to request federal funds for the volunteer counseling program for probationers, already in operation.

—Approved ratifying agreement with union representing the Lincoln city employees required for federal grant.

—Approved application of Rudolph Conrad Lehr for a Class C Liquor license at 324 So. 13th.

—Approved changing name of permittee in special permit for a mobile home court from John Moritz to Commodore Properties Inc.

New Council
Ordinances, First Reading
—Introduced lease of Lincoln Electric System for use of property at 512 So. 7th.

—Introduced lease of Lincoln Electric System for use of property on northeast corner of 9th and K.

—Introduced change of zone requested by planning department to establish zoning classifications within the unincorporated village of Emerald, necessitated when the city's three-mile jurisdiction limit was expanded by annexation of the Arnold Heights housing area.

—Introduced change of zone from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple on three lots located on west side of No. 68th near Francis St.

—Introduced change of zone from D Multiple to G Local Business on southwest corner of 26th and P, requested by Prairie Heirlooms.

—Introduced change of zone from A-1 Single Family to A-2 Single Family on property on east side of Lyncroft Dr. between O St. and Eastridge Dr., requested by Fabric Supermarket Inc.

—Introduced change of zone from AA Rural and Public Use to H-2 Highway Commercial on south side of West O west of Cushman Rd., requested by Gerald Lewis.

Three Newcomers Take Places On City Council

... BAKER, COOK, SIKYTA EXPECTED TO SHIFT EMPHASIS

Star Staff Writer

Three new faces appeared on the City Council Monday fresh with ideas they would like to see implemented during their four-year terms.

Taking office were Steve Cook, Bob Sikyta and Richard Baker — all three not exactly newcomers to the political scene, since they presently serve on various city boards.

Also sworn in for a new term was Mrs. Helen Boosalis.

The presence of the three men is expected to swing the pendulum toward a greater concern for long-range planning and a more restrictive policy on zoning changes if campaign promises hold true.

Zoning Experience

Both Cook and Sikyta have some background in the area of zoning: Cook is on the Planning Commission and Sikyta is chairman of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The two new council members during their campaigns stressed a need for revision and simplification of the city zoning ordinances; Sikyta also favoring an incentive zoning plan.

Cook, an architect, said many told him after the election they voted for him because of his being on the Planning Commission.

'Attitude Changed'

"The attitude of the people has changed towards the development of the city," he said, adding that people he has come in contact with are really interested in how the city is going to develop.

"I think the people have seen what has happened (regarding zoning changes granted and subsequent development) and are not impressed," Cook observed.

The Treasure City department store on So. 27th near Nebraska Hwy, has become an area of concern similar to the proposal to rezone land at 70th and A as an office park, he said.

"Residents are concerned more now than ever before with the complexities of planning," Cook said.

He said he anticipates that the new council will be working with the Planning Commission more closely than had previous councils.

Informal Meetings

Cook said he intends to work for having the Planning Commission meet with neighborhood residents in the different areas of the city on an informal, impromptu basis to discuss planning and zoning and "find out what things the people want."

The head of his own architectural firm, he said he also hopes to foster an interest in aesthetic improvements.

Baker said the results of the election appear a mandate by the voters for a more restrictive approach on zoning.

Close Attention

He said he plans to give close attention to the recommendations of the planning director and Planning Commission.

"I intend to look at the intent (of the zoning change) and the over-all effect on the area, especially the surrounding residential properties."

Baker said he has a number of ideas about what he would like to see done but wants to wait until he gets his feet wet in the council before elaborating on them.

He said one idea he supports is the consolidation and coordination of present city officials involved in housing under one department.

'Planned Approach'

Sikyta, who campaigned the hardest for a seat on the council, said he favors a long-range "planned approach" on land development which does not stop growth but prevents problems from happening in the future.

He said he feels the public does not want an open door policy towards zoning changes — or one that is completely shut to reasonable requests.

The city, Sikyta said, should begin a plan that will build a better city, not only for today but tomorrow — "so that all new areas are planned correctly today for the future."

He also favors having City Hall offices open for business one night a week and a night council meeting at least once a month.

Motorcycle Helmet Bill Resurrected

By The Associated Press
The Legislature Monday resurrected a motorcycle helmet bill slightly revised from the form in which it was vetoed last week by Gov. J. James Exon.

Advanced from general file on a 26-8 vote was a bill which duplicates the vetoed LB369 except that it eliminates the emergency clause.

Without the emergency clause, a bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session — in this case, late August. With the emergency clause, a bill takes effect immediately when signed by the governor.

Not Enough Time
The immediate effectiveness of LB369 had been one of the features to which Exon had objected. He said it failed to give motorcyclists time to conform.

Senators who have visited with Exon said he promised to consider, at least, the possibility of signing the amended measure.

An attorney general's opinion appeared to have removed any doubts about the bill's constitutionality.

The opinion, prepared at the request of Sen. Glenn A. Goodrich of Omaha, said most courts throughout the United States have held "that a statute which requires motorcyclists to wear helmets or protective headgear did not violate any of the guarantees of the United States Constitution."

'Within Reason'
The opinion added: "As long as the law is within reason and relates to the health, safety and welfare of the public, then it will withstand any attack on its constitutionality."

The action on a bill which now carries the designation LB1041 just beat a deadline.

Monday, the 85th day of a 90-day session, was the last day bills could be advanced from general file — the first stage of floor consideration — with assurance they can be made ready for final reading within the five legislative days remaining.

17 Bills Advanced
Altogether, 17 bills were managed Monday afternoon — confronted by the deadline — to advance 17 measures from general file, including the capital construction appropriations bill which largely reflects the recommendations of the governor.

Another of the bills advanced from general file Monday, LB722, sponsored by Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg, writes into law a Nebraska Insurance Guaranty Association Act.

In effect, the bill provides that if a Nebraska property or liability insurance company goes broke, other insurance companies will be assessed funds sufficient to meet the claims of policyholders insured. The federal government is pressing for such protection, lawmakers were told.

26 State Senators Sign Vietnam Peace Resolution

A petition bearing the names of 26 members of the Nebraska Legislature was placed on record, backing a Vietnam peace resolution introduced in Congress by an Iowa senator.

The petition said the signers were in an agreement with the Senate resolution offered by Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa on April 15.

The resolution calls for "just conclusion" of the war, and an accelerated withdrawal program for American troops stationed there.

Statehouse Newsstand Change Planned

Plans to lease the Statehouse newsstand concession to a visually-impaired person were disclosed Monday by the Department of Administrative Services.

Del Maier, general services-director, said the selection of a qualified visually-impaired person to operate the concession will be made through the Division of Rehabilitation for the Visually-Impaired.

The current concessionaire, Mrs. Colleen M. Griffin, has been notified that her lease, expiring June 30, will not be renewed.

The current lease called for a monthly rental of $29.60 and indicated a rate adjustment from the previous two-year lease.

Maier said the decision to make the Capitol's concession space available to a visually-impaired person is in line with federal government procedures which gives precedence to visually-impaired persons for concessions in government buildings.

He indicated the lease to a visually impaired person would probably be based on a nominal percentage of the concession's net return after taxes.

Escamilla Seeks Reduced Sentenced

The Nebraska Supreme Court was asked Monday to reduce a sentence, or grant a new trial, from a robbery conviction on the grounds the 50-year sentence is equal to life.

The request was made in a brief filed by attorneys for Alvaro Bravo Escamilla, who was sentenced for the robbery of the Wardman Hotel in Scottsbluff in 1967.

He was found guilty by the Scotts Bluff County District Court and given the 50-year state prison sentence. He was 25-years-old at the time.

The brief said according to the schedule of life expectancies, Escamilla would live to be 45.82 years of age.

"It is obvious the 50-year sentence is equal to life imprisonment," the brief said.

The brief further said the question that should be considered by the high court in reaching its decision is "what is to be gained by the imposition of a 50-year sentence upon a young man?"

Motorcycle Helmet Bill Resurrected

By The Associated Press
The Legislature Monday resurrected a motorcycle helmet bill slightly revised from the form in which it was vetoed last week by Gov. J. James Exon.

Advanced from general file on a 26-8 vote was a bill which duplicates the vetoed LB369 except that it eliminates the emergency clause.

Without the emergency clause, a bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session — in this case, late August. With the emergency clause, a bill takes effect immediately when signed by the governor.

Not Enough Time
The immediate effectiveness of LB369 had been one of the features to which Exon had objected. He said it failed to give motorcyclists time to conform.

Senators who have visited with Exon said he promised to consider, at least, the possibility of signing the amended measure.

An attorney general's opinion appeared to have removed any doubts about the bill's constitutionality.

The opinion, prepared at the request of Sen. Glenn A. Goodrich of Omaha, said most courts throughout the United States have held "that a statute which requires motorcyclists to wear helmets or protective headgear did not violate any of the guarantees of the United States Constitution."

'Within Reason'
The opinion added: "As long as the law is within reason and relates to the health, safety and welfare of the public, then it will withstand any attack on its constitutionality."

The action on a bill which now carries the designation LB1041 just beat a deadline.

Monday, the 85th day of a 90-day session, was the last day bills could be advanced from general file — the first stage of floor consideration — with assurance they can be made ready for final reading within the five legislative days remaining.

17 Bills Advanced
Altogether, lawmakers managed Monday afternoon — confronted by the deadline — to advance 17 measures from general file, including the capital construction appropriations bill which largely reflects the recommendations of the governor.

Another of the bills advanced from general file Monday, LB722, sponsored by Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg, writes into law a Nebraska Insurance Guaranty Association Act.

In effect, the bill provides that if a Nebraska property or liability insurance company goes broke, other insurance companies will be assessed funds sufficient to meet the claims of policyholders insured. The federal government is pressing for such protection, lawmakers were told.

26 State Senators Sign Vietnam Peace Resolution
A petition bearing the names of 26 members of the Nebraska Legislature was placed on record, backing a Vietnam peace resolution introduced in Congress by an Iowa senator.

The petition said the signers were in an agreement with the Senate resolution offered by Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa on April 15.

The resolution calls for "just conclusion" of the war, and an accelerated withdrawal program for American troops stationed there.

Statehouse Newsstand Change Planned

Plans to lease the Statehouse newsstand concession to a visually-impaired person were disclosed Monday by the Department of Administrative Services.

Del Maier, general services director, said the selection of a qualified visually-impaired person to operate the concession will be made through the Division of Rehabilitation for the Visually-Impaired.

The current concessionaire, Mrs. Colleen M. Griffin, has been notified that her lease, expiring June 30, will not be renewed.

The current lease called for a monthly rental of $29.60 and indicated a rate adjustment from the previous two-year lease.

Maier said the decision to make the Capitol's concession space available to a visually-impaired person is in line with federal government procedures which gives precedence to visually-impaired persons for concessions in government buildings.

He indicated the lease to a visually impaired person would probably be based on a nominal percentage of the concession's net return after taxes.

Escamilla Seeks Reduced Sentenced

The Nebraska Supreme Court was asked Monday to reduce a sentence, or grant a new trial, from a robbery conviction on the grounds the 50-year sentence is equal to life.

The request was made in a brief filed by attorneys for Alvaro Bravo Escamilla, who was sentenced for the robbery of the Wardman Hotel in Scottsbluff in 1967.

He was found guilty by the Scotts Bluff County District Court and given the 50-year state prison sentence. He was 25-years-old at the time.

The brief said according to the schedule of life expectancies, Escamilla would live to be 45.82 years of age.

"It is obvious the 50-year sentence is equal to life imprisonment," the brief said.

The brief further said the question that should be considered by the high court in reaching its decision is "what is to be gained by the imposition of a 50-year sentence upon a young man?"

Lot Of Palestinian Guerrilla Changes

By DREW MIDDLETON
Amman, Jordan — Only nine months ago, the Palestinian guerrillas, apparently secure in their Jordanian stronghold, were widely regarded as a powerful element in the affairs of the Middle East.

Now, however, they are defeated, divided and quarreling over their future role and strategy. They appear, for the moment at least, to be a spent force.

Under firm, constant pressure from the Jordanian army, 2,500 to 3,000 of them have moved into the Dibbin Woods on the Ajlun Heights 35 miles northeast of this now peaceful capital.

Under surveillance
Northwest of the heights, along the Syrian frontier, 1,000 or more other guerrillas live precariously under army surveillance.

Syrian government assistance has been cut. Money and supplies are running low.

According to a n o n y m o u s spokesman in Amman and the northern hill towns, the guerrilla leaders are considering a political instead of a military role for the movement, which numbered about 10,000 men last year.

No agreed political strategy has yet emerged. However, some spokesmen talk of going underground and waging a war of assassination, sabotage and terror against King Hussein's moderate government.

But on the basis of comments by others and assessments by the government, it seems likely that the guerrillas, or Fedayeen, may move toward forming a political opposition, while maintaining the semblance of belligerence toward Israel.

Want Free Hand
The Fedayeen's basic quarrel with the government has been over their insistence on a free hand in their military forays against the Israelis. The government, fearful of Israeli countermeasures in Jordan, has insisted on the right to control the guerrillas' activities.

It has also long been apprehensive about the presence of a strong military force within its borders that has no allegiance to the Jordanian monarchy.

A guerrilla spokesman, whispering in the dim back room of a coffeehouse, said the Fedayeen wanted "a Palestinian identity and a Palestinian state." Palestinians throughout Jordan would support this, he said.

King Hussein is already pledged to self-determination for Palestinians, but for "real Palestinians" not those who in his view hide behind foreign ideologies. Jordanian cabinet ministers do not regard Palestinian nationalism as a credible political platform in Jordan.

Palestine, which had been under British mandate since 1922, ceased to exist as a political entity upon the establishment of Israel in 1948. Most of the area that did not come under Israeli control was annexed by the Kingdom of Transjordan, which later became known as Jordan. In the 1967 war, that part of Jordan lying west of the Jordan River was occupied by Israel.

'Legitimate Demand'
"Certainly there is a legitimate demand in Jordan to recover our lands from the Israelis," a high official said. "But this is not the same as demanding a Palestinian state."

Until last September, an Arab world still smarting from defeat in the 1967 war with Israel, took pride in the military activities of the guerrilla movement. From Morocco to Saudi Arabia, market places were plastered with posters depicting the deeds of the irregulars in their attack on the Israelis.

The turning point in the guerrillas' fortunes, it appears, came when they scored what they regarded as their greatest success — the hijacking of four airliners last September, three of them to Jordan and one to Egypt.

The Jordanian government and army fumed while guerrilla leaders dealt almost as a sovereign power with airlines and the International Committee of the Red Cross, dictating terms for the release of the passengers.

"Their arrogance, their assumption of sovereignty forced the king to move," an American diplomat said.

Shortly after the hijackings, the army struck the guerrilla strongholds in the north. In the fighting there and elsewhere between 5,000 and 7,000 people were estimated to have been killed.

The guerrillas left. The troops entered, set up strongpoints in guerrilla-held sections and combed them for arms. Large caches are still being discovered.

JUDGE'S DECISION DISCUSSED

Special prosecutor Barnabas F. Sears, right, chats with attorney George Lynch, representing the Chicago Bar Association, outside the Criminal Courts Building in Chicago. Their meeting came after Circuit Court Judge Joseph A. Power ruled he would secretly investigate the minutes of a special grand jury to determine if that panel was biased in its inquiry into a police raid Dec. 4 in which two Black Panthers were shot to death.

Darryl F. Zanuck Won't Run For Top Spot At Film Studio

Wilmington, Del. (AP) — Darryl F. Zanuck, last of the studio chiefs of Hollywood's golden years, announced Monday he would not seek re-election as chairman of the board of embattled 20th Century-Fox. The Wahoo, Neb., native said he would continue to produce movies.

A company source said the board of directors, fighting a proxy war with insurgent stockholders, was taken completely by surprise. The announcement came on the eve of the company's annual meeting, at which a challenge to present management was expected.

The announcement was so late — "you might say it came at the 11th hour and 59th minute" — that it would not affect the outcome "because most of the proxies are in the mail already," the source said.

Directors, gathered here for the meeting, said they had no substitute candidate to take Zanuck's place because they had had no idea he intended resign. Leaders of the insurgents could not be reached for comment.

Zanuck's statement threw into doubt who would be voting for whom.

His estranged wife, Virginia, already has said she would vote her 100,000 shares for a slate of directors proposed by the insurgent stockholders. So has his son, Richard, who, with his wife, controls another 3,000.

The Max Factor Co., which owns 200,000 shares, also has said it would vote for the insurgent group, which is headed by New York broker Charles M. Lewis.

Besides these allies, the insurgents control directly 500,000 of the 8.6 million shares outstanding.

David Merrick, Broadway producer, is the largest single

NU Minorities Program 'Empty, Meaningless'

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer
Spokesmen for an organization of black students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln said Monday that NUS commitment to helping minority students has been "empty and meaningless."

At a news conference Monday morning, Jerome Drakeford of the Afro-American Collegiate Society said the organization "has worked patiently for the last three years," presenting what he termed "reasonable demands" to university administrators.

Drakeford said since 1969 the AACS has consistently requested expanded services for minority students and more black teachers and administrators.

"Totally Inadequate"
But he called the African-American studies program, which he said is funded by $16,000, "totally inadequate" and said only one black person holds a faculty position supported by state funds, a situation he termed "intolerable."

AACS members, he said have met with NU administrators many times since last summer, but he said the organization had been refused demands for a system-level director of minorities programs or a state-supported budget for the office of special programs, which counsels, tutors and recruits minority students.

"The system has lied and stalled in a manner similar to Southern racist politicians," he charged.

In a report on the status of special programs for minority students, program director Haze Pope said Monday that "minority students in the Nebraska education system have been callously neglected by both the university and the State Legislature."

In his report to top administrators in Lincoln and at NU at Omaha, and to the Board of Regents, Pope said 375 to 420 minority students should be enrolled at NU each fall.

Pope said studies have shown that the 60% of the 19,000 state high school graduates from upper and middle income homes who go on to college attend schools in Nebraska.

If an equal percentage of the 625 to 700 minority students did the same, he said, about 400 should attend the Lincoln or Omaha campuses of NU each year.

He also noted NU had requested state appropriations to hire the equivalent of 6.5 faculty members next fall to teach minority and ethnic studies.

But those positions "went down the drain" in the face of a continuation-only budget, he said.

But those positions "went down the drain" in the face of a continuation-only budget, he said.

But he said he told students and special programs officers who visited with him about the problems that the university "ought to do everything it can" to assure that opportunities are improved.

He said he has asked for a report on what comparable Big 8 institutions are doing in the area of minority programs and he said he believes NU must get a "better fix on how many we have out of what we should have" in terms of student numbers.

But he said severe budgetary constraints that NU faces this year mean any expansion of present efforts will probably have to come from federal dollars, and he noted that federal financial aid programs are "still tied up in Congress."

But he said only 130 minority students, excluding 26 athletes, are undergraduates at NU-Lincoln this year, while it is estimated that no more than 200 attend UNO.

Number 'Negligible'
"I feel that the number of minority students at other four-year colleges in the state is small enough to be negligible," Pope said.

"If the 60% of the minority high school graduates during the last three years had been able to enter college, then the two campuses (Lincoln and Omaha) would now have well over a thousand minority students enrolled."

He said financial commitments to help minority students attend college have been meager, saying only 61 of 1,200 low-income students aided last year were minority students.

Forty-nine others were turned away for lack of financial assistance, he said.

He recommended expanded financial aids, appointment of system-level staff for minority affairs, state support of the special programs office. And he suggested Varner meet with minority organizations throughout the state.

Food Stamp Sales Dip Markedly During April

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer
Lancaster County welfare officials feel that early receipt of (ADC) checks in time for Easter resulted in less money being spent on food during the month.

Two Major School Employee Groups Okay New Contracts

Salaries and fringe benefit increases almost identical to those negotiated for Lincoln teachers have been accepted by two other major classifications of Lincoln schools employees, school officials said Monday.

Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog said proposals have been accepted by both food service employees and operations and maintenance personnel.

Increased dollar costs to the Board of Education for next year were estimated at $135,320 for the operations and maintenance division, and a Director J. Earle Trabert told The Star that food stamp sales which in recent months have averaged about a 5% per month increase slumped markedly in April.

He said he felt that this decrease was indicative that money was spent on other things after early receipt of ADC

$34,534 for the food service division.

Those figures include both increases in salaries and fringe benefits. The latter will provide hikes in death benefit provisions and contribution toward health insurance premiums.

Den Hartog said service employees will get an average overall salary increase of 5.9%. The fringe benefits will raise that to 6.37%.

Food service workers will get an average salary increase of 6.09%, and fringe benefits will boost that to 6.32%.

Individual increases vary according to different job titles.

With teachers contracts decided, the only remaining major classification to be settled is office personnel, who have asked for a "fair cost-of-living increase in salary" plus increases due to experience "where applicable."

The office personnel have also requested additional paid holidays and a 4:30 p.m. closing hour, with a half-hour lunch break.

Assistant Supt. Carroll Sawin said he expected the office personnel package might be decided as early as next week.

RCA Announces TV Price Hike

New York (AP) — RCA has announced its 1972 line of color television sets will cost 5% more because of higher material and labor costs.

It said, for example, one of its 19-inch portable models would be raised from a retail price of $399.95 to $419.95.

checks two days before it was possible for the recipients to purchase food stamps.

Staged Protest

On April 9 — the Friday before ADC mothers were regularly scheduled to receive their checks on Monday, April 12 — some 100 of the mothers gathered outside Trabert's office to demand their ADC checks early in order that their children might have Easter treats and an Easter dinner.

Trabert did not distribute the checks at that time as requested but agreed to mail them on Friday so most recipients would have them on Saturday before Easter — two days before normal receipt.

However, in Trabert's reluctance to distribute the checks early he noted that the food stamps would not be available until Monday because the food stamp office is not open on Saturday and it would be impossible to obtain sufficient stamps from the banks until Monday.

'Good Of Recipients'

He also told the recipients and the news media at that time that he felt it was only for the good of the recipients that they not receive the checks early.

By issuing the checks early, he said, the next month will be 33 days long before the recipients may receive another check and "if they couldn't get along 28 days this month before running out of money and food, how are they going to get along 33 days next month?"

Trabert said that the food stamp office was busy on April 12 as it usually is after the recipients receive checks but that due to the two day lapse before they were able to purchase food stamps, much of the money had been spent on other things.

Some Came Early

He said that some had come in before they received their May checks to seek relief aid and some had to be turned down and told they would have to get along.

Shown below are comparative figures on food stamps sales to all participants for the first four months of 1971:

Month	Households Served	Dollar Value	Paid By Participants
Jan.	1,273	$100,832	$46,707
Feb.	1,306	103,053	59,493
March	1,364	109,072	52,583
April	1,258	103,495	51,699

NEIGHBORS GET TOGETHER

Fatalities Decline

Paris (UPI) — A speed limit of 68 miles an hour, imposed last May, has caused traffic fatalities to drop throughout France, government officials said.

Beatrice OKs Mobile Home Zoning

Southeast Nebraska Bureau Beatrice — A new type zoning which provides for mobile homes was approved by the city council Monday night for the Glenover area of northwest Beatrice.

Discussed intermittently for weeks, the matter came to a head when Robert Pangborn applied for a trailer permit for 1100 Ashland Ave. A proposal to include all Glenover, an area of several blocks, then went before the Planning and Zoning Commission and won approval.

Several councilmen had expressed the need of lots for mobile home use. There was no opposition and the new ordinance, which provides for "multiuse dwellings," was passed on three readings after a rules suspension.

On another zoning matter, the council reversed itself on final reading and rejected by 5-2 a request to rezone a residence at 224 So. Summer from R-2 single family to C-2 general commercial. Martin Nelson had requested the change so he could operate a small garage from a home he intended to purchase.

After neighboring property owners objected and the council made its decision, however, realtor Mrs. Laverna Dusenbery revealed that Nelson had recently bought a property in Wymore. "We have lost a business," she stated. "He had waited 2½ months for a decision."

The Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended the zoning change.

The application of Ronny W. Duitman, 27, for a retail on and off-sale beer license was denied on a 4-3 vote. He has a pending contract for purchase of the The Brass Rail at 212 East Court.

Police Chief Merl Hesser recommended the denial "on the basis of the applicant's record and the fact that a residence is adjacent to the tavern." He provided councilmen copies of a letter showing that 12 traffic and other misdemeanor charges had been filed against Duitman since 1962.

The applicant's attorney, Gary Thompson, said his client "has settled down," however, and should be granted the license. Despite the council's recommendation, the ultimate decision will be that of the State Liquor Control Commission.

The council also:

—appropriated $200 to employ girls for taking a census aimed at ward redistricting.

—Suspended rules and passed ordinance creating paving Dist. 249 (No. LaSalle between West Ella and West Elk and on West Ella between No. LaSalle and Sumner.)

—placed on first reading ordinance to create Paving Dist. 250 on No. 17th between Monroe and Irving.

—Suspended rules and passed ordinance providing for rock surfacing of alleys throughout town at cost to owners of 10 cents per front foot.

—voted to advertise for bids on Paving Dists. 247 and 251 at estimated cost of $66,600.

—accepted $2,984 bid from Crane-Weston Agency, only one received, for comprehensive general liability insurance.

—appointed Richard C. Lesenberg to fire department.

—appointed Lawrence E. Clay to city library board filling unexpired term of William Rist.

Food Stamp Sales Dip Markedly During April

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County welfare officials feel that early receipt of April Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) checks in time for Easter resulted in less money being spent on food during the month.

Director J. Earle Trabert told The Star that food stamp sales which in recent months have averaged about a 5% per month increase slumped markedly in April.

He said he felt that this decrease was indicative that money was spent on other things after early receipt of ADC checks two days before it was possible for the recipients to purchase food stamps.

Staged Protest

On April 9 — the Friday before ADC mothers were regularly scheduled to receive their checks on Monday, April 12 — some 100 of the mothers gathered outside Trabert's office to demand their ADC checks early in order that their children might have Easter treats and an Easter dinner.

Trabert did not distribute the checks at that time as requested but agreed to mail them on Friday so most recipients would have them on Saturday before Easter — two days before normal receipt.

However, in Trabert's reluctance to distribute the checks early he noted that the food stamps would not be available until Monday because the food stamp office is not open on Saturday and it would be impossible to obtain sufficient stamps from the banks until Monday.

'Good Of Recipients'

He also told the recipients and the news media at that time that he felt it was only for the good of the recipients that they not receive the checks early.

By issuing the checks early, he said, the next month will be 33 days long before the recipients may receive another check and "if they couldn't get along 28 days this month before running out of money and food, how are they going to get along 33 days next month?"

Trabert said that the food stamp office was busy on April 12 as it usually is after the recipients receive checks but that due to the two day lapse before they were able to purchase food stamps, much of the money had been spent on other things.

Some Came Early

He said that some had come in before they received their May checks to seek relief aid and some had to be turned down and told they would have to get along.

Shown below are comparative figures on food stamps sales to all participants for the first four months of 1971:

Month	Households Served	Dollar Value	Paid By Participants
Jan.	1,273	$100,832	$48,707
Feb.	1,306	103,053	50,673
March	1,364	109,072	52,383

Two Major School Employee Groups Okay New Contracts

Salaries and fringe benefit increases almost identical to those negotiated for Lincoln teachers have been accepted by two other major classifications of Lincoln schools employees, school officials said Monday.

Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog said proposals have been accepted by both food service employees and operations and maintenance personnel.

Increased dollar costs to the Board of Education for next year were estimated at $135,320 for the operations and maintenance division, and $34,534 for the food service division.

Those figures include both increases in salaries and fringe benefits. The latter will provide hikes in death benefit provisions and contribution toward health insurance premiums.

Den Hartog said service employees will get an average overall salary increase of 5.9%. The fringe benefits will raise that to 6.37%.

Food service workers will get an average salary increase of 6.09%, and fringe benefits will boost that to 6.32%.

Individual increases vary according to different job titles.

With teachers contracts decided, the only remaining major classification to be settled is office personnel, who have asked for a "fair cost-of-living increase in salary" plus increases due to experience "where applicable."

The office personnel have also requested additional paid holidays and a 4:30 p.m. closing hour, with a half-hour lunch break.

Assistant Supt. Carroll Sawin said he expected the office personnel package might be decided as early as next week.

RCA Announces TV Price Hike

New York (AP) — RCA has announced its 1972 line of color television sets will cost 5% more because of higher material and labor costs.

It said, for example, one of its 19-inch portable models would be raised from a retail price of $399.95 to $419.95.

Beatrice OKs Mobile Home Zoning

Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Beatrice — A new type zoning which provides for mobile homes was approved by the city council Monday night for the Glenover area of northwest Beatrice.

Discussed intermittently for weeks, the matter came to a head when Robert Pangborn applied for a trailer permit for 1100 Ashland Ave. A proposal to include all Glenover, an area of several blocks, then went before the Planning and Zoning Commission and won approval.

Several councilmen had expressed the need of lots for mobile home use. There was no opposition and the new ordinance, which provides for "multiuse dwellings," was passed on three readings after a rules suspension.

On another zoning matter, the council reversed itself on final reading and rejected by 5-2 a request to rezone a residence at 224 So. Summer from B-2 single family to C-2 general commercial. Martin Nelson had requested the change so he could operate a small garage from a home he intended to purchase.

After neighboring property owners objected and the council made its decision, however, realtor Mrs. Laverna Dusenbery revealed that Nelson had recently bought a property in Wymore. "We have lost a business," she stated. "He had waited 2½ months for a decision."

The Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended the zoning change.

The application of Ronny W. Dutsman, 27, for a retail on and off-sale beer license was denied on a 4-3 vote. He has a pending contract for purchase of the The Brass Rail at 212 East Court

Police Chief Merl Hesser recommended the denial "on the basis of the applicant's record and the fact that a residence is adjacent to the tavern." He provided councilmen copies of a letter showing that 12 traffic and other misdemeanor charges had been filed against Dutsman since 1962.

The applicant's attorney, Gary Thompson, said his client "has settled down," however, and should be granted the license. Despite the council's recommendation, the ultimate decision will be that of the State Liquor Control Commission.

The council also:

—appropriated $200 to employ girls for taking a census aimed at ward redistricting.

—Suspended rules and passed ordinance creating paving Dist. 249 (No. LaSalle between West Ella and West Elk and on West Ella between No. LaSalle and Summer.)

—placed on first reading ordinance to create Paving Dist. 250 on No. 17th between Monroe and Irving.

—Suspended rules and passed ordinance providing for rock surfacing of alleys throughout town at cost to owners of 10 cents per front foot.

—voted to advertise for bids on Paving Dist. 247 and 251 at estimated cost of $66,600.

—accepted $2,985 bid from Crown-Weston Agency, only one received, for comprehensive general liability insurance.

—appointed Richard C. Lesenberg to fire department.

—appointed Lawrence E. Clay to city library board filling unexpired term of William Rist.

Oil Slick Nears England's Coast

London (AP) — A new oil slick from the damaged 13,718-ton Norwegian tanker Heruly threatened England's Channel coast beaches Monday.

A British helicopter pilot spotted the slick and experts said they were running into difficulties in dispersing it with detergents.

The Heruly was in collision with a Paraguayan vessel off the South Goodwin lightship in the English Channel Saturday. The tanker has moved into a berth in the Thames estuary for examination by drivers for damage below the waterline.

Trails Only In Clippings

Reflecting on recent sport happenings:
Canonero II's victory in Saturday's Preakness, coming two weeks after his Kentucky Derby triumph, leaves the United States-bred, but foreign-raced colt trailing his U.S.-based counterparts in only one department.

Canonero II has now proven he can run 1 1/4 miles faster than any other 3-year-old in the U.S. He has proven he can do the same over 1 3/16 miles. His check book shows a bigger balance than any of the U.S.-based 3-year-olds.

The only thing he doesn't have to compare with his U.S. rivals is a bulging scrapbook. While Jim French has a scrapbook to show for his clipping efforts, Canonero II can carry his in a billfold.

If Canonero II had done all his racing on the Eastern coast of this continent instead of in Venezuela, you can bet he wouldn't have been a field horse in the Derby and he might have been an odds-on favorite in the Preakness.

But while Jim French's trainer, Johnny Campo, was convincing Eastern writers that his colt was the greatest thing since Hoist The Flag, Canonero II was learning to run a mile and a quarter in Venezuela.

How many times have you seen a football player with little more to show for his collegiate efforts than a scar across the bridge of his nose make it big with the pros while a Heisman Trophy winner or an All-American stumbles over his scrapbook?

More Seats Needed? Hardly!

Nebraska Sen. Terry Carpenter, who did such a great job in getting a bill passed to build a new Nebraska multipurpose building for the University of Nebraska and the State Fair, has now managed to get his efforts headed down a wrong track.

One of the things Terry might ask his constituents, who are hollering for additional seating in NU's Memorial Stadium is where were they on Saturday afternoons in the late 40s and through the 1950s when a 39,000 seat football stadium was drawing only 32,000 and 34,000 fans.

Most of the same people who are now yelling because they can't get tickets to NU football games, will be the same ones who will stay away like there was a plague going around the stadium if the Huskers ever have two or three losing seasons.

We hate to be a gloom spreader, but Nebraskans have been spoiled by success. You don't have to check very many records to find that even the greatest of football schools, the Notre Dames, Ohio States, Texas and Southern Cal, go through losing periods once in awhile.

It's nice to dream that it will never happen at Nebraska, but the Huskers aren't always going to be 11-0, 9-1 or even 6-4 and when they're not for a couple of years, scalpers will be giving tickets away at 11 a.m. on Saturdays to a 67,000-seat stadium.

As any successful businessman can tell you the key to success is keeping the demand ahead of the supply. Many a steak house owner, who was prompted to add seating for another 100 people because he often had 100 people standing in line to get into his place has found himself with no one standing in line and with 50 empty seats instead.

Golfers Among Most Cooperative

A mild fuss was raised on the pro golf tour the past week when writers were barred from the locker room at the Houston Champions Tournament.

None of the golfers contacted by the wire service admitted any knowledge of the ban and we find that entirely believable since in our limited experiences with the touring pros, the Arnold Palmers, Tommy Bolts, Jay Heberts, Jackie Burkes, Doug Fords and Jim Colberts, we've found them to be among the most cooperative of any pro athletes.

Two who suggested they knew nothing about the ban, but also suggested it wasn't a bad idea, Dale Douglas and Dick Lotz, hardly need to worry about being run over by writers trying to get to them.

With the scores Douglas and Lotz normally shoot, the only person likely to be bugging them in the locker room would be the locker room attendant wanting paid for shining their shoes.

How About The Others?

We're not trying to drum up business for the U.S. Post Office, but it seems that a few Nebraskans should be getting a little tired of reading letters to the editor from people complaining about the new cigarette tax.

And the fellow, who is taking the brunt of it is the man, who has done more for the State of Nebraska than anyone you can name.

In his many years in football coaching, the most criticized profession this side of the United States Presidency, Bob Devaney has developed strong shoulders, but isn't it about time a few of the people, who appreciate what he has done and is doing, might sit down and write a letter? We've heard plenty from the noisy minority. Where is the silent majority?

Jockeys Battle To Draw

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Terry Barnes can use his hands for steering punches as well as for guiding race horses.

The Nebraska jockey "out-pointed" counterpart jockey George Munsell in three one-minute rounds in what turned out to be the feature of a 10-bout amateur boxing program before 350 spectators at the Nebraska National Guard Armory here Monday night.

"That's the first time I've ever fought," said Barnes, "I've been working on the heavy bags all day for the fight."

Barnes said program director Jack Fickler, who is also one of the track stewards at Ak-Sar-Ben, jokingly suggested the two fight since "they're always getting fined for fighting in the jockeys' room."

While the decision was officially a draw, Barnes landed all the blows with Munsell trying to dodge his younger (31-23) opponent.

"I thought he was just coming here to fool around, but he was trying to hurt me," said Munsell. "I've never boxed before and I just came here to play around, but he was hitting for real."

He added that he wasn't pleased with Barnes' actions, but this would definitely be the end of his brief fighting career.

The scheduled main event between Midwest Golden Gloves heavyweight champion James Williams of Omaha and Irish Bob Newton of Quapaw, Okla., was canceled when Newton failed to show.

Tony Mange, Golden Gloves tournament director in Kansas City, said Newton left Oklahoma Sunday morning and he hasn't been heard from since. He added that Newton, who was just graduated from Northeast State College in Oklahoma, had fought in his Kansas City tournament previously and would have provided a formidable foe for the 230-pound Williams.

Another Midwest Golden Gloves champion, Roger Pelster of Petersburg, called Fickler and told him he was not in condition to fight and had to bow out of a scheduled bout with Bob Stillwell of Valentine.

In program highlights, Tony Drake, 1969 Southeast Nebraska Golden Gloves titlist, returned to the ring after a two-year layoff and decided his pupil Steve Blackwell.

Lincoln High Runs To 6-3 Win

Quick-footed Lincoln High stole six bases and recorded a 6-3 win over East at Sherman Field Monday.

The Spartans scored three runs in the first inning off Steve Hubka, but the rightlander settled down and didn't allow another run in going the route. Hubka allowed only four hits in the game.

Canonero II Popular On Buying Market

... BUT FEW WANT TO OPPOSE THREE-YEAR-OLD IN BELMONT STAKES

Baltimore (AP) — The offers for Canonero II continue to increase, while the quantity of his opposition keeps dwindling.

A $4 million bid for the 1,200-yearling, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was reported Monday at Pimlico.

Pedro Baptista, who races the colt in the name of his son-in-law, Edgar Calbett, said he would be in Miami, Fla., on Thursday to discuss the latest offer from a Florida syndicate.

Meanwhile, it was reported that the Venezuelan government was interested in buying the horse to spur interest in breeding in the South American nation.

Baptista, a Caracas businessman, said he would have to retain four shares in any syndication, keep any earnings from the Belmont Stakes on June 5, with the horse running under the original ownership in the Belmont.

With a chance to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948, Canonero II has scared off quite a bit of opposition for the final leg at Belmont.

Jim French, runner-up in the Derby and third in the Preakness, appears to be the only certain repeater from the previously beaten fields.

Eastern Fleet, runner-up by 1 1/2 lengths in the Preakness as Canonero II set a track record of 1:54 for 1 1/4 miles, is still a question mark.

Trainer Reggie Cornell said

Other possibilities for the Belmont include Good Behavior, who would be an entry with Jim French for trainer Johnny Campo, Bold Reasoning, Run The Gantlet and On Your Toes.

won the Garden State last year.

On Your Toes, who equaled the Pimlico record of 1:42 for 1 1/4 miles last Wednesday, will race in the Survivor Stakes Saturday at the same distance.

"He hasn't gone farther than a mile and a sixteenth," trainer Frank Whiteley said of On Your Toes. "But if he does all right Saturday, I'll give some thought to the Belmont. He's also nominated to the Jersey Derby."

INDIANS BLAST TO WIN

Three Collide In Outfield

... HOMERS MAJOR ROLE

By Associated Press

Vada Pinson, John Lowenstein and Jack Heidemann got together in the outfield Monday night and gave Washington's Tom McCraw a home run. But homers also gave Cleveland the game.

Pinson, the Indians' center fielder, left fielder Lowenstein and shortstop Heidemann collided as they chased McCraw's soft fly ball in the fourth inning. As they lay motionless, stunned by the impact, McCraw circled the bases for an inside-the-park homer.

Pinson received eight stitches for a cut cheek. Lowenstein and Heidemann were hospitalized for observation.

Lowenstein, however, had led off the third with a homer and minutes later Ken Harrelson ripped a two-run blast that powered the Indians to a 6-3 victory.

Homers played a major role in other games as well.

Mike Ryan's tie-breaking shot in the eighth lifted Philadelphia to a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati, which got solo blasts from Johnny Bench and Pete Rose.

Roy White's two-run blast and a pair of run-scoring singles by Gene Michael paced the New York Yankees past Baltimore 6-3.

Roberto Clemente, who had homered in the eighth, drilled a two-out, two-run triple in the bottom of the ninth as Pittsburgh overhauled Montreal 6-5. Bob Robertson also homered.

for the Pirates and Bob Bailey drove in four runs, three on a homer, for the Expos.

And in the long-ball contest of the evening, Donn Clendenon cracked two homers for the New York Mets but Ralph Garr's second of the night for Atlanta gave the Braves a 12-inning 4-3 victory. Clete Boyer and Orlando Cepeda also crashed round-trippers for the winners.

Don Wilson fired a four-hitter and Jack Hiatt and Jim Wynn singled home the only runs he needed as Houston silenced San Diego 2-0.

George Scott of Boston drilled a two-run double in the fifth to offset a two-run homer by Willie Horton as the Red Sox edged Detroit 3-2. In the seventh, Carl Yastrzemski robbed Horton of an extra-base hit, leaping and spearing his two-out drive at the scoreboard as the potential tying run steamed home.

California led Minnesota 2-0 after two innings in a late game on the West Coast.

Governors' Handicap Set For Saturday

... AK-SAR-BEN HORSES PREP FOR CORNHUSKER

Omaha — With the sprint handicaps out of the way, it is time for the horses pointing towards the $50,000-added Cornhusker Handicap to start stretching out.

Next up on Ak-Sar-Ben's stakes schedule for older horses is the $20,000-added Board of Governors' Handicap Saturday at a mile and 70 yards.

Several new faces are expected to challenge the top horses on the grounds. Among them is Thomas F. Russell's Joe Top. Joe Top earned a half-length victory over Brunswick Farm's Te Vega in the Robert J. Diem Memorial Handicap at Beulah Park on May 8.

Joe Top also has won the Caseyville Handicap at Cahokia Downs and the Trial Handicap at Beulah this year.

There is a wide open field of local favorites. The M. H. Van Berg Stable is expected to send out Golden Eagle II and Boldwood. Golden Eagle used a powerful finish only to be beaten at the wire by Might in an allowance test last week. Boldwood was third in the $20,000-added Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap.

In addition to Might, C. E. Nicholas has nominated Agronomist and Perpetual.

The Governors' Handicap also is expected to draw Action Getter who made his 1971 Ak-Sar-Ben debut last week with an impressive victory in a six-furlong allowance test.

J. L. Lively started and finished the week in first place in the jockey standings. Lively rode three winners on May 8 to move ahead of Kenneth Jones. But Jones picked up six victories early last week to move back on top.

Lively then responded with three more wins Saturday to return to the top.

—BOSLEY NOW TWO-MILER—

Few Changes In Final Chart For High School Runners

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

In the eight individual running events at the district qualifying meets over the past weekend, just one new leader emerged for the final top ten high school track chart prior to the state meet.

But that one change may have a big bearing on the outcome of the Class A team title chase when the cinder classic opens its two-day stand in Kearney Friday.

Grand Island, a perennial track power which this spring won both the Big Ten and Trans Nebraska Conference championships, will be making a bid for the state crown.

The Islanders Dave Bosley, a miler all season, switched to the two-mile run for the first time in his district test.

Bosley toured the grueling eight laps in 9:31.2, the fastest time in the state this spring.

Bosley, who found after two attempts that he wasn't going to beat Lincoln Northeast's Ron Greeno for the gold medal in the mile, threatens to break up an expected double for the Rockets by the switch.

Northeast's Cliff Karthaus has been the season-long leader in the two-mile with a best of 9:35.4.

The other event to undergo a major shuffling on the final week was the 440-yard dash. Fremont's Rich Bahe and Jess Reams of Omaha Tech both turned in times of :49.9 in their district meets, equalling the second-best efforts of the season. Six Class A competitors are now within four-tenths of a second of one another.

The other big development came in the hurdles. Scott Beerman of South Sioux City, despite being tied for No. 1 on the high hurdle chart and tied for sixth on the low hurdle list, was unable to compete for a state meet berth because of injury.

His removal from the championship picture brightens the chances in the highs for defending state champion Howard Beacham of Omaha Tech, who equaled the season-best time of :14.2 at his district meet.

Denver Signs Marsh

Denver (AP) — The Denver Broncos of the National Football League have signed veteran cornerback Aaron Marsh, a graduate of Eastern Kentucky.

Marsh, 25, has been on the Boston Patriots' roster since 1968 where he was a wide receiver and cornerback.

Jockeys Battle To Draw

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Terry Barnes can use his hands for steering punches as well as for guiding race horses.

The Nebraska jockey "out-pointed" counterpart jockey George Munsell in three one-minute rounds in what turned out to be the feature of a 10-hour amateur boxing program before 350 spectators at the Nebraska National Guard Armory here Monday night.

"That's the first time I've ever fought," said Barnes, "I've been working on the heavy bags all day for the fight."

Barnes said program director Jack Fickler, who is also one of the track stewards at Ak-Sar-Ben, jokingly suggested the two fight since "they're always getting fined for fighting in the jockeys' room."

While the decision was officially a draw, Barnes landed all the blows with Munsell trying to dodge his younger (31-23) opponent.

"I thought he was just coming here to fool around, but he was trying to hurt me," said Munsell. "I've never boxed before and I just came here to play around, but he was hitting for real."

He added that he wasn't pleased with Barnes' actions, but this would definitely be the end of his brief fighting career.

The scheduled main event between Midwest Golden Gloves heavyweight champion James Williams of Omaha and Irish Bob Newton of Quapaw, Okla., was canceled when Newton failed to show.

Tony Mange, Golden Gloves tournament director in Kansas City, said Newton left Oklahoma Sunday morning and he hasn't been heard from since. He added that Newton, who was just graduated from Northeast State College in Oklahoma, had fought in his Kansas City tournament previously and would have provided a formidable foe for the 230-pound Williams.

Another Midwest Golden Gloves champion, Roger Pelster of Petersburg, called Fickler and told him he was not in condition to fight and had to bow out of a scheduled bout with Bob Stillwell of Valentine.

In program highlights, Tony Drake, 1969 Southeast Nebraska Golden Gloves titlist, returned to the ring after a two-year layoff and decided his pupil Steve Blackwell.

Lincoln High

Rings To 6-3 Win

Quick-footed Lincoln High stole six bases and recorded a 6-3 win over East at Sherman Field Monday.

The Spartans scored three runs in the first inning off Steve Hubka, but the right-hander settled down and didn't allow another run in going the route. Hubka allowed only four hits in the game.

Mustangs' Fleming

Rehired As Coach

Omaha — The Omaha Mustangs have announced that Don Fleming, coach of the team for the past two years, will coach the Mustangs again this fall.

Fleming, however, will step down as general manager of the ball club. The duties of general manager in 1971 will be handled by Bill Monahan.

Canonero II Popular On Buying Market

... BUT FEW WANT TO OPPOSE THREE-YEAR-OLD IN BELMONT STAKES

Baltimore (AP) — The offers for Canonero II continue to increase, while the quantity of his opposition keeps dwindling.

A $4 million bid for the $1,200 yearling, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was reported Monday at Pimlico.

Pedro Baptista, who races the colt in the name of his son-in-law, Edgar Cabett, said he would be in Miami, Fla., on Thursday to discuss the latest offer from a Florida syndicate.

Meanwhile, it was reported that the Venezuelan government was interested in buying the horse to spur interest in breeding in the South American nation.

Baptista, a Caracas businessman, said he would have to retain four shares in any syndication, keep any earnings from the Belmont Stakes on June 5, with the horse running under the original ownership in the Belmont.

With a chance to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948, Canonero II has scared off quite a bit of opposition for the final leg at Belmont.

Jim French, runner-up in the Derby and third in the Preakness, appears to be the only certain repeater from the previously beaten fields.

Eastern Fleet, runner-up by 1 1/2 lengths in the Preakness as Canonero II set a track record of 1:54 for 1 1/4 miles, is still a question mark.

Trainer Reggie Cornell said

Eastern Fleet would start in the $100,000-added Jersey Derby on Memorial Day, but would keep his horse ready for the Belmont "in case something happens."

Other possibilities for the Belmont include Good Behavior, who would be an entry with Jim French for trainer Johnny Campo, Bold Reasoning, Run The Gantlet and On Your Toes.

won the Garden State last year.

On Your Toes, who equaled the Pimlico record of 1:42 for 1 1/4 miles last Wednesday, will race in the Survivor Stakes Saturday at the same distance.

"He hasn't gone farther than a mile and a sixteenth," trainer Frank Whiteley said of On Your Toes. "But if he does all right Saturday, I'll give some thought to the Belmont. He's also nominated to the Jersey Derby."

Three Collide In Outfield

... HOMERS MAJOR ROLE

By Associated Press

Vada Pinson, John Lowenstein and Jack Heidemann got together in the outfield Monday night and gave Washington's Tom McCraw a home run. But homers also gave Cleveland the game.

Pinson, the Indians' center fielder, left fielder Lowenstein and shortstop Heidemann collided as they chased McCraw's soft fly ball in the fourth inning. As they lay motionless, stunned by the impact, McCraw circled the bases for an inside-the-park homer.

Pinson received eight stitches for a cut cheek. Lowenstein and Heidemann were hospitalized for observation.

Lowenstein, however, had led off the third with a homer and minutes later Ken Harrelson ripped a two-run blast that powered the Indians to a 6-3 victory.

Homers played a major role in other games as well. Mike Ryan's tie-breaking shot in the eighth lifted Philadelphia to a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati, which got solo blasts from Johnny Bench and Pete Rose.

Roy White's two-run blast and a pair of run-scoring singles by Gene Michael paced the New York Yankees past Baltimore 6-3.

Roberto Clemente, who had homered in the eighth, drilled a two-out, two-run triple in the bottom of the ninth as Pittsburgh overhauled Montreal 6-5. Bob Robertson also homered for the Pirates and Bob Bailey drove in four runs, three on a homer, for the Expos.

And in the long-ball contest of the evening, Donn Clendenon cracked two homers for the New York Mets but Ralph Garr's second of the night for Atlanta gave the Braves a 12-inning 4-3 victory. Cleve Boyer and Orlando Cepeda also crashed round-trippers for the winners.

Don Wilson fired a four-hitter and Jack Hiatt and Jim Wynn singled home the only runs he needed as Houston silenced San Diego 2-0.

George Scott of Boston drilled a two-run double in the fifth to offset a two-run homer by Willie Horton as the Red Sox edged Detroit 3-2. In the seventh, Carl Yastrzemski robbed Horton of an extra-base hit, leaping and spearing his two-out drive at the scoreboard as the potential tying run steamed home.

California led Minnesota 2-0 after two innings in a late game on the West Coast.

Big Eight Race Tied As Leaders Split Pair

Ames, Iowa (AP) — The Big Eight baseball race remained in a three-way tie for first as leaders Iowa State and Oklahoma split a doubleheader here Monday. Colorado, although trailing by percentage points, is also tied for first in the games behind column.

Oklahoma won the opener 4-1 behind Gary Weese, who allowed five hits and stroked a pair of run-scoring singles. The Sooners' other two runs scored on Bobby Jack's fourth inning homer and first inning sacrifice fly.

The Cyclones won the nightcap 7-6 on Ed Tadelman's 10th inning single following a walk to Steve Mohr and a single by Mike Ellens.

The Cyclones had fought from behind to tie the game in the seventh on an error and Jerry Lundin's two-run homer.

The Sooners took a 6-4 lead in the ninth when Randy Keszell belted a two-run round-tripper.

San Canonero II Change Tide?

... OTHERS HAVE BEEN CLOSE TO TRIPLE CROWN, TOO

By JOHN CARMICHAEL

(c) Chicago Daily News

In three weeks it will be storytime again for Canonero II, just like it was for Majestic Prince in '69, Kauai King in '66 and Northern Dancer in '64. They, too, had won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness and all three were favored to take the Belmont Stakes.

None of them made it and, even if you go back a full decade to Carry Back of 1961, he mis-

Kansans Win Fishing Derby At McCook

McCook (P) — Garden City, Kan., residents won both the adult and children's division honors in the fourth annual McCook Fishing Derby held at Harry Strunk Lake Saturday and Sunday.

Larry Mowry of Garden City took the adult honors with four largemouth bass, weighing from 2 lb. 14 oz. to 5 lb. 1 oz.

Jeff Babcock, 14, Garden City, took the juvenile division for those 16 and under, with a walleye pike which weighed in at 6 lb. 7 oz.

Second place in the adult division went to Dal Walters of North Platte with two walleye pike weighing 6 lb. 11 oz. and 6 lb. 6 oz. Third place adult went to Dave Bargell of North Platte with a pair of largemouth bass weighing 4 lb. 3 oz. and 4 lb. 4 oz.

Exacta Pool Pays Backer $25,903.30

Charles Town, W.Va. (P) — Princely Gift paid $109.20 as winner of the first race at Shenandoah Downs Monday night and one race fan took home $25,903.30 in the Big Exacta pool.

The unidentified player included Princely Gift in his winning 8-5, 5-1 combination.

The other horses in the pool were Spigot's Lad, $20.60 in the 5th; Good Old Monte, second to Spigot's Lad at $4.60; and Up Slope, who paid $6.40 to place in the first.

ed, too. But when the tale is told of this 103rd Belmont, next June 5, it may have a happier ending for Canonero II, who may turn out to be the most glamorous South American import since Carmen Miranda.

Canonero II might even replace Luis Aparicio as the idol of Venezuela.

He is a sight to behold, flowing poetry in motion. He's a rugged colt. He carries his speed with grinding strides. He doesn't have to be rated. Watching Canonero II come back to the winner's circle at Pimlico, he appeared as unshaken as when he flashed by the stands for the first time.

This may be the colt to win the first Triple Crown since Citation in '48. He's got the stamina and the physique to pull away.

Whatever trainer Juan Arias does to his horse it works. A few years ago, somebody asked Harry Trosk, one of the leading trainers, which provided the greatest training-test: The Derby, the Preakness or the Belmont?

He replied: "The Derby. It's the first big race for a colt and you've got to make sure he's fit and then keep him that way. Some horses with frail constitutions get knocked out in the Derby. My horse in '54 (Hasty Road) got beat at Kentucky a length and a half and went on to win the Preakness, which proved he was in good shape and could hold his form."

When Canonero II sped by Eastern Fleet in Preakness-record time, he made that mile and a half Belmont route look like just another future outing.

Most horses, even winners, show signs of weakness in either the Derby or the Preakness. That was the case with Majestic Prince three years ago. He was all out to hold Arts and Letters safe at Pimlico and showed it. Trainer Johnny Longden didn't want to take him to Belmont, but the pressure was too great. That was the race in which the time for the half was :51, and for six furlongs 1:16 1-5. The pace was so slow that the come-from-behind Dike had to take an early lead in self defense. Majestic Prince finished willingly, but didn't have it.

In the pre-Preakness analysis for '71, skeptics pointed out that Canonero II was fortunate to escape crowding in the 20-horse derby field and that he won in the slow time of 2:03 1-5 for a mile and a quarter. Well, he didn't get crowded this time either and he ran Eastern Fleet into the ground in 1:54 for a mile and three sixteenths.

How big a field can the Belmont draw? The Fleet won't be in it, because, as trainer Reggie Cornell says, "I don't intend to hook Canonero again if I can help it." The Fleet, instead, will run in the Jersey Derby. How many more will decide to avoid the Belmont?

Recent Belmont fields have ranged from seven to 11, but if you go back to 1943, only three horses started and one of them was Count Fleet, who already had won the other two big ones. He was eight lengths ahead at the half, 20 lengths on top at the mile and a quarter and won by 25. Maybe they can drum up a few new ones, like Good Giving, to see if somebody can give Canonero II a run for his money.

Much of the glitter of the Derby was dimmed by the spring injuries to his Majesty (first) and then Hoist The Flag. But would it be spreading heresy to insinuate that maybe Canonero II might have run away from them, too? Nobody ever will know, anymore than whether Buckpasser could have won the Triple Crown in '66 if he had escaped misfortune.

But be that as it may, the top 3-year-old has to be the Venezuela Bombshell and never mind whether he was foaled in Kentucky and bears a French pedigree. It's South American colors Canonero II is carrying to victory.

Nicklaus Still Leads Cash Parade

New York (P) — Although he chose to skip last weekend's Houston Champions International Tournament, Jack Nicklaus continues to head both the money and point standings on the pro golf tour.

The latest figures released Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division showed Nicklaus No. 1 in the money winning parade with $131,788.

Arnold Palmer is the only other player above $100,000, placing second with $106,796. In the exemption point standings, based on tournament performances, Nicklaus leads with 130,607.5. Gary Player is second with 94,144.3. Hubert Green, winner of the Houston tournament, moved into ninth place with 58,704.6 points.

The Top Ten Money winners: 1. Jack Nicklaus $131,788; 2. Arnold Palmer $106,796; 3. Miller Barber $99,037; 4. Gary Player $94,775; 5. Tom Shaw $81,845; 6. Lee Trevino $78,835; 7. Frank Beard $72,558; 8. George Archer $69,779; 9. Billy Casper $64,820; 10. J.C. Snead $64,465.

The Top Ten Point winners: 1. Jack Nicklaus 130,607.5; 2. Gary Player 94,144.3; 3. Miller Barber 92,424.4; 4. Lee Trevino 76,620.8; 5. Frank Beard 70,801.8; 6. George Archer 64,771.3; 7. Arnold Palmer 60,851.1; 8. J.C. Snead 60,788.7; 9. Hubert Green 58,704.6; 10. Charles Coody 56,076.2.

Pius X's Mike Aldrich, who has been taking medalist honors all season, did it again Monday at Holmes Park in leading the Thunderbolts to a dual golf win over Lincoln High, 245-255. Pius also took a 133-148 win in the reserve match.

Mourning Doves Safe Until Next Legislature

The mourning dove is legally safe for at least another year, the Legislature decided Monday.

At the same time, the lawmakers gave first-round approval to a bill which places three varieties of hawks on the protected list.

The dove bill, LB864, would have legalized the hunting of doves with certain restrictions. Such a bill has been introduced in every Legislative session since the bird was put on the protected list 20 years ago.

The bill was considered Monday on general file, but Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron's motion to advance the measure received 22 "aye" and 19 "nay" votes, three short of the majority required.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha then moved to kill the bill but withdrew his motion after the senators agreed to hold the bill on general file and consider the bill again next year.

The lawmakers then voted to advance LB183, placing on the protected list the Goshawk, Cooper's Hawk, and sharp-shinned hawk.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had last month tacked on an amendment to LB183, making it, in effect, the dove bill, but he withdrew it Monday and LB183 was advanced.

In advancing LB183, the Legislature adopted an amendment which removed the great horned owl from the bill. The original bill would have added the three hawks and the owl to the protected list.

Indianapolis (P) — About 250 drivers at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway attended an hour-long meeting Monday, reportedly to discuss a proposed drivers' union.

Disappointed with the turnout, the drivers agreed to meet later in the week for further talks.

During the meeting Harlan Fengler, chief steward for the 500-mile auto race May 29, announced over the public address system directed to the garage area meeting site that "any drivers' meeting concerning the race must be called by the chief steward."

He added that "drivers are perfectly welcome to call a meeting of their own but only the chief steward calls an official drivers' meeting for this race."

Patriettes Earn Softball Crown

Omaha (P) — The Patriettes from John F. Kennedy College continue to dominate the Women's College World Series of softball, having won another championship.

The Patriettes fought an uphill battle through the loser's bracket Sunday, winning five games, including a 4 to 0 triumph over Iowa State in a tie game. It was JFK's third straight championship.

Gloria Gomez ended Iowa State's title hopes, pitching five innings and allowing only one hit as JFK downed the Cyclones, 6-0 forcing a second game to decide the title. Miss Gomez then went the distance in the finale, allowing two hits and striking out seven.

Can Canonero II Change Tide?

... OTHERS HAVE BEEN CLOSE TO TRIPLE CROWN, TOO

By JOHN MICHAEL
(c) Chicago Daily News

In three weeks it will be storytime again for Canonero II, just like he was for Majestic Prince in '69, Kauai King in '66 and Northern Dancer in '64. They, too, had won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness and all three were favored to take the Belmont Stakes.

None of them made it and, even if you go back a full decade to Carry Back of 1961, he missed, too. But when the tale is told of this 103rd Belmont, next June 5, it may have a happier ending for Canonero II, who may turn out to be the most glamorous South American import since Carmen Miranda.

Canonero II might even replace Luis Aparicio as the idol of Venezuela.

He is a sight to behold, flowing poetry in motion. He's a rugged colt. He carries his speed with grinding strides. He doesn't have to be rated. Watching Canonero II come back to the winner's circle at Pimlico, he appeared as unshaken as when he flashed by the stands for the first time.

This may be the colt to win the first Triple Crown since Citation in '48. He's got the stamina and the physique to pull away.

Whatever trainer Juan Aris does to his horse it works. A few years ago, somebody asked Harry Tross, one of the leading trainers, which provided the greatest training test: The Derby, the Preakness or the Belmont?

He replied: "The Derby. It's the first big race for a colt and you've got to make sure he's fit and then keep him that way. Some horses with frail constitutions get knocked out in the Derby. My horse in '54 (Hasty Road) got beat at Kentucky a length and a half and went on to win the Preakness, which proved he was in good shape and could hold his form."

When Canonero II sped by Eastern Fleet in Preakness-record time, he made that mile and a half Belmont route look like just another future outing. Most horses, even winners, show signs of weakness in either the Derby or the Preakness. That was the case with Majestic Prince three years ago. He was all out to hold Arts and Letters safe at Pimlico and showed it. Trainer Johnny Longden didn't want to take him to Belmont, but the pressure was too great. That was the race in which the time for the half was :51, and for six furlongs 1:16 1-5. The pace was so slow that the come-from-behind Dike had to take an early lead in self defense. Majestic Prince finished willingly, but didn't have it.

In the pre-Preakness analysis for '71, skeptics pointed out that Canonero II was fortunate to escape crowding in the 20-horse derby field and that he won in the slow time of 2:03 1-5 for a mile and a quarter. Well, he didn't get crowded this time either and he ran Eastern Fleet into the ground in 1:54 for a mile and three sixteenths.

How big a field can the Belmont draw? The Fleet won't be in it, because, as trainer Reggie Cornell says, "I don't intend to hook Canonero again if I can help it." The Fleet, instead, will run in the Jersey Derby. How many more will decide to avoid the Belmont?

Recent Belmont fields have ranged from seven to 11, but if you go back to 1943, only three horses started and one of them was Count Fleet, who already had won the other two big ones. He was eight lengths ahead at the half, 20 lengths on top at the mile and a quarter and won by 25. Maybe they can drum up a few new ones, like Good Behavior, to see if somebody can give Canonero II a run for his money.

Much of the glitter of the Derby was dimmed by the spring injuries to his Majesty (first) and then Hoist the Flag. But would it be spreading heresy to insinuate that maybe Canonero II might have run away from them, too? Nobody ever will know, anymore than whether Buckpasser could have won the Triple Crown in '66 if he had escaped misfortune.

But be that as it may, the top 3-year-old has to be the Venezuela Bombshell and never mind whether he was foaled in Kentucky and bears a French pedigree. It's South American colors Canonero II is carrying to victory.

Nicklaus Still Leads Cash Parade

New York (AP) — Although he chose to skip last weekend's Houston Champions International Tournament, Jack Nicklaus continues to head both the money and point standings on the pro golf tour.

Arnold Palmer is the only other player above $100,000, placing second with $106,796.

In the exemption point standings, based on tournament performances, Nicklaus leads with 130,607.5. Gary Player is second with 94,144.3. Hubert Green, winner of the Houston tournament, moved into ninth place with 58,704.6 points.

The Top Ten Money Winners: 1. Jack Nicklaus $131,788; 2. Arnold Palmer $106,796; 3. Miller Barber $99,037; 4. Gary Player $94,775; 5. Tom Shaw $81,845; 6. Lee Trevino $78,952; 7. Fred Couples $72,658; 8. George Archer $69,779; 9. Billy Casper $64,820; 10. J.C. Snead $64,465.

The Top Ten Point Winners: 1. Jack Nicklaus 130,607.5; 2. Gary Player 94,144.3; 3. Miller Barber 92,443.4; 4. Lee Trevino 76,620.8; 5. Frank Beard 70,801.8; 6. George Archer 64,771.3; 7. Arnold Palmer 60,851.2; 8. J.C. Snead 60,782.2; 9. Hubert Green 58,704.6; 10. Charles Coody 56,072.

Mourning Doves Safe Until Next Legislature

The mourning dove is legally safe for at least another year, the Legislature decided Monday.

At the same time, the lawmakers gave first-round approval to a bill which places three varieties of hawks on the protected list.

The dove bill, LB864, would have legalized the hunting of doves with certain restrictions. Such a bill has been introduced in every Legislative session since the bird was put on the protected list 20 years ago.

The bill was considered Monday on general file, but Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron's motion to advance the measure received 22 "aye" and 19 "nay," votes, three short of the majority required.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha then moved to kill the bill but withdrew his motion after the senators agreed to hold the bill on general file and consider the bill again next year.

The lawmakers then voted to advance LB183, placing on the protected list the Goshawk, Cooper's Hawk, and sharp-shinned hawk.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had last month tacked on an amendment to LB183, making it, in effect, the dove bill, but he withdrew it Monday and LB183 was advanced.

In advancing LB183, the Legislature adopted an amendment which removed the great horned owl from the bill. The original bill would have added the three hawks and the owl to the protected list.

Sioux City Dragway To Host Championships

Sioux City, Ia. — The Sioux City Dragway will host drag racing's 1971 World Championship Series Saturday and Sunday when top ranking drivers from the nation's West Central area continue their battle for a shot at the sport's coveted world titles later this year.

A field of more than 400 has been set for the two-day meet and includes a variety of 230 mph fuel dragsters, Funny Cars, Pro Stocks and a wide range of other drag racing machines that will race for conference and divisional points and more than $10,000 in prize money.

Kansans Win Fishing Derby At McCook

McCook (AP) — Garden City, Kan., residents won both the adult and children's division honors in the fourth annual McCook Fishing Derby held at Harry Strunk Lake Saturday and Sunday.

Larry Mowry of Garden City took the adult honors with four largemouth bass, weighing from 2 lb. 14 oz. to 5 lb. 1 oz.

Jeff Babcock, 14, Garden City, took the juvenile division for those 16 and under, with a walleye pike which weighed in at 6 lb 7 oz.

Second place in the adult division went to Dal Walters of North Platte with two walleye pike weighing 6 lb. 11 oz. and 6 lb. 6 oz. Third place adult went to Dave Bargell of North Platte with a pair of largemouth bass weighing 4 lb. 3 oz. and 4 lb. 4 oz.

Exacta Pool Pays Backer $25,903.30

Charles Town, W.Va. (AP) — Princely Gift paid $109.20 as winner of the first race at Shenandoah Downs Monday night and one race fan took home $25,903.30 in the Big Exacta pool.

The unidentified player included Princely Gift in his winning 8-5-5-3 combination.

The other horses in the pool were Spigot's Lad, $20.60 in the 5th; Good Old Monte, second to Spigot's Lad at $4.60; and Up Slope, who paid $6.40 to place in the first.

Humphrey May Challenge Hayes City Rule

DEFENDING CHAMPION STILL FAVORED FOR CLASS D TRACK CROWN

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Three-time defending Class D champion Hayes Center is the odds-on favorite to make it four divisional titles in a row when the state high school track and field meet gets underway in Kearney Friday.

Coach Dale Bubak's Cardinals will be spearheaded in their bid by junior speedster Greg Schneider.

In the nine Class D district qualifying meets across the state last weekend, Schneider recorded the swiftest clockings in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, leaped to the best long jump mark and anchored Hayes Center's record-setting 880-yard relay team.

His main challengers in the dashes are expected to be Humphrey's Terry Bender and Chuck Quillen of Dix. Bender edged Schneider for third place in the state meet last spring, while Quillen was fifth.

If Bender could pull off a double in the dashes by nipping Schneider again, Humphrey's chances for a small-school divisional team title would be greatly enhanced.

Humphrey senior Ron Molczyk is the two-time defending champion in the mile run. Molczyk won the four-lap event as a sophomore in 4:30.4, then lowered the time to 4:26.4 last spring. His best time this season, which leads Class D, is 4:36.2.

Molczyk may be pushed at the Kearney meet by another defending champion, Chester's

Stan Schleifer, who won the two-mile run last year, dropped down to the mile at his district meet and was an easy winner.

In addition to Schneider, who won the long jump crown at state last May, Molczyk and Schleifer, two other defending Class D champions will be on hand this weekend.

Dave Debban of Elwood, who tied the state Class D record last year in the 440 with a :50.5, posted the best time in the quarter mile run at the district level last weekend at :50.9.

But Bertrand's Gene Schaefer, who tied for first in the pole vault last May with a leap of 12-0, has shown great improvement this spring and should break the state meet record of 12-6½ with a normal day.

Schaefer has cleared 13-0 on numerous occasions this season and holds a best of 13-5.

Benedict is another team title possibility in Class D. Lee Richardson, who paced Benedict to the state basketball championship this winter, is the only small school half-miler under two minutes this spring and teammate Dave Petro, second in the two-mile last year, has the best time in the state for the eight-lap event.

Donohue Establishes Pace In Indianapolis 500 Trials

Indianapolis (AP) — Mark Donohue, Media, Pa., caused the biggest stir of the day Monday for the sparse crowd of spectators on hand at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The track was open for practice at 10:18 a.m. and Donohue was one of the first drivers on the track in his McLaren Mark 16 car, which he qualified in second place Saturday.

The bright blue car did 15 laps around the 2½ mile rectangle with hot lap speeds clocked as high as 174.7 miles per hour on his crew's stopwatch.

Roger Penske, Philadelphia, Pa., the owner of the car and head of the crew, said they were continuing gasoline tests in preparation for the May 29 Indianapolis 500 mile race.

Few of the other 25 drivers who took to the track in 24 cars Monday were able to approach Donohue's performance. Sunny skies with temperatures in the 80s slowed down the track considerably during the afternoon hours.

Jigger Sirois, a 36-year-old driver from Hammond, Ind., hitched a ride in the No. 65 car, a Gerhardt-Offy assigned to Arnie Knepper of Belleville, Ill., and successfully completed his rookie refresher test.

Some of the other drivers already qualified went onto the track Monday to test new engines, check gasoline consumption or to iron out suspension bugs. They included defending champion Al Unser of Albuquerque, who did a lap at 170.778; Jim Malloy, Denver; Gordon Johncock, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; and Dick Simon, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Jimmy Caruthers, Anaheim, Calif., the defending United States Auto Club midget division champion, completed his rookie test.

Car 97, owned by J. C. Agnarian and Leonard Faas, was driven by both Bruce Walkup and stock car champion Bobby Johns. Johns was in the car late in the afternoon when it blew an engine. The Miami, Fla., native coasted to a stop in the first turn.

Vasquez Will Defend Bantamweight Crown

New York (AP) — David Vasquez will defend his newly-gained North American bantamweight ring title against Arlindo Borges, the Brazilian champion, in a 12-round fight May 24 at the Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum.

The bout will headline the final Monday night card of the spring series. Vasquez, who captured three Golden Gloves titles and represented the United States in the 1968 Olympic Games has an 8-1 pro record with four knockouts.

Alex Johnson Benched; Defies Manager Phillips

ANAHEIM (AP) — Alex Johnson, the taciturn outfielder who won the American League batting title in 1970, has been benched by California Angel Manager Lefty Phillips, who terms the player's attitude "defiant."

"He's sitting down," declared Phillips, "because his all-around play and practice have not satisfied me. If he does not satisfy me in his actions, I will not play the man."

A year ago, in his first season with the Angels, Johnson edged Carl Yastrzemski of Boston for the batting title with an average of .329 to .3281 for the Red Sox star. Two hits in three trips to the plate in the final game of the season provided the slim edge.

Johnson currently bats .240, but that's not the reason Phillips benched him. "He doesn't try to improve himself," the manager says. "He doesn't. He defies me."

Tabbed by many to win the American League West, the Angels currently rank only third, six game behind the Oakland Athletics.

During his first season with the Angels, Johnson feuded with some sports writers covering the club and at one point challenged a teammate.

"Last year, I took more heat from umpires over him than from any other player I've ever had," Phillips continued. "I took it for a whole year and I had to take it because I knew they were right."

"I thought that this year, the pride of being the league leader would straighten him out. It hasn't."

Johnson wasn't available after Phillips made his comments Sunday, but during the spring had said the title meant little to him.

Since Johnson's bat was supposed to play a major role in the Angels' title bid this year, Phillips was asked what the club's chances might be without it.

"We can play and win in as many games without him as we can with 30 or 40 per cent of his talents," the skipper replied.

Donohue Establishes Pace In Indianapolis 500 Trials

Indianapolis (AP) — Mark Donohue, Media, Pa., caused the biggest stir of the day Monday for the sparse crowd of spectators on hand at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The track was open for practice at 10:18 a.m. and Donohue was one of the first drivers on the track in his McLaren Mark 16 car, which he qualified in second place Saturday.

The bright blue car did 15 laps around the 2½ mile rectangle with hot lap speeds clocked as high as 174.7 miles per hour on his crew's stopwatch.

Roger Penske, Philadelphia, Pa., the owner of the car and head of the crew, said they were continuing gasoline tests in preparation for the May 29 Indianapolis 500 mile race.

Few of the other 25 drivers who took to the track in 24 cars Monday were able to approach Donohue's performance. Sunny skies with temperatures in the 80s slowed down the track considerably during the afternoon hours.

Jigger Sirois, a 36-year-old driver from Hammond, Ind., hitched a ride in the No. 65 car, a Gerhardt-Offy assigned to Arnie Knappert of Belleville, Ill., and successfully completed his rookie refresher test.

Some of the other drivers already qualified went onto the track Monday to test new engines, check gasoline consumption or to iron out suspension bugs. They included

Dana Could Tie For Tri-State Baseball Crown

Blair — Dana College, which won the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (NIAC) baseball title with a doubleheader win over Midland last Saturday, Monday moved into position to tie for the Tri-State championship.

Dana won the NIAC with a 9-1 mark and doubleheader sweep of Northwestern of Iowa, 3-1 and 1-0, here Monday boosted its Tri-State record to 7-3.

A doubleheader win Wednesday over Sioux Falls would get them a Tri-State tie with Westmar, which has finished its season at 9-3.

defending champion Al Unser of Albuquerque, who did a lap at 170.778; Jim Malloy, Denver; Gordon Johncock, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; and Dick Simon, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Jimmy Caruthers, Anaheim, Calif., the defending United States Auto Club midget division champion, completed his rookie test.

Car 97, owned by J. C. Agjanian and Leonard Faas, was driven by both Bruce Walkup and stock car champion Bobby Johns. Johns was in the car late in the afternoon when it blew an engine. The Miami, Fla., native coasted to a stop in the first turn.

Vasquez Will Defend Bantamweight Crown

New York (AP) — David Vasquez will defend his newly-gained North American bantamweight ring title against Arlindo Borges, the Brazilian champion, in a 12-round fight May 24 at the Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum.

The bout will headline the final Monday night card of the spring series. Vasquez, who captured three Golden Gloves titles and represented the United States in the 1968 Olympic Games has an 8-1 pro record with four knockouts.

Celtics Hire Heinsohn

Boston (AP) — Tommy Heinsohn, handed the job of rebuilding the Boston Celtics after Bill Russell's unexpected retirement in 1969, was given a vote of confidence Monday with a third one-year contract as coach of the National Basketball Association club.

Alex Johnson Benched; Defies Manager Phillips

ANAHEIM (AP) — Alex Johnson, the taciturn outfielder who won the American League batting title in 1970, has been benched by California Angel Manager Lefty Phillips, who terms the player's attitude "defiant."

"He's sitting down," declared Phillips, "because his all-around play and practice have not satisfied me. If he does not satisfy me in his actions, I will not play the man."

A year ago, in his first season with the Angels, Johnson edged Carl Yastrzemski of Boston for the batting title with an average of .329 to .321 for the Red Sox star. Two hits in three trips to the plate in the final game of the season provided the slim edge.

Johnson currently bats .240, but that's not the reason Phillips benched him.

"Everyone else works out, tries to improve himself," the manager says. "He doesn't. He defies me."

Tabbed by many to win the American League West, the Angels currently rank only third, six game behind the Oakland Athletics.

During his first season with the Angels, Johnson feuded with some sports writers covering the club and at one point challenged a teammate.

"Last year, I took more heat from umpires over him than from any other player I've ever had," Phillips continued. "I look it for a whole year and I had to take it because I knew they were right."

"I thought that this year, the pride of being the league leader would straighten him out. It hasn't."

Johnson wasn't available after Phillips made his comments Sunday, but during the spring had said the title meant little to him.

Since Johnson's bat was supposed to play a major role in the Angels' title bid this year, Phillips was asked what the club's chances might be without it.

"We can play and win in as many games without him as we can with 30 or 40 per cent of his talents," the skipper replied.

Prices Plunge In Stock Mart

New York (AP) — A series of gloomy news developments sent stock market prices Monday into their sharpest tailspin in almost a year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks plunged 14.76 points to 921.30, a 1.57% drop. This was the largest single day drop since last June 23, when the Dow fell 18 points.

The nationwide rail strike was the major reason behind the market downturn, analysts said. Some auto and steelmakers announced production cutbacks because of the strike, and observers predicted a complete auto shutdown if the strike lasts more than a few days.

Announcement of the record $5.5 billion U.S. balance of payments deficit during the first quarter further depressed investor psychology.

Reports that rising short-term interest rates could signal a hike in the prime and discount rates and lead to a situation of tight money, which could hamper the economic recovery, also kept investors on edge, analysts said.

On the technical side, the fact that the Dow penetrated the 930 support level was viewed by analysts as an indication of a new selling wave. Monday's drop brought the Dow average to its lowest point since April 8, when it closed at 920.39.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 15.9 million shares Friday. Analysts said the moderate trading levels indicated that the sell-off had not reached any panic level.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks fell 0.87 to 53.48.

Of the 1,488 stocks traded on the Big Board, 1,276 declined, and 210 advanced. There were 29 new highs and 95 new lows.

All categories of stocks showed general declines.

The S&P 500 stock average was off 5.56 to 922.1, with industrial off 8.79, rails off 3.45, and utilities off 1.52 to 100.69.

On the Big Board, there were at least 100 stocks down, compared with 100 up. The S&P 500 index was off 5.56 to 922.1, with industrial off 8.79, rails off 3.45, and utilities off 1.52 to 100.69.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-chance index slipped 0.28 to 25.87. Of the 1,145 stocks traded, 175 advanced and 970 declined. Volume totaled 4.4 million shares Friday.

Corporate and government bond prices were lower.

Fed Cattle Prices Dip At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Cattle trade at Omaha Monday was conducted on a slow and cautious basis, and, in the fed cattle division, at lower price levels.

Some what increased marketings and uncertainty as to transportation facilities produced a rather cautious buyer inquiry.

Once again a nationwide rail strike was in the market background, this time an actual walkout Monday morning. As the session progressed buyers turned increasingly cautious as they sought alternate means of transportation in the event that the rail tie-up would become extended.

Several loads of choice to prime 1,225-1,225 lb fed heifers placed the market at $32.35-33.75. Most choice offerings cleared from $31.02 and up.

Trophy heifers grouped $32.75-33, choice heifers grounded $31.00-32.50.

Bulk 190-240 lb barrows and gilts 17.50-18.50.

Sows bunched 14.50-15.50.

New crop lambs sold 25 cents higher in a rather limited fat lamb trade. Trophy 95-105 lb weights brought $31-31.75. Shipment No. 1 pelt old crop shorn scalped 108 lbs shaped up 50 higher at 29.50. Ewes were steady, 4.50-6.00.

Chicago (AP) — Corn, wheat and soybeans futures advanced from 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel mainly in the expiring May contract, on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

The gains were shaved by profit-taking near the close, but all three commodities were strong at the end. Oats futures came under heavy commercial selling that sent the nearby May option down by nearly 3 cents a bushel.

Most trade sources thought the railroad strike had little, if any, effect on commodity futures at this time, but said there would be some pricing problems if it was prolonged.

All the close corn was 1/2 to 1 1/4 a bushel higher, May 1,500-1,500; soybeans 1/2 to 1 1/4 a bushel higher, May 1,500-1,500; wheat 1/2 to 1 1/4 a bushel higher, May 1,500-1,500; oats 1/2 to 1 1/4 a bushel higher, May 1,500-1,500.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
